A Wall Street Necklace.
15,000 Babies. No Fathers.
Election is Over.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WHERE more than one or two are gathered together, only the stock market is discussed. A Fifth avenue jeweler in New York lets it be known that he has for sale a $300,000 pearl necklace, which can be bought for $100,000. But it must be all cash. Some lady apparently expected prices to go up forever.

WALL STREET names a speculator alleged to move from the ticker to his automobile surrounded by five men to guard him. He started a bear pool two weeks ago.

A few friends each invested $100,000, and each has thus far taken out in profit $1,500,000.

The five bodyguards are hired on the assumption that angry losers might plan evil for the head of the bear pool.

THE rain falls on both the just and unjust, and a market slump falls upon both the good and bad stocks.

Of millions that rushed to buy stocks when they were going up, only a few, the wise minority, will know enough to walk in carefully and buy them when they fall below what they are worth.

Wise was old Rothschild, who said he made his money "selling too soon."

THE human family is bigger than it thought. The League of Nations statistical department shows that earth's population is only fifty millions short of two billions.

Two thousand million human beings is a big crowd, of whom the majority never think, and a minority think occasionally.

The wonder is not how slowly we progress, but that we progress at all, the few dragging the many along with them.

MORE than one billion of us, more than half, live in Asia. The continents, North and South America, have 232,000,000; all of Europe has 514,000,000, only 64,000,000 more than China alone.

IN VAST Africa, where men fight tropical suns, sleeping sickness and many other diseases, the population is only 146,000,000.

Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific islands have 9,000,000.

EARTH'S total population could stand at the same time on Staten Island in New York harbor.

Texas, intensely cultivated, could feed them all and provide them with room to live comfortably.

And American factories could supply them all with automobiles if they had money to pay for them.

ON GERMAN territory, occupied by French and British armies during the 10 years since the war, are 15,000 "post-war babies" with German mothers, French and British fathers.

A club of women in Cologne wants Britain and France to support the 15,000 babies.

FRANCE answers, quoting Napoleon's law still in force, "La recherche de la paternite est interdite." "It is forbidden to seek to establish paternity." What Britain will answer remains to be seen.

THE 15,000 babies, no matter who their fathers, will be worth in a few years all that it costs to raise them and millions more.

IN VIRGINIA'S governorship election, the Democrats win by a majority of 62,450.

Anybody who thought Virginia was going permanently Republican knows that he was mistaken.

NEW YORK CITY re-elected James J. Walker by almost 500,000 plurality. The biggest city in America evidently likes the young man who dresses neatly and does not take himself or the world too seriously.

IN NEW JERSEY, Mayor Frank Hague demonstrated, about 8 to 1, that he understands politics. The Republican candidate for the New Jersey Legislature, Russell A. Watson, running in Middlesex, a strong Republican district, was beaten by Frank Hague, a Democrat.

Mr. Watson had attempted to annoy Mr. Hague. The latter said: "I did not interfere." Apparently he didn't need to.

THE government has spent $125,000,000 at Muscle Shoals on a plant to supply nitrates for explosives in war, fertilizers in peace, power at all times.

Mr. T. M. Rogers, of Florence, Ala., wonders why the government doesn't use that power. "The South needs fertilizer, and municipalities around this section need relief from high-priced electric power."

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The stock market staged a magnificent rally today. After opening 5 to 12 points lower under an avalanche of selling, prices came back vigorously, recovering all of the early losses long before noon and closing from 1 to 18 points higher than yesterday's close.

SENATE DISCLOSES STEEL FIRMS' PROFIT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—The curtain of secrecy around income tax returns was lifted aside for the first time during the tariff battle in the Senate today when Senator Ashurst (Dem.), of Arizona, said the profits reported by America's giant steel corporations since the Forney-McCumber tariff act was passed in 1922 reached nearly a billion dollars.

The net profits of the steel industry during this period, Ashurst said, were $930,181,059.55, with the United States Steel Corporation heading the list.

SMOOT LOSES PROTEST

He bared the reports during his appeal for a higher tariff on manganese, which is being fought by the major steel companies.

Senator Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, reading the law regarding secrecy of income tax returns, protested against naming companies during the tariff debate.

Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, pointing out that the law gives the Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee the right to demand income tax returns to aid in legislation, defended a senator's right to make public all details.

PROFITS LISTED

The steel company income tax reports were submitted to senators along with hundreds of others, as a result of a resolution passed at the beginning of the tariff fight. The Democratic-Progressive Republican coalition demanded the Graham will establish a precedent in personally prosecuting federal offenders, court attaches said. Other federal prosecutors have prepared cases with their assistants and have permitted them to conduct the action.

J. Wood Clark, Federal Court clerk, read the oath of office and Judge Robert M. Gibson swore Graham in. Maj. Robert M. Ewing, a close friend, introduced him to the court and the commission.

MOTHER SUES CITY TO FEED CHILDREN

DENVER, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Mrs. Nellie Wassner, mother of five, today sought, by law, to force the city of Denver to save herself and her children from starvation.

Through an attorney, whose funds have helped the family, she yesterday petitioned in District Court for a writ of mandamus to force provision of food by the board of health, the city and charitable organizations, because the children "are now actually suffering for necessary food to keep them properly nourished or properly fed."

The family is under quarantine as a result of a doctor's diagnosis of one girl's illness as whooping cough. The mother is unable, because of the quarantine, to go about her work to provide money. The father earns only $12 a week as a dishwasher in a restaurant.

The five children range in age from 18 months to 12 years.

He is John McGouldrick, second mate of the coastwise steamer Creole, on which Kraft and the girl, known until recently as Ione Ord, were passengers. He is under indictment for murder and pleaded "not guilty" at today's hearing.

She testified she met Kraft in New York two weeks before the Creole sailed and accompanied him because she was to illustrate a story he was to write.

Under questioning by District Attorney Leander Perez, she said she and Kraft occupied separate staterooms.

DOWNTOWN SURFACE TRAFFIC CIRCLE INCLUDED

City Council today approved a street car subway from Penn avenue at Sixteenth street to Liberty avenue at Sixth avenue.

The City Transit Commission, that recommended the subway, was directed by motion of President James F. Malone to present the enabling legislation to Council and to begin negotiations with the Pittsburgh Railways Company for using the subway on a rental basis.

FUNDS AVAILABLE

The transit commission's plan includes a subway to be built later under Smithfield street from Water street to Seventh avenue, where it would loop west on Liberty avenue to Wood street, to Sixth avenue to Smithfield street for the return trip.

The transit commission stated the two subway units could be financed with funds from the $6,000,000 bond issue approved by voters in 1919 for a street car subway in the First and Second Wards.

Council's action today indicated that approval soon would be given for a proposed traffic circle at the intersection of Grant and Eleventh streets with Penn and Liberty avenues.

The traffic circle was proposed to handle expected additional traffic that will follow the construction of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's contemplated passenger and freight station on Penn avenue about Thirteenth street.

Alternate plans for the circle are under consideration. The city proposes one with an elevated roadway for traffic passing from one street to another in the intersection and a depressed roadway for through

LOS ANGELES FLIES LOW OVER CITY IN FOG

The United States Navy dirigible, Los Angeles, headed westward, passed over Pittsburgh at 10:55 o'clock this morning. It was en route to Akron, O., to participate in the exercises marking the start of construction of the Navy blimp ZRS-4.

The great silver ship was so low when it passed over the Oakland district that it appeared to be below the upper stories of the Pitt Cathedral of Learning.

BARELY VISIBLE

It was barely visible in the pall of smoke and fog that hung over the downtown district as it slowly circled the city.

It reached Pittsburgh four hours and 10 minutes after leaving Lakehurst. Visibility was so poor that few towns reported sighting it en route.

It was seen at Connellsville, however, when it swooped low at 10:15 o'clock, apparently to get its bearings.

An hour after the big ship disappeared in the smoke hovering over the North Side district it was reported over New Castle.

AKRON, O., Nov. 7.—When the center ring of the world's largest dirigible, the U. S. Navy airship ZRS-4, was sealed with a gold rivet here today, the ceremony was a tribute to Pittsburgh industry.

Pittsburgh firms built the gigantic steel dock and supplied the materials for the Goliath of the air.

The Navy dirigible Los Angeles arrived at 1:45 to participate in the exercises.

On hand to witness the ring-laying ceremony, comparable to the keel-laying of a battleship, was a group of Pittsburgh industrial men, guests of the H. H. Robertson Company, which covered the gigantic steel dock with a specially

SQUIRREL HILL HOME RAIDED, RUM SEIZED

Rare old whiskies! Bubbling champagne! Aged wines made in France!

All these "attractions" were on view at the East End Police Station today, the prizes of a raid on a Squirrel Hill home at 6474 Monitor street, police reported.

There was gin, too.

Lieut. Louis Leibold reported raiding the home, confiscating 25 cartons of stuff in all, and arresting Julius Reidbord, 22, of Jackson street, and Wright Alberts, 42, Negro, of Spring way. Each posted $1,000 bond.

When Reidbord and Alberts failed to appear for hearing today Lieut. Leibold promised to arrest them on warrants.

Leibold revealed the tip for the raid was furnished by three anonymous telephone calls.

"There's a riot in that house," each caller informed the police.

Leibold found things quiet, but its two occupants uneasy, so he searched the place. In the cellar he found a cutting plant, he reported.

The Wagner Club, at 201 Estella street, was raided by prohibition agents who reported arresting Herbert Becker, 45, and seizing seven barrels of beer and a pint of whisky. Becker was held in $1,000 bond.

Caught transporting 50 gallons of moonshine in an automobile in North Canal street, Roy Sturgis, 23, of 1353½ Diaz way, was arrested by the agents who seized the automobile and liquor, they said.

In the home of Joseph Alberts, 24, of 608 Haberman street, the raiders said they found a 200-gallon still and 35 gallons of moonshine. Alberts was arrested.

John Mullen, 44, was arrested, agents declared, in a raid on a saloon at 123 Oakland avenue, in which several bottles of gin and whisky were confiscated.

HOOVER TO DISCLOSE ARMS POLICY IN ARMISTICE TALK

DAWES AIDS IN DRAFTING SPEECH

Foreign Relations and U. S. Navy Stand to Be Topics Discussed by President

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Hoover's Armistice Day speech, which he will deliver here next Monday night, will be devoted to foreign relations and American naval policy, it was announced today.

The President probably will disclose the principles of the policy which will guide the American delegation to the London naval conference.

Ambassador Dawes, who concludes his naval conferences with Mr. Hoover today preparatory to sailing for London, has been one of the President's counsellors in the preparation of the speech.

The ambassador will remain in Washington today, a guest of the White House, but his last day before sailing for London will be largely in the nature of leave-taking to many friends in official and social life.

To expedite his work while here Ambassador Dawes yesterday established an office in the State Department. It was near that of Secretary Stimson and they held frequent conferences during the day. The ambassador had access to the minutes of previous conferences for the limitation or reduction of armaments and the confidential reports in the department concerning the activities of the other powers and what might be expected of them at the London meeting.

After breakfast with Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Dawes and their daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Erickson, the President and ambassador held a long conference in the President's study. At a second conference later in the day with Secretary Stimson and the President final instructions were agreed upon.

traffic bound from one end of the city to another.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company proposed a circle which would separate all traffic on the grade of the existing streets.

The city's plan was estimated to cost $1,621,000, or $666,000 more than the railroad company's proposal.

LAND TO CHANGE HANDS

In addition to the proposed subways and traffic circle, the city and the railroad company have completed agreements that gives the company possession of the area from Bigelow boulevard wall to Penn avenue between Eleventh street and Twenty-first street.

The city has agreed to close Liberty avenue and Spring way and the connecting streets between Eleventh and Sixteenth streets. In consideration, the company agreed to give the city enough land to widen Penn avenue to 120 feet from Eleventh to Twenty-first street. The company also agreed to provide considerable land on the east side of eleventh street for the proposed traffic circle.

happy one," Judge Gibson said. "You can rely upon our co-operation in your duties."

"I will devote my entire time to the work of this office," Graham replied. "And I will cooperate with the court to prevent any unjust criticism of the court. I will conduct my new office in a quiet manner."

STARTS WORK AT ONCE

Graham's first official act was to present a petition requesting the removal of David Bianchi, alias White, to Detroit for trial there on charges of violating the white slave laws.

At a reception in the court room which followed the induction ceremonies, the new prosecutor said he plans no immediate changes in either his staff or his office force.

Graham won his new office after his nomination by Senator David A. Reed had been opposed by Attorney John S. Pyle, who complained to a Senate sub-committee that Graham was unfit to hold the office.

Pyle told the committee that as Pennington's legal advisor, Graham had countenanced hundreds of illegal raids on homes.

Rum Runner Not Dry Congressman's Auto

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—A policeman chasing a suspected rum-running automobile caused some excitement last night when he reported that the machine, which got away bore license tags accredited to Representative Louis C. Cramton (Rep.), of Michigan, one of the dry leaders of the House. In checking up, however, it was ascertained that the car was different from that owned by the Michigan congressman. Cramton is in Europe.

Stocks Rally After Opening Crash

the ticker was 72 minutes behind the market.

The abrupt rally threw a scare into the Bear camp. With the "shorts" on the run and bargain-hunters picking up stocks in increasing volume the recovery in the general list gained momentum rapidly as the abbreviated trading progressed.

Many brokers accepted the strong buying support which came into the market after the first flurry had subsided as evidence that the market had "struck bottom," at least for the time being, and that the bulk of the distress stock that has been overhanding the market had been cleaned up.

The Curb Market, like the Stock Market, rallied vigorously after absorbing a huge volume of selling in the first hour. Closing quotations of some of the leading issues were: Electric Bond and Share, $74, up $8.25; Electric Investors, $115, up $12; Cities Service, $31, up $1.12.

MARGINS DUMPED

The wild opening of the market was but a repetition of the last few sessions. Margin accounts by the thousands were thrown overboard, opening up stop-loss orders and forced selling in the best of industrial and railroad shares. These stocks went for the best bids, which ranged from 5 to 12 points below Wednesday's close.

The turning of the tide came near the end of the first hour, and was due to two principal causes: Covering of shorts, for the first time in any considerable volume in a week or more; and the snapping up of high grade stocks by the bargain-hunters. The bankers' committee was not in session, according to reliable reports, but the members of the committee kept in close touch with developments on the floor of the exchange.

BIG BLOCKS TRADED

The trading was attended with a good deal of excitement from the opening, but conditions were opposite to those prevailing after the early trading yesterday. Opening sales of many stocks were in record-breaking volume, ranging from 10,000 to 75,000 shares in different issues.

Buying of powerful character was attracted by the drastic opening declines. Leading stock exchange houses this morning reported a flood of buying orders from prominent capitalists. Some of the outstanding corporations of the country also took advantage of prevailing levels to buy their own shares.

The demand from corporations for their own stock, combined with other powerful buying, checked the selling movement in the general list and threw a scare into the bear camp. Urgent short covering gave impetus to the rally.

Wall street observers were somewhat mystified at the opening "break," coming as it did on the heels of the declines of Wednesday. The concensus among the well-informed was that speculators everywhere—in the United States and abroad — were either being forced out or frightened out of the market as a result of the long slump, or both.

Thousands of speculators have been wiped out, having been unable to raise money to meet their margins. Then, too, there is a wariness on the part of countless other potential buyers of stocks from getting into the market because of the recent downward swing in prices.

Yet, with the return of security prices to the present low levels, many other investors combed the list carefully for stocks offering attractive yields and reasonable prospects of continued good earnings. There is a vast army of people with money, eager in invest rather than to merely speculate on margins, but they are operating cautiously.

Brokers urged conservatism. They were agreed, however, on the intrinsic merit of the common stocks of many of the industrial leaders of the country.

Mother of Four Named Sheriff In Kentucky

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—A 40-year old mother of four children will be sheriff of the mountain county of Knox for the next four years.

She is Mrs. Jennie Lee Mealer Walker, a great-great-niece of Gen. Robert E. Lee. A Democrat, she ran for office as an independent and carried the county, with a majority of 366. Knox County is Gov. Flem D. Sampson's county, and is ordinarily Republican in the ratio of 4 to 1.

Mrs. Walker got into the race after her husband, B. P. Walker, had won the Republican nomination for sheriff by 700 on the face of primary returns and then had lost it in a contest suit filed by one of his opponents, Ike Taylor.

The new sheriff will take office as another woman official, Mrs. Charles West, retires from the position of jailer which she has held for seven years.

BAD AT DODGING ASKS DIVORCE

Eight years of married life, marked, she said, by beatings and occasions in which her husband, A. W. Wenzel, of Hazelwood, threw bottles at her, proved too much for Mary L. Wenzel, 27, of Oakland, an elevator operator in Park Mansions, where Mayor Charles H. Kline lives.

She asked for a divorce and told her story at a hearing today in Common Pleas Court, charging cruel and barbarous treatment. The Wenzels were married in Greensburg in 1920 and lived together until this year, Mrs. Wenzel said.

That her husband was difficult to put up with and that he frequently flew into rages and struck her, was the basis of her statement. Mrs. Wenzel is being represented by Attorney G. Dixon Schrum.

Since she left her husband, Mrs. Wenzel said she has been operating an elevator in the Park Mansions.

Claudia Muzio Sued For Jewelry Bill

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—Claudia Muzio, Chicago Civic Opera Company prima donna, is named in an attachment suit by a jewelry firm which is seeking to recover some $10,000 worth of gems now in the opera singer's possession.

The suit claims that the opera star has paid $16,250 on an account for $25,534 in jewelry which she has purchased since opening an account in January, 1926.

Killing Of Buck Starts Inquiry

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 7.—W. L. Wright, divisional game supervisor, and Ray McKissick, district game protector, are investigating the killing of a six-point buck near Smithton. The animal had evidently been fired upon by hunters. The carcass was turned over to the Mt. Pleasant Hospital.

Rare Poe Booklet 'Found' After Six Years

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—For six years a copy of a rare pamphlet containing Edgar Allen Poe's "The Murders in the Rue Morgue," gathered dust in the stock of Frank Rosengren, Chicago book seller, marked at a modest $20.

Rosengren had forgotten the booklet, which he had picked with a batch of other pamphlets some years before; and no fortunate booklover came upon it on his shelves.

It remained for Rosengren, in checking over his stock, to "refind" the item, establish its authenticity through one of only three other known copies, and to dispose of it to a private book collector in the Middle West.

The name of the buyer and the price were not made public; but when the Young collection copy of the same volume was disposed of early this year it was understood to have brought between $20,000 and $25,000.

PAN-AMERICAN DIPLOMATS SELECTED

Hoover Expected to Act On List Within Week; Moore Returns to Peru

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—A complete list of new heads of American diplomatic missions in a number of South and Central American countries is expected to be ready for action by President Hoover within a week.

Among those who are reliably reported to be remaining in the South American field are Alexander P. Moore, ambassador to Peru; William S. Culbertson, ambassador to Chile; Robert Woods Bliss, ambassador to Argentina, and Edwin V. Morgan, for the past 17 years ambassador to Brazil. George T. Summerlin, former minister to Honduras, has already been appointed minister to Venezuela; Leland Harrisen, former minister to Sweden, has been appointed minister to Uruguay, and Sheldon Whitehouse, of New York, minister to Guatemala. Harry F. Guggenheim has been named ambassador to Cuba.

HOOVER'S HOBBY

President Hoover is known to be keenly interested in the development of the American diplomatic service in the South and Central Americas ever since his Latin-American tour of last year and has been particularly interested in the question of the promotion of career diplomats of the American foreign service to responsible positions.

PROMOTIONS MADE

In the appointment of Summerlin and Harrison the President showed an inclination toward the foreign service in his first two choices in the Latin-American field. Members of the foreign service have expressed the hope ever since Mr. Hoover came into office that he would see fit to make further promotions to responsible positions for the service.

The South and Central American positions which are now open to the President for designation of new ministers, or an indication that the incumbents will remain, are Colombia, Ecuador, Paraguay, Bolivia, Panama, Honduras, Nicaragua, San Salvador and Costa Rica.

CRASH VICTIM GIVEN $7,500

Grossafath Petrelli, of 435 Ella street, was given a $7,500 verdict in Common Pleas Court today against Henry M. Feath, of Beechwood boulevard, for injuries received during an automobile accident.

A collision, occurring September 3, 1927, in Negley avenue, caused permanent injuries to Petrelli, it was testified. He was represented by Attorny M. A. Musmanno. In Feath's carat the time was Miss Elizabeth Farquhar, of the Fox Chapel road, now Mrs. Elizabeth McMillan, of New Britain, Conn.

Petrelli claimed that since the collision he has suffered from vertigo.

China Nationalists Insist on Demands

NANKING, China, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The Nationalist Government of China announced today that, despite statements to the contrary, it will not deviate from its program for the abolition of extraterritorial rights by January 1, 1930.

The officers of the ordinary commissioners for foreign affairs have already been abolished and those of the special foreign affairs commissioners in large centers will be abolished in December.

ARMISTICE DAY PROCLAIMED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—President Hoover, by public proclamation, today called upon the people of the nation to turn aside from their labors on Armistice Day and pay tribute to those who died in the World War.

The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the eleventh of November, 1918, marked the cessation of the most destructive, sanguinary and far-reaching war in human annals; and

"Whereas, it is fitting that the recurring anniversary of this day should be commemorated by exercises which shall recall the high purposes for which the nation entered the World War, the devotion and sacrifice of those who gave service to their country in its peril and the memory of those who died to bring peace, and which likewise shall recall the nation's obligation to those dead that we shall apply ourselves to measures which shall contribute to prevent repetition of such devastation of humanity; and

"Whereas, by concurrent of the Senate and the House of Representatives, in 1926, the President was requested to issue a proclamation for the observance of Armistice Day:

BINGHAM DENIES CHARGE

During the spirited debate over the manganese tariff, Senator Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut, heatedly denied published reports that he had voted for a manganese tariff and then in committee voted to put it on the free list at the behest of the White House.

Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, said he was authorized to deny published statements that the United States Steel Corporation, had entered into a five-year contract to obtain manganese from Soviet Russia, as recently charged by Senator Oddie (Rep.), of Nevada. Oddie also said United States Steel owned manganese deposits in Brazil.

prepared corrugated sheet metal made in Pittsburgh. More than 800,000 square feet, nearly 20 acres, of this metal covering was required to build the dock which will house this largest of all lighter-than-air craft.

ON SPECIAL TRAIN

The party left Pittsburgh at 9 o'clock this morning on a special train from the Pennsylvania Station. H. H. Robertson, president of the Robertson Company, was host. More than 40 men, representing a dozen industries in Pittsburgh, were included in the party.

Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, through its vice president, R. W. Robins, and James M. Mages, a member of the board, was the only aeronautical concern represented.

The party reached here shortly before noon. Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett and other officials of the Navy, together with other government dignitaries, were present at the ceremonies.

40,000 TO ATTEND

Beginning with the opening of the gigantic doors of the Zeppelin dock, an engineering feat for which credit comes to Pittsburgh through the American Bridge Company, builders, the ceremony included speeches, band concerts and the final rivet-driving, which was presided over by P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company.

The gold rivet was driven in the topmost section of the ring, which will be the highest part of the gigantic airship when completed.

Plans had been made by the Goodyear Company for the accommodation of more than 40,000 spectators at this unique celebration. Radio Station WTAM, of Cleveland, broadcasted the ceremonies.

Admiral Moffett, who is chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, visualized in his speech a "great era of dirigibles in the United States within the next few years." He said they would link this country with the ends of earth, make "sea" ports of inland cities, and take a foremost part in defense and prevention of war.

Yuletide Spirit Halts Senate Tariff Study

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Senatorial dignity gave way to a premature yuletide spirit in the Senate chamber today as veteran and junior members in going to their desks passed a huge display of knicknacks ranging from bass horns to bird cages.

Gathering about the big table of exhibits senator after senator could not resist the temptation to pick up an article to see the wheels go 'round or to smell of the aroma of a foreign perfume.

In the middle of a quorum call when all was supposed to be quiet like the night before Christmas, Senator Norris, of Nebraska, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, fetched a huge brass horn, rose on his toes and made many around him hold their ears as he began, but did not finish a powerful blast.

Then another senator lifted a ukelele and began strumming an air that no one could make out.

Mixing in the fun, Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, took a big purple bottle deposited on the desk of Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, who only two days ago revealed the goings on at what he termed a "Wall Street booze party" in a Washington hotel. Brookhart had not yet arrived, but he was denied the "gift" anyway when a capitol attache took the bottle away.

The tariff, of course, was responsible for the party as the "presents" turned out to be a display of foreign articles, the cheapness of which high tariff advocates wanted to use to bolster their claims for increased duties.

MAGNATE CALLED IN QUIZ ON SENATE 'WET' DINNER

JURY INVITES LOOMIS TO APPEAR

Wall Street Leader Asked To Tell of 'Booze Party' Exposed by Brookhart

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Deciding to dig deeper into the "Wall street booze party" which Senator Smith W. Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, asserts was given here a few years ago for the entertainment of newly elected Senators, District Attorney Leo Rover announced today that Edward E. Loomis, prominent railroad and banking magnate, would be "invited" to appear before the District grand jury here and tell what he knows of the party.

Brookhart already has told the grand jury, voluntarily, that silver flasks filled with Scotch whisky were made available to the guests as "favors." The dinner was widely attended, among the guests being Otto H. Kahn, the banker. The host was Walter Fahy, a New York broker.

In his Senate speech on Tuesday, Brookhart declared that he sat at the dinner between Loomis and Kahn, and that Loomis, formerly associated with J. P. Morgan & Co., poured "some of this alcoholic stuff" into a glass, added water, and drank it.

SILENT ON KAHN

No explanation was forthcoming from the district attorney as to why the New York banker was "invited" to appear, rather than subpenaed, but it was intimated that if the invitation was not accepted a legal summons would be sent. Nor would Rover say whether Kahn and other guests at the dinner would be summoned.

The invitation to Loomis to appear before the grand jury was sent in telegraphic form. It merely said that the grand jury requested his presence to testify "concerning the alleged use of liquor at a dinner party given by Walter J. Fahy in December, 1926, at a local hotel at which a number of senators were present."

In the meantime, the diplomatic liquor situation here was being investigated by Senator Howell (Rep.), of Nebraska, who would not discuss the extent of his inquiry.

Howell, however, was understood to be "checking" on the amount of liquor brought into this country by diplomats under their official immunity to American laws.

STRAYING LIQUOR

There have been rumors current here for years that some of the diplomatic liquor consignments have gone astray, only to appear later on the dinner tables of the capital's social elite.

The Senate's lobby investigating committee also was debating the question of launching a separate inquiry into the Fahy dinner. In telling the Senate about the party Brookhart said he was seated between Kahn and Loomis and that both sought to influence his views on railroad legislation.

"That Wall Street party is a little stale to be investigated at this late date," observed Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas, chairman of the committee. "But I am inclined to invite Brookhart before the committee or to summon any witnesses he may desire us to hear. This party seems to be just one of many, held in capital in recent years. I personally shall be guided by the wishes of the committee."

The Howell inquiry meanwhile was proceeding "under cover." Howell merely announced he was gathering information to frame a reply to President Hoover's request for evidence of liquor violations in the capital.

The President's request came some weeks ago after Howell charged that Mr. Hoover was responsible for lack of prohibition enforcement in Washington. At the time, Howell argued all diplomats were violating the law, along with railroad companies, steamship lines and truck concerns, which aided the diplomats in getting their liquor supplies into this country.

His evidence probably will deal with that phase of the liquor situation.

RUM SEIZED IN RAID

Washington yesterday was startled by disclosures of the biggest liquor raid the capital has experienced in months. In the round-up more than 2,000 quarts of booze and a complete bottling plant are alleged to have been seized.

The seizure climaxed a series of daily raids that Washington officers have been conducting since the edict went forth that this city was to become a model "dry city."

LOOMIS SILENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—Edward E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, today declined to go on record as to whether he would or would not accept the "invitation" of District Attorney Leo Rover, of the District of Columbia, to appear before the grand jury investigating the "Wall Street party" at which senators were allegedly served liquor.

"I have nothing to say about it," said Loomis.

CLARK SLATED FOR TREASURER

Director of Public Safety James M. Clark is willing to become city treasurer, but he thinks that rumors to the effect that he will be appointed are premature, he said today.

"While I am willing to serve where Mayor Kline decides I can serve best," he stated, "I know it is altogether too early to discuss the matter. This and other contemplated changes are premature and merely rumor.

"There will have to be at least a meeting at the Mayor's designation before these contemplated changes are even mentioned. There has been none, so far as I know, and it seems that January 1 is about the time set in the past to make any changes."

ANN ARBOR, Mich., No. 7.—(AP.)—Declaring the decision of University of Michigan authorities to close Fletcher Hall, a men's dormitory, amounts to eviction and punishment of innocent individuals, more than 30 students residing in the dormitory have drafted a petition to President Alexander Ruthven urging rescinding of the closure order.

The dormitory was raided last Saturday and a quantity of wine and whisky found in the attic. Two students, Harold McKee, of Pittsburgh, and Charles Fitzpatrick, of Flushing, N. Y., were arrested and released on bond. A third, Alexander Gow, of Windsor, Ont., is to be brought here today for arraignment on a liquor law violation charge.

Attention is directed to the fact that impending mid-semester examinations and the biggest weekend of the season, due to the Harvard-Michigan football game Saturday, allow but little time for room hunting. A protest is made against the unnecessary expense involved.

JUDGE IN TEXAS ACQUITTED OF MURDER

Hamilton Freed on Third Ballot for Son-in-Law's Slaying; 'Conscience Clear'

WEATHERFORD, Texas, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Judge R. H. Hamilton, former member of the State Supreme Court Commission of Appeals, was free today, a jury having decided he acted in self-defense when his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., the bridegroom in a secret marriage, was shot and killed in Hamilton's Amarillo law office last May.

The jury, after listening to seven days of testimony and eight hours of argument, required only one hour and 46 minutes to acquit. Four jurors voted for conviction on the first ballot and one on the second. The verdict came on the third poll of the jury.

EMBRACED BY GIRL

The defendant was asleep in his hotel room when the verdict was read. He dressed quickly, however, when informed of his acquittal and came to the lobby to meet his friends. Theresa, his 18-year-old daughter, whose secret marriage to Walton while the two attended the University of Texas, was indirectly responsible for the shooting, threw her arms around his neck.

"Oh, daddy," was all she could say, and she fell back to watch others congratulate him.

"My conscience was clear," Hamilton said to the only newspapermen who broke through the cordon of friends which surrounded him, he added the information, "I'm going home tomorrow," before friends closed about him and shut off further interviews.

The state sought to show that Hamilton, knowing or suspecting his daughter had married Walton, whose home was in Amarillo, deliberately shot the young man when Walton came to his office to make a clean breast of the affair.

KINDLY FATHER

The defense pictured Hamilton as a kindly father, aware of Walton's intentions toward his daughter and willing to bless the couple, once he was satisfied of Walton's desirability.

Defense testimony painted the young bridegroom in a sinister light, however, several witnesses testifying that Walton had uttered threats against Hamilton, who, he felt, disapproved of him and hindered him in his efforts to see Theresa. One witness testified that Walton boasted being a member of the Chicago gang of Al "Scarface" Capone and said that he was "more deadly than a rattlesnake." Several witnesses testified they had heard Walton threaten to kill Hamilton.

Hamilton himself, from the stand, testified that these threats had come to him through others and that he had prepared to defend himself. The defendant did not admit shooting Walton, but said that they had engaged in a mortal combat for a gun Hamilton held. Walton was shot four times and died on the floor of Hamilton's office a moment later.

LOBBYIST GETS FIFTH GRILLING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—As early as last January, soon after the election, the Southern Traffic Association and the American Taxpayers League began laying plans to "build up high tariff sentiment," the Senate lobby investigating committee learned today in its continued efforts to bare methods used by these organizations to influence legislation.

And when, in June, the House bill was turned over to the Senate finance committee, the two organizations "went to work" on Senators immediately.

These and other activities of the high tariff outfits were disclosed by examination of J. A. Arnold, general manager of the concerns, on the stand for the fifth consecutive day, and from numerous correspondence he had had with those interested in higher duties.

H. R. Wylie, of Huntington, W. Va., today informed the committee he would be unable, on account of illness, to appear to testify in regard to his attempt to have Frederick L. Koch dismissed as chief of the ceramics division of the tariff commission.

PEACE PLEDGED BY TARDIEU

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The ministerial declaration of the new Tardieu government, presented to the French Parliament today, outlines a policy of peace and conciliation abroad and prosperity and security at home.

The new government assured the Chamber of Deputies that it will enter the London naval conference in the friendliest spirit, having ever in mind, however, the attitude of its predecessors that general disarmament must include that on land and in the air as well as on the sea.

EXTENSIVE DEVELOPMENT

The declaration says that security will be gained by effective organization of the national defenses and that domestic order will be maintained by "the exclusion of violence and the maintenance of liberty of conscience within the laws of the land."

An extensive program of economic development involving expenditure of $200,000,000, maintenance of the "traditional equilibrium" between agricultural and industrial production and the protection of the "four great products—wheat, wine, livestock and beets—with equitable remuneration to the cultivator" will form the basis of the program of prosperity.

SPEECH WELL RECEIVED

Encouragement to a large birth rate, aid to large families, improvement in the condition of the humbler classes, important reduction in taxes and the constantly improving care for war victims and wounded combatants are some other important points of the new ministry's platform.

In general, Premier Tardieu's reading of the declaration got a good reception, the center and the right applauding, in some cases frantically, and even some on the left showing polite approval.

The demarkation of applause, however, indicated that the premier must look above all to the more conservative elements in the chamber for a majority.

JURY THREAT CHARGED BY PANTAGES

Three Affidavits Assert Women Jurists Coerced; Defense Seeks New Trial

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—The Alexander Pantages attack case took on a new complexion today after three affidavits from jurors who voted to convict the multi-millionaire showman charged that their decision was influenced by coercion.

Seven affidavits in all were filed by Pantages attorneys yesterday. Upon the text of these, the defense lawyers will seek a new trial for their client when he appears in court Saturday for sentencing. The affidavits were presented to District Attorney Buron Fitts in accordance with court instructions.

The three jurors whose affidavits were included in the seven filed were Mrs. Christina Ulrich, Mrs. William Ingles and Mrs. Lotta C. Steiner.

Threats of what the Rev. Robert Shuler would say about them should they acquit Pantages of an asserted attack on Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, were used by one of the men jurors, according to one of the affidavits.

The three women also swore that they had been led into changing to a guilty vote by the fact that they were told the words "with clemency" or "with leniency" added to their verdict would make it mandatory that Pantages' punishment be reduced.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Biffle were responsible for two other affidavits in which the jurors stated that knowledge of Biffle's arrest for contempt frightened them in their deliberations.

Affidavits by W. I. Gilbert and W. J. Ford, Pantages lawyers, claim that the trial was affected by Shuler's comments over his private radio.

SWELLING LAVA TRAP SUBSIDES

GUATEMALA CITY, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The Guatemalan minister of promotion has informed the government, after a visit to El Palmar and the zone affected by eruption of the volcano Santa Maria, that the eruption has ceased.

Heavy showers fell over the entire area yesterday.

He was not able to estimate loss of human life or property damage since many localities still were surrounded by molten lava, the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts and women of the district have begun active relief work.

D. G. Richardson, superintendent of the Mexican Aviation Company, cabled the Associated Press yesterday after a flight over the volcano area:

"I saw something which will live in my memory, an island surrounded by a moving mass of lava which must be getting higher and higher. And on the island were men, women, and chilren trapped with no hope of escaping a horrible death unless old Santa Maria so decrees."

HINDMAN, KIN KILLER, WEEPS

Otto Hindman, 28, New Eagle steelworker, broke down and wept on the witness stand in Criminal Court today when he testified in his own defense for the shooting to death of his father-in-law, Anthony Schragl, 46.

"When my wife said she liked another man I shot into the floor to frighten her," testified Hindman, "I don't remember what happened after that."

He told of contemplating leaping from the Smithfield Street Bridge, the day of the shooting, last April 29, to end his troubles.

Mrs. Annie Schragl, wife of the slain man, testified yesterday that Hindman shot her twice in the shoulder, then shot her husband when she refused to permit her daughter, Mrs. Hindman, to return to Hindman after she had been compelled for the fourth time to leave him because of abuse. The shooting took place in the Schragl home.

Dawes Adopts Collar Of Orthodox Style

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Observing friends of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes have been speculating on whether one of two personal accessories that he has made famous is to be seen no longer.

During Gen. Dawes' visit to the White House this week, the well-known underslung pipe has been a steady companion, but that peculiar fold-over collar with a "V" opening in front has been replaced by the more orthodox wing neckwear.

This much light was thrown on the situation today by Rufus C. Dawes, the General's brother, who is visiting in Washington. The change came about because "of the exigencies of London haberdashers," said Rufus, adding that the British apparently never heard of that odd collar of his brother's.

When Gen. Dawes himself was asked about it he waved his hand in mock seriousness in much the same manner he did when he was asked some time ago about silk stockings and knee breeches, asserting:

"I won't say a thing about anything like that."

ASK CONGRESS TO CUT INCOME TAXES

Increase in Exemptions, Higher Allowances for Deductions Chief Demands

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—With the Treasury Department, fretting over sums that run into the billions, seeking a way to tax reduction, agitation was arising today from many quarters for various revenue law changes to lighten the burden of assessment the government puts on the country every year.

Among the latest demands was for a boost in the allowance for dependents, and an increase in the age within which children may be classed as dependent.

HIGHER ALLOWANCE ASKED

Under the present law a deduction of $400 may be made for dependents, including children up to the age of 18 years. In certain congressional circles it was declared that with advancing cost of living, especially of education, the deduction should be materially higher. Also the point was made that with many young people in college after the age of 18, when their upkeep is unusually high, an increase should be made to 21 years. Increase in the exemption for married persons to $4,000 or $5,000 also has been advocated.

Officials did not think these changes in the law would reduce the government's income to a great extent. On the other hand it might be a form of tax relief that would reduce the financial burden of education in a considerable degree.

The Federation of Professional and Business Women's Clubs has conferred with Secretary Mellon with the plea that the exemption allowed single persons be increased from $1,500 to $3,500, claiming the present law is discriminatory and in substance puts a special tax on the unmarried state.

There has been strong demand throughout the country for an increase in the credit of 25 per cent allowed on earned incomes and some agitation for increasing the limits within which the credit may be taken. Under the 1928 revenue act the maximum earned income is $20,000. Some took the view that the credit should be larger for the first $10,000 of earned income, leaving the deduction for the remainder at the present figure.

ASK TAX CUT

United States Chamber of Commerce officials are out for a reduction of the corporation tax from 12 to 10 per cent, holding that business stimulated therefrom probably would produce sufficient additional revenue to the government to offset the loss occasioned by the rate change. Several conferences have already been held with high Treasury officials.

The Treasury will soon have its estimates of income for next year ready and will then be prepared to say whether revenues will justify a reduction. The uncertainty in revenue occasioned by the stock market crash has complicated the estimating job this year.

Weather Conditions.

As a result of high barometric pressure, stretching in the form of a ridge from the Atlantic to the Pacific over the northern states, with the peak of the high over the Dakotas and extending northeastward towards Hudson Bay, the temperatures over much the greater portion of the country are below normal. A low pressure area centered over Northern Arizona, and covering most of the southern states is causing cloudiness over most of the country, and snow over the Rocky Mountain states, and western plains, and rain in Oklahoma and Texas. It is raining also at scattered places in the East Gulf states.

MADRID, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—Rumors of a widespread scandal were heard here following the arrest of a man charged with the theft of pictures of great value from Spanish churches.

It is reported that a number of prominent persons are concerned in the affair, and the government has ordered an exhaustive investigation. Police concealed the identity of the man who was arrested.

Woman Elected To Rich Tax Office

At the primary there were 14 candidates for the nomination.

Veteran Assessor Dies Election Day

VANDERBILT, Pa., Nov. 7.—Issac R. Byers, 74, assessor in Dunbar Township for 20 years, was found dead in bed at his home on Election Day. At the same hour voters were on their way to the polls, where they cast ballots for him to succeed himself. Byers was a staunch Democrat.

Heart trouble was given as the cause of death. He leaves his widow and four children.

October Output Of Coal Increases

HARRISBURG, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Gains in both anthracite and bituminous coal production over September were accomplished during October, Walter H. Glasgow, secretary of mines, announced here. The bituminous tonnage of 11,030,060 during October was a 4 per cent gain. Only 58 per cent of 1,781 mines were working, due mostly, Secretary Glasgow said, to low prices and a lack of demand.

CHILD HEALTH STUDY WIDE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Secretary Wilbur, as chairman of the White House conference on child health and protection, announced that its various committees were ready for the most sweeping study of child welfare "ever made in the world."

H. E. Barnard, director of the planning committee, and other members of the committee, who were drawn from all types of organizations engaged in welfare work, finished three months work recently by recommending the most complete study possible of all work being done for the advancement of the child, from which suggestions will be drawn for future action.

The work of the conference has been divided into four major sections: Medical service, headed by Dr. Samuel McC. Hamill, of Philadelphia; public health service and administration, Surgeon Gen. Hugh S. Cumming, chairman; education and training, headed by Dr. F. J. Kelly, president of the University of Idaho; and study of the handicapped child, to be directed by C. C. Carstens, director of the Child Welfare League of America. The White House conference on child health and protection was called three months ago by President Hoover. The chief executive has informed Secretary Wilbur that he considers its work one of the most pressing needs of the country.

2 FINED AS POOL 'WINNERS' LOSE

All went well with the clearing house lottery investment of two South Side Negro women until they tried to collect on a winning number, they testified in South Side Police Court today.

Mrs. Leona Foeltz, 57 Muriel street, and Mrs. Mary Johnson, 58 Muriel street, testified they had bought tickets from Robert Chambers, Negro, 21 South Eighteenth street, and had won $27 and $16.20, respectively.

Chambers testified he had obtained the tickets from Fred Granert, 1913 Larkins way. Granert testified that he and Chambers toured the Hill district in a cab yesterday trying in vain to find the lottery headquarters supposed to be at 2863 Wylie avenue.

"I didn't pick a number myself, but I'll pick yours right now," said Magistrate John J. Sweeney. He fined Granert $50 with the alternative of spending 30 days in jail and Chambers $25 with the same alternative.

YOUNG HUNTER KILLED BY CHUM

The first fatality of the hunting season in Allegheny County occurred last night when Patrick Brannigan, 18, of Coal Valley, near Clairton, died in McKeesport Hospital from a gunshot wound in the left thigh.

Brannigan was shot, deputy coroners said, when the gun of his companion, Jack Smith, 19, also of Coal Valley, was accidentally discharged while they were hunting near their homes yesterday afternoon. Smith took the victim to the hospital where he died six hours later.

County detectives were notified and began an investigation.

Hoover Asks Nations To World's Fair

The crown prince, who has been in Rome for several days, yesterday received the Papal Nuncio, Monsignor Borgongini Duca, for a 20-minute conversation, presumably in the connection, while Queen Elena came from San Rossore in the strictest incognito to discuss the wedding plans with her son.

Always worn out— now out of a job!

HE LIVED in dread of this day... "fired." Yet he knew it was bound to happen. For months an invisible force had been stealing his strength—dulling his mind—wearing him out. And the pity was that he started business with the brightest hopes and best of health.

Many a man has gone through such an experience and lost the battle to constipation—that most relentless enemy of health and happiness. Many have constipation but do not realize it. Often it begins with headaches, sleepless nights, sallow complexions and bad breath. Too often it leads to serious disease.

But constipation can be relieved—prevented promptly. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to safely rid the system of this evil.

Only ALL-BRAN gives maximum results

It is bulk that relieves constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies bulk in generous quantity. In a part-bran product the amount of bulk is usually too small to be completely effective. That's why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN
brings natural relief

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is totally different from dangerous drugs and pills whose dose must be constantly increased to be effective. It works as nature works.

A pleasant cereal. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Mix it with other cereals. Try it in soups. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. The health of the entire family can be maintained by serving ALL-BRAN in some form every day.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

GIRL GEM THIEF, SHOT, ESCAPES

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—A girl robber and her man companion were wounded yesterday in a pistol duel with a pawnbroker here. Both escaped in an automobile, taking a tray of jewels valued at several thousand dollars.

The man entered the store of Max Kantrowitz and while the girl covered him with a pistol her companion took the jewelry.

A passerby witnessed the holdup through the window and notified Herman Cheiffetz, a pawnbroker next door.

Cheiffetz, pistol in hand, came upon the pair as they hurried to their automobile. In the exchange of shots the robbers gained their car, but bullets from the pawnbroker's pistol wounded the girl in the face and the man in the shoulder before they could start their machine.

NEW AIR GIANT SUCCESS

DESSAU, Germany, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The G-38, new 2,200 horsepower Junkers monoplane, believed to be the largest land plane yet constructed, yesterday completed its first trial flight successfully.

Its wings, 150 feet from tip to tip, have a tapering arrow shape, considered by Junkers engineers the strongest and steadiest type yet achieved.

The height is more than 16 feet, length about 75 feet. It is equipped with Junkers motors, two of 700 horsepower each and two of 400 horsepower each.

The wings measure more than a man's height between their upper and lower coverings, leaving space for mechanics to walk around the motors.

BANK IGNORES PAY IN KIND

BADEN-BADEN, Germany, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The conference for establishment of an International Settlements Bank last night after long debate, decided that it should have nothing to do with supervision of deliveries in kind in German reparations payments. They informed the Deliveries in Kind committee that any supervisory function is incompatible with the spirit of the International Bank.

Should the Deliveries in Kind committee decide that the supervision hitherto exercised by the reparations committee must be continued in some form, then the second Hague conference on reparations will have to wrestle with the problem.

M. A. Traylor, American delegate, had attempted to compromise on the problem. He submitted a memorandum in which he said that under the Young plan the bank could not escape a certain amount of responsibility of supervision and suggested that it could appoint a committee outside its directorate for such a special purpose as supervising deliveries in kind. Although there seemed general support in principle for his suggestion it failed of adoption because of the zeal of the conference to keep the bank out of politics.

TONED UP HER ENTIRE SYSTEM

Pittsburgh Lady Gladly Tells How Ten Herbs Relieved Health Troubles.

Every day adds new local triumphs to the remarkable record of Ten Herbs, the celebrated new medical preparation with the ten wonderful natural ingredients. The fact that Ten Herbs is the most widely discussed medicine that ever has been introduced in this city should be convincing proof that this amazing compound does all that is claimed for it—relieves stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, nervousness, rheumatism and neuritis. Additional proof is the published statements of Pittsburgh men and women, all praising Ten Herbs. If you would be well, start taking Ten Herbs today—your druggist has it.

"Day after day I felt so worn out that I could hardly keep going, but Ten Herbs toned up my whole system and gave me a great deal of new energy," was the recent statement of Mrs. Alma Drouet, 520 Arch Street, Pittsburgh. "Benefits are what count, and that is why I am glad to tell others how your medicine helped me in various ways.

"I felt completely tired out, and could not eat properly, as many things disagreed with me. Although I made a study of careful eating and practiced it, I still was troubled with gas, bloating and heartburn. Sometimes gas made me short of breath, and I had a heavy, distressed feeling after a meal. I often had dizzy spells, and my nerves were so unstrung that even trifling things annoyed me. Constipation bothered me, and at times there were sharp pains in my back.

"One of my tenants had been helped by Ten Herbs, so I tried your medicine, and now I am telling others of the benefits I received. My stomach has been helped so much that food agrees with me, and I derive proper nourishment and strength from it. I relish what I eat, and am free of gas, bloating and heartburn. I no longer feel short of breath or uncomfortable after a meal. My nerves are stronger, and I do not have those dizzy spells like I did. Constipation and the pains in my back have been relieved. I am pleased to recommend Ten Herbs to the public because of the way it improved my health."

Ten Herbs is sold at all drug stores in Pittsburgh and by all druggists throughout this entire section.

Radiations From Hollywood and Pittsburgh Theaters

LINA ABARBANELL, STAR AT 15, HAPPY OVER REVIVAL OF HERBERT MUSIC

By GEORGE SEIBEL

WITH all the dignity of a real duchess, Lina Abarbanell sweeps through "The Silver Swan," the lovely Viennese operetta at the Nixon Theater. It was on this same stage I first saw Lina Abarbanell the first year she came to America. She was with the Metropolitan Opera Company, and sang the boy's role in Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel." Bella Alten was the Gretel, and our own Louise Homer sang the Witch.

George Seibel

Heinrich Conried had brought Lina to America. She had been playing under Reinhardt in Germany. At the age of 15 she had made a hit in the leading roles of Ibsen's "Wild Duck" and Hauptmann's "Hannele." She could have aspired to the highest heights of dramatic art in Germany. But Conried was a most persuasive person, and was going to make the Metropolitan as important as Bayreuth or Vienna. He made up his mind that Lina Abarbanell was going to America—and she went.

As Hansel she was most charming. So charming that many American managers set out to capture her—and Henry W. Savage succeeded. She appeared in "The Merry Widow" and "Madame Sherry," in "Florabella" and "Miss Princess."

Caruso's Plea

When she decided to leave the Metropolitan, the great Caruso was the chief objector.

"I want you to sing Musetta in 'Boheme,'" he told her.

"I would like to sing Musetta," she answered. "I sang Mozart roles when I was only 16. I sang Zerlina in 'Don Giovanni,' and Papageno in 'The Magic Flute,' and Cherubino in 'The Marriage of Figaro.' Yes, I want to sing Musetta with you, but I can't wait until I am 60."

So the Metropolitan lost her, and light opera gained one of its brightest stars. The Portuguese and Spanish blood in her veins—her grandparents had migrated to Germany—gave her the sparkle and glow that is associated with the wines of Oporto and Xeres.

Then Belasco persuaded her to return to her earlier field of drama. In Sascha Guitry's comedy, "The Grand Duke," she had the principal part opposite Lionel Atwill.

She has since appeared in many cities as a guest star—in plays like "The Shanghai Gesture" and "Enter Madame." Now she's back to her earlier love, light opera. Her gracious dignity enhances the Viennese atmosphere in "The Silver Swan."

Knew the Great Ones

Lina Abarbanell has known all the great songbirds of our day. Besides Caruso she knew Lilli Lehmann, the Empress of Walhalla. She knew Marcella Sembrich, who today is leading other young singers up the difficult paths of musical fame. She knew scores of them—and says that all the greatest artists had one common trait.

That was their marvelous simplicity. Contrary to popular impression about the artistic temperament, these greatest ones were mild and modest in all their ways. They helped young singers whenever they could. They took no milk baths to attract public attention. They drank no buckets of champagne. They were natural, unaffected, generous, and slaves to their art.

Before the 18th

Lina Abarbanell is happy that Victor Herbert's operas are coming back, happy over Fritzi Scheff's success. Herbert was one of the men she prized among her friends. Their cottages were on opposite shores of Lake Placid. Scores of times during the summer season the voice of Herbert would be heard across the water, singing as his boat approached the beach of the Abarbanells.

He always had a cargo of Rhine wine.

And they would drink, and sing "Die Lorelei," and never dream of the coming of Volstead.

"If it weren't against the law," said Lina Abarbanell, "I would drink a toast in Ruedesheimer to the renaissance of Victor Herbert. And if Victor Herbert were here, and it weren't against the law, I'm sure he would drink a toast to the success of 'The Silver Swan,' this Jacquet-Brady operetta which would have given him delight."

Goofy!

Harpo Marx and his three other brothers will bring their "Animal Crackers" to the Alvin Monday.

FOUR MARX BOYS FOR ALVIN

The seat sale opens in the Alvin box office today for the limited engagement, commencing Monday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, of the Four Marx Brothers in "Animal Crackers." The cast includes Margaret Dumont, Margaret Irving, Louis Sorin, Arthur Lipson, Dorothy Fitz Gibbon, Marjory May Martyn, Neil Collins, Charles Baron, Eleanore Hunt and Julian Winter.

Seats go on sale today at the Nixon for DuBose and Dorothy Heyward's folk-play, "Porgy," which opens in that theater Monday. First presented at the Guild Theater in New York just two years ago, "Porgy" has hung up quite a record—playing almost continously since.

Eveta Nudsen will play the leading feminine role, that of a pretty French peasant, in "The Rose of Picardy," next week's presentation of the George Sharp Players in the Shubert Pitt. Miss Nudsen will not have to affect the dialect of a French girl, as she speaks French fluently.

BANCROFT FILM

George Bancroft comes to the Stanley tomorrow in his latest all-talking film, "The Mighty." On the stage Dick Powell will present "On Parade."

The all-talking screen version of "The Virginian," starring Gary Cooper, opens on the Grand screen today.

ENTER, R-K-O

A typical Gypsy band, made up of musical vagabonds from all over the world who drifted together in Hollywood, is seen and heard in "Street Girl," scheduled for the Sheridan Square, beginning Saturday, as the initial presentation of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation in the East Liberty house.

Victor Graff, the youthful master of ceremonies from the Sheridan Square, will open an extended engagement as M. C. in the Harris Saturday. The talk film will be "Hold Your Man," with Laura La Plante.

INA CLAIRE FILM

Ina Claire, stage star, comes to the Enright Saturday in her first all-talking film, "The Awful Truth," a comedy of married life. On the stage Jay Mills will present a new revue, "Step This Way."

"The Hollywood Revue," Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's musical motion picture, will begin a third week in the Aldine Monday, November 11.

Minnie Fitzgerald, known in burlesque as "the personality girl," has the stellar role in "Social Maids," next week's show in the Academy.

"Married Love" closes its showings for "women only" in the Gayety Saturday night. In the three days left continuous shows will be given from 1 p. m. to 11 p. m. Next Monday the schedule changes and the entire week will be for "men only," continuous shows to be given throughout the week.

Girl Friend

Esther Ralston has a lot to do with the plot of the George Bancroft film, "The Mighty," opening in Stanley tomorrow.

LOUISE FAZENDA TRIES SINGING AND DISCLOSES MEAN LADDER OF NOTES

By DOROTHY HERZOG
(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.

HE was sent for to supervise a picture.

"How much is your salary?" asked the Kumpny's money man.

"How much do I have to ask for to get $500 a week?" was the comeback.

Not to be outdone by the mi-mi-ing pelting the Hollywood skies, Louise Fazenda has joined the Gargle Brigade. Mrs. Paul Sloan, wife of the W. K. director, is her teacher. According to this and that picked up here and there, the Fazenda lets loose a mean ladder of notes. Mebbe she'll demonstrate, via celluloid, in "The Lady in Ermine," wherein she may be part of the title along with Vivian Seegal.

Louise Fazenda

The chief's filet mignon (not his liver) really started it. The second filet mignon clinched it. A contract for Jose Bohr to star in Spanish offerings produced by the Sono-Art outfit, via George Weeks, its big chief.

Jose is a handsome lad with a comedy personality. He is to South America what Maurice Chevalier is to Paris. He and his wife traipsed New Yorkwards and, in the course of events, opened a night club on Fifth avenue.

To this night club on an experimental eve came George Weeks. And ordered the aforementionel fillet mignon. Liked it. Came another eve. Ordered ditto. Liked it. Invited Headman Bohr to his table. Discovered he would go to Hollywood. Discovered he spoke Spanish, Italian, and French. Heard him sing again. Signed him to come West for one picture. Started it. Tore his contract up after the first day's work. Doubled his salary and signed him for two years. And everybody's happy.

Glenn Hunter In Circus Film

JOSE has already starred in a Spanish version of Eddie Dowling's Vocalloid, "The Rainbow Man." He has Supervised several other Spanish pictures for Sono-Art and shortly will begin a circus picture. I suspect this is the Jim Tully yarn that James Cruze will make, with Glenn Hunter featured. In Bohr's picture, Albert Valentino—Rudy's brother—will play a semi-heavy role.

Glenn Hunter

Pens one signing himself, or herself, "A Reader:"

Dear Miss H.—Stop dishing up such infernal lies that J. Harold Murray now showing in "Married in Hollywood" is getting $5,500 a week. I presume his leading lady that does all the work is getting $10,000 to your way of thinking. Murray is worth $500 and that is plenty. Stop misrepresentations.—A Reader.

I must resume my fencing lessons if such anonymous letters continue.

Film Attack 'Silly' View of De Mille

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Cecil B. De Mille, head of Motion Picture Producers' Association, informed of a statement made in New York by Don C. Seitz, associate editor of Outlook, that attempts to raise the morals of the films are "merely camouflage," said: "I do not think a statement so ridiculous requires comment."

Other producers had referred inquiries to De Mille as spokesman for the Hollywood industry.

POLISH RIOTING WIDESPREAD

WARSAW, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—Many persons were under arrest today as the result of nationwide protests throughout Poland over the action of President Moscicki in suspending the Polish Parliament for 30 days.

Demonstrations were staged by Socialists in the principal cities. Police easily dispersed the meetings, and no casualties were reported.

Particularly strong demonstrations were staged at Lemberg, where military tanks were turned into the streets to intimidate the rioters. It was not found necessary to use their guns.

The six opposition parties today joined in a resolution demanding resignaton of the present government.

Coal miners of the Upper Silesian district have proclaimed a one-day strike in protest against the suspension.

Sousa, 75, Still Is Directing His Band

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—John Philip Sousa, veteran band master, yesterday spent his seventy-fifth birthday directing his band.

Mr. Sousa took sufficient time from his music to observe, after listening to a reproduction of his own voice and the music of his band, that nothing astonishes him any more.

"It is impossible to set a limit to mechanical ingenuity, particularly in America," he said.

Marines to March Here Armistice Day

W. J. Wilson, commandant of the local Marine Corps League, has issued an invitation to all Marines of this district to march with the league in the Armistice Day parade. Penitentiary Here Once Housed War Prisoners

Convicts in the Western Penitentiary have turned their activities to historical research.

After the patient culling of tens of thousands of documents in musty files and mouldy records in the Woods Run institution, a group of prisoners under the direction of Warden Stanley P. Ashe established an important fact in Civil War history.

They proved that the old penitentiary on the North Side was used for the confinement as prisoners of war of 118 Confederate officers captured with Gen. John H. Morgan's forces in Ohio in 1863.

REPORT WAS DENIED

The extraordinary act of holding war captives for a long period in a felon's prison was denied by Union authorities after the war, although the incident was referred to in official records of the War Department. In the penitentiary the records of the Confederate prisoners were "lost" for 66 years until brought to light in the search instituted by Warden Ashe.

The request for the wartime prisoners' commitments was made by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The matter was brought up 12 years ago, but no record was unearthed. Early in this year Warden Ashe detailed a group of intelligent prisoners on the task, and yesterday the records were brought to light.

WERE GIVEN LIBERTIES

All the line officers captured with Morgan, members of Kentucky and Tennessee cavalry regiments in the Confederate service, were placed in the Western Penitentiary on August 5, 1863.

Their confinement there was at the request of Gen. W. T. H. Brooks, in command of this department during the threatened invasion of Western Pennsylvania in the summer of 1863.

A yard was built for the war prisoners outside the walls of the old penitentiary, and they were guarded by soldiers. John Birmingham, then warden of the penitentiary, issued prison fare and the men were under strict prison rules.

ESCAPE FRUSTRATED

Morgan's officers were resourceful men and after three months in the penitentiary planned a method of wholesale escape. The plot was frustrated and resulted in stringent discipline being enforced by Warden Birmingham through the orders of the War Department. In 1864 the experiment of housing prisoners of war in the penitentiary was abandoned and the officers were removed to field prisons, where later they were exchanged.

Among Morgan's veterans who languished in the old penitentiary were many men who after the war attained prominence in Kentucky.

The records obtained by Warden Ashe's historians will be submittted to the general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at Boloxi, Miss., November 17.

CRASH INJURES GIRL; 2 HELD

Two men were arrested early today following an automobile crash in which a girl was slightly injured and one of the wrecked cars was thrown against the side of a building at Seventh avenue and Smithfield street. The injured girl was Miss Dorothy Jones, 20, of 3445 Perrysville avenue, a passenger in one of the cars. After treatment at Allegheny General Hospital she was sent to her home.

James Woods, 21, of 1405 Stranmore avenue, and Theodore Mengsing, 32, of 1130 Davis avenue, the drivers, were charged with reckless driving at Central Police Station. The car driven by Woods was thrown against the front of the Mirror restaurant.

WRITER LAUDS RUM STUDY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—That a judge in a children's court should have written an essay on the subject of prohibition and won the award of $25,000 for his constructive criticism is one of the things that Rupert Hughes, eminent novelist, finds significant in reading "Temperance or Prohibition."

The volume, made available to the public through the Hearst newspapers, is based on information gathered from the 71,200 contributors to the recent Hearst Temperance Contest, as well as upon special lines of research conducted by Francis J. Tietsort, who edited the 400-page volume.

"Christmas is coming and hip flasks and cocktail shakers will once more be the favorite gifts," writes Hughes in his comment on the book. "This glittering evidence of the success of prohibition is emphasized by W. R. Hearst in his eloquent introduction to 'Temperance or Prohibition.'

"It is significant, too, that the prize winning plan should have been devised by a judge in a children's court. The book is a vast treasury of unanswerable arguments for the prohibition of prohibition."

Boulder Dam Power Conference Arranged

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—Representing Los Angeles and several nearby communities, a delegation left here for Washington to attend the Boulder Dam power allocation conference with Secretary of the Interior R. L. Wilbur on November 12.

The delegation hopes to get Secretary Wilbur to agree that the government shall install the dynamos and switching machinery of the power plant. It is possible that this time the conference will clear the way for signing of power contracts.

"They work while you sleep"

Do you have days when you feel sluggish—when everything seems an effort—and you have no appetite? Take a candy Cascaret before you go to bed! This gentle, harmless aid to the bowels is often all that is needed to clear up a sick headache and cause any other symptom of sluggishness to vanish.

Cascarets can't harm you for cascara is a favored laxative with medical authorities. It does a perfect job of cleansing without violence and without forming the laxative habit. Cascarets are pleasant to take, for they are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice—children love them.

A candy Cascaret or two will usually clear up a bilious, constipated condition between night and morning. Their action is so gentle there is no discomfort from them or danger in their frequent use. They are a pure vegetable product. They do not weaken the system. In fact, the cascara actually strengthens bowel muscles. Remember this when you have a coated tongue, bad breath, when the head feels dull or there is any sign of poor elimination.

"NOT IN SEVEN YEARS HAVE I FELT SO FINE"

Grateful Praise for Konjola Voiced by Coraopolis Man Whose Rundown Condition Was Transformed.

"Experience is the best teacher," and wise men and women learn not only from their own experiences but also from the experiences of others. Large numbers of men and women in Pittsburgh and vicinity have had happy experiences with the new and different medicine, Konjola. Learn of their experiences and profit by them.

Talk with the Konjola Man nearest you and get the facts about this modern medicine. Learn what it has done and is doing for hundreds of people in Pittsburgh and nearby communities. There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, this city. You will not be bored with claims and promises, for Konjola's fame rests upon the bedrock foundation of verified results. This medicine invites you to judge it not by what is said in its behalf, but by what it has done. Read what Konjola did for Mr. Albert A. Spicer, 107 Mulberry Street, Coraopolis, Pa., who called upon a Konjola Man a few days ago and said:

"I think Konjola is a wonderful medicine and I have plenty of reason to think so, for this medicine made a marvelous change in my condition. I had been badly rundown, weak, and nervous for seven years. I tried many treatments and medicines, but all either gave me no relief or else had only temporary effects upon my condition. I had no appetite and was so nervous I could hardly sleep at all and could not begin to get the rest I needed.

"I had heard a great deal about this new Konjola and had read how other people who were weak and rundown found new strength and energy through this medicine, and I thought it might be the medicine I needed to build me up. I have taken six bottles of this medicine and have gained 11 pounds. My appetite is good. I eat hearty meals and enjoy them. Instead of being a nervous wreck, my nerves are steady and I can sleep soundly at night. This medicine is building me up and making me feel stronger and energetic. Never in seven years have I felt so fine as I feel now and I am going to keep on taking this medicine, as I think it holds still more improvement in store for me. I certainly can sincerely recommend it to all who are rundown and lacking in energy."

Konjola is recommended for stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness, and as a super-tonic for the building up of strength and vitality.

There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh, where daily they are meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

'Seth Parker' Makes Bow In WCAE Studio

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

FANS who sit up religiously until 10:45 every Sunday night to commune with "Seth Parker" will be brought closer to the heart of this great character tonight when he speaks for 10 minutes over WCAE at 7:20 p. m.

Phillips H. Lord, creator of "Seth Parker," who enacts the part of his brainchild at every Sunday night "gathering" in Jonesport, Me., is in the city the guest of WCAE. He will meet listeners in the WCAE studios all day, then at 7 o'clock will rehearse the Pittsburgh cast in his latest air success, "Seth Parker's Singing School." This feature will make its debut at 7:30 with the original "Seth Parker" in the studio to offer suggestions.

Like Sacred Songs on KDKA, "Sunday Night at Seth Parker's" draws a bulk of the mail at WCAE. It is said that "Seth Parker" receives 4,500 letters a month from the WEAF network.

Phillips Carlin, who was advertised to describe the Army-Navy game of 1920 "just as he saw it" last week for the Champion Sparkers, and then went into tantrums telling about a 5 to 0 game played in 1904, will essay a speed role tonight in reporting the Indianapolis Classic "just as he saw it." If everything goes well we may expect this little sportdrama about 8:30 from KDKA.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

CREOMULSION
FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

We Now Present

"Howdy" Clark, manager at WJAS, has created a fad for rolling socks. He slips a gum band over his ankle and permits the sock to droop down in pirate buckler fashion. Nifty.

When the hat rack is full Edward Sprague, tenor at KDKA, just tosses his black felt on a desk, in a wastebasket or whatever's handy.

HO! HO. While the photographer from a local newspaper searches the streets for pix of Pittsburgh's original "Little German Band," the Teutonic group was playing in the studio of KQV, sayeth Mr. Bud Cooper.

Patti Rude Baldridge, besides being serious and a singer, is a studio cutup when she wants to be.

"The worst number in the whole telephone book is GRant 8500," complaineth brunette stenog in Jim Simpson's office. "It is mistaken at least thirty-six times a day for a popular cab company, a local newspaper, a railroad ticket office and diverse other things." Nothing like being popular with the public.

Bill Todd of the Silver Marshall folks called on the WJAS boys yesterday. His big smile brought out the stars on the studio ceiling.

"It's about time we hitch up the sleigh and start a Santa Claus club," drawled Francis C. Owen about 3:50 Wednesday. At 3:55 he complained of the radiator heat.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

Dick Powell, crooning m. c., never uses a megaphone in the WCAE studio. Like Little Jack Little he whispers into the "mike."

Each tooth you lose

GUARD THE DANGER LINE

IT MAY be replaced artificially. But artificial teeth are never quite the same as natural teeth. And if a lost tooth isn't replaced, the roundest cheek may pay with a marring line, a telltale hollow. Safeguard your priceless teeth and gums—especially at The Danger Line.

Your gums thin out to a delicate margin where they join the teeth. Here is The Danger Line. Here is a row of tiny crevices many of which, especially those between the teeth, your tooth-brush cannot reach. So food particles collect, ferment, generate acids which attack the teeth and gums. Squibb's Dental Cream is prepared particularly to guard The Danger Line. It contains 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Each time you use it, particles of Milk of Magnesia are carried into the crevices and render acids harmless. Squibb's Dental Cream cleans safely and thoroughly. Surely you need this vital protection. A large tube of Squibb's is 40c.

Toreador, Gored, Dies From Wounds

Good Outweighs Bad on Gridiron, Thomas Says

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 7.—(INS.)—"In the development of football, the good effects have greatly outweighed the bad."

So declared Dr. John M. Thomas, president of Rutgers University, at a special service designed to commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of the first collegiate football game. The first game was played 60 years years ago with Rutgers and Princeton opposed.

Without referring directly to the Carnegie report, but apparently aiming his remarks at the survey, Dr. Thomas said:

"A sounder appreciation of the importance of vigorous health. Higher standards of honor in all the competitions of life, cultivation of loyalty to alma mater. The necessity of hard discipline in order to succeed in any worthwhile work are among the lessons forcibly and successfully taught in the greatest of America's academic sports which began with a Rutgers victory just 60 years ago."

Less constipation—
Less COLDS!

That's logical, isn't it?

CONSTIPATION doesn't cause colds—but constipation makes it easier for you to catch colds.

Allowing intestinal poisons to accumulate is practically saying, "Welcome Colds! Make yourself at home!"

That's why doctors usually prescribe a laxative as the first step in fighting a cold. That's why you should take a laxative when you feel a cold coming on! And while you are at it, why not have a good time taking it? Ex-Lax is the delicious chocolated laxative—and its laxative ingredient has the approval of high medical authorities.

Ex-Lax doesn't weaken, doesn't upset, doesn't annoy. It's gentle—yet effective. Your druggist has Ex-Lax in 25c and 50c sizes—and in a 10c trial size, too!

CROWDS WATCH "STROBOSCOPE" prove importance of VIBRA-CONTROL

Here's the way a stroboscope looks as it determines the vibrations of a dynamic speaker

Fada Booth swamped by fascinated buyers... at New York Radio Show

IF you could see the Stroboscope . . . if you could watch this amazing new instrument "spot" vibrations . . . you'd instantly understand how Fada achieved Vibra-Control.

The Stroboscope is an invention of physical science to determine the amplitude and frequency of any vibration. Engineers use it on skyscrapers . . . on ocean liners . . . on far-flung bridges. For with it you can see with your naked eye vibrations heretofore invisible.

So Fada put the Stroboscope on every inch of their new sets . . . located points of vibration, eliminated them one by one, until the famous Fada receiver, the Fada full-powered dynamic speaker and the custom built consoles were so perfectly coordinated that Fada had finally attained complete Vibra-Control. And with Vibra-Control Fada had true tone realism: Now programs are reproduced exactly as broadcast . . . free from distortion, interference, hums and roars.

The Stroboscope proved it to thousands at the radio show . . . but any new Fada will prove it to you in a five minute demonstration at your Fada dealer's.

POWER COMBINE SEEKING RICH DAM SITE

Electric Bond and Share Revealed as Real Backer Of Huge Montana Project

By M. L. RAMSAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The giant Electric Bond and Share Company has been revealed officially as the big interest behind the fight for the Flathead River power site in Montana, called "the Muscle Shoals of the West."

Fat fees for supervision, management, construction and the like will be an added prize for the company if it wins, it was shown in written evidence produced before the Federal Power Commission.

Thirteen officers and directors of the American Power and Light Company, a bond and share-holding concern, were shown to occupy similar positions in the Montana Power Company. The latter is the parent of the Rocky Mountain Power Company, seeking a license to develop the Flathead site, and its guarantor for the project.

The Montana company's guarantee is contingent upon the rates it is charged for power from the development being satisfactory to John D. Ryan, its president. Ryan, the evidence showed, is also president of the Rocky Mountain company, and thus would be in the position of selling the power at a price satisfactory to himself as head of the company buying it.

A contract between the Montana Power Company and the Electric Bond and Share Company, entered into by Ryan last January, provides for payment to Bond and Share of a graduate fee ranging from one-half per cent to 1.6 per cent of the Montana Power Company's gross revenues.

SUPERVISORY FEE

This is for supervision of management, operations, purchasing, accounting and other activities.

The contract also opens the way for another, with a Bond and Share subsidiary, for construction work. On this work there would be paid a fee of 4 to 5 per cent of the cost.

For accounting, drafting and various other work done by Bond and Share the Montana Power Company would pay the salaries of the Bond and Share employes engaged in it, plus fees of 50 to 90 per cent to cover "overhead" cost.

For supervising any work done by an independent contractor Bond and Share would collect a fee of 2 to 2½ per cent.

The contract applies to all Montana Power Company subsidiaries.

Letters Replace Numerals on Banknotes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—A letter of the alphabet creates a neater appearance than a numeral in the opinion of Treasury officials, and for that reason a change is to be made shortly in the new Federal Reserve notes.

The recently issued small-size bills designate the issuing bank by numerals from one to 12. The contemplated notes will be designated by letters from A to L.

POLICE THANK HEARST PAPERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A message of thanks to William Randolph Hearst and his newspapers for support of the movement for increased pay for police and firemen was sent to Mr. Hearst by Police Inspector August Mayer, retired.

Inspector Mayer's telegram read:

"Hon. W. R. Hearst,
"Ambassador Hotel,
"Los Angeles.

"As former commanding officer of the detective bureau, Police Department, New York City, please accept my hearty congratulations upon your successful campaign for increased salary for police and firemen of our greater city.

"You and your newspapers here have again registered wonderful support and have been successful in reaching the goal long sought by the uniformed forces.

"You were the successful leader in their fight for the three-platoon system, years ago, and again during the last administration, for higher pay. And now you have again come through with flying colors.

"I know the men of the uniformed ranks fully appreciate your wonderful support. Let me again thank you for all you have done. Although I have severed my connections with the Police Department, my heart is still with them. Thanks again and best wishes.

(Signed) "INSPECTOR
"AUGUST MAYER,
"Retired."

Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen also sent a telegram to Mr. Hearst, thanking him for his support and that of his newspapers in this city in making the pay increase for New York police and firemen possible.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Emily Frew Names Her Aids

THIS social world of ours is getting fuller and fuller of a number of things, chiefly debutante parties. There're so many things to talk over today—Mollie Cullum's pre-debut today, and Ruth Drake's yesterday, and plans for debuts to come.

And before I tell you about Mollie Cullum's debut today at a luncheon, I want to mention the girls who'll aid Emily Frew, daughter of the William Frews, at her debut tea on Tuesday in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

There'll be the two Rose girls, Anne and Margaret, Peggy Milligan, Mary Franklin Robinson, Helen Pendleton, Susan O'Neil, Rebecca Doyle, Nancy Allderdice, Lydia Irish, Marie Louise Bickford, Virginia Wright, Frances Forsyth, and Ruth Drake.

And now for the luncheon Mrs. J. Barlow Cullum is giving today in the Allegheny Club for her daughter, Mollie. One might almost call it a pre-debut party, for she'll really be presented formally at a ball her father and mother will give Christmas eve in the Pittsburgh Club.

Today the guests are debs, members of the younger set, and some of the friends of Mollie's mother. The buds are placed at a large table in the center of the ballroom with small tables for the remaining guests grouped around. Briarcliff roses are used at the smaller tables and valley orchids and tapers in rainbow shades decorate the buds' table.

Receiving with her mother in the drawing room of the clubhouse, decorated with urns of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums against a background of cibotium ferns and bamboo, is the debutante, looking regal in a gown of black velvet, cut severely with the princess lines and long skirt now in vogue and with the neckline and sleeves edged in pearls. Her small hat is of black velvet and her flowers are orchids.

There'll be no after-the-luncheon entertainments for Mollie because she and her family are leaving for New York. Mollie is going to attend the Princeton prom on Saturday, I happen to know.

NOW I want to talk over a pleasing event of late yesterday afternoon, the tea gracious Mrs. J. Frank Drake gave to present her daughter, Ruth Drake. And the tea was in the family home.

There's something pleasantly sculptured looking about this debutante with her slender, supple figure and blonde bobbed head. And she looked most attractive in a graceful gown of turquoise blue transparent velvet, with a high waistline, long clinging skirt and long tight-fitting sleeves, ending in a circular flare at the wrist. And her flowers were Talisman roses, and lilies of the valley, and orchids.

Her mother wore a gown of rich beige transparent velvet and had orchids for her flowers.

There was something appealingly youthful about the debutante of the day and her aids, sister buds. The Rose girls, Anne and Margaret, were there, wearing as usual similar gowns of Chanel red crepe featuring the natural waistline and with circular insets below the knees giving fullness. And their hats were smart red felt creations. Red crepe was worn by Helen Pendelton, too, and Mary Franklin Robinson was there in a smart frock of cherry crepe de chine with a hat of black felt. I saw Emily Frew talking with Frances Reed, who was gowned in a long green crepe dress, featuring the smart pique touch. And Martha Edmondson was in black velvet with a yellow blouse, and a black velvet hat. Lavender georgette, fashioned with a long, flowing skirt, and an orchid hat, were chosen by Anne Douglas Stewart.

Nancy Allderdice, Laura Evans and Peggy Milligan were asked to be aids, too, as well as Virginia Wright.

Mrs. Drake asked Mrs. William S. Moorhead, Mrs. George Greer Coolidge, Mrs. Howard Heinz, Mrs. George S. Oliver, Mrs. Samuel Alfred McClung, Mrs. John W. Lawrence, Mrs. F. I. Merric, Mrs. Walter C. Carroll, Mrs. Ralph S. Richards, Mrs. J. J. Brooks and Mrs. Mathew Taylor to be her aids.

SUCH a beginning for November with teas here and teas there, but this week there was a special tea which Mrs. Robert Munroe, Jr., of the Frontenac Apartments, South Highland avenue, gave yesterday afternoon in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club, for her daughter, Mrs. John Marion Baker, III, the former Marion Hartwell Munroe.

Mrs. Monroe wore a lovely informal black chiffon gown following the new, long slim silhouette with flares below the knees and her hat was of black chiffon velvet and lace. She wore a corsage of orchids and pernet roses. Her daughter, who received with her of course, wore a charming afternoon frock of dahlia chiffon with a hat in matching shade of velvet and maline. Her flowers were orchids.

There were several assisting the hostess during the afternoon and among them I noticed Mrs. Charles L. Munroe, Mrs. Charles Burleigh, Jr., Mrs. James D. Munroe, Mrs. J. Willis Dalzell, Mrs. J. Loughney Roberts, Mrs. Edward Thompson, Miss Frances Trimble, Miss Ida Jeanette Burleigh, Miss Marie Chelfant and Mrs. Robert C. Todd.

MISS DOROTHY BLANCHE LEES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lees, of Oakmont, was married last evening to Alfred Cuthbert Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Martin, also of Oakmont. The wedding took place at 6:30 o'clock in the Methodist Church, Oakmont, with the Rev. Richard Cuthbert, uncle of the bridegroom, officiating, and the Rev. B. W. Hutchinson, pastor of the church, assisting.

The bride wore a gown of eggshell taffeta fashioned with a basque waist and long, bouffant skirt, with a veil of tulle featuring a panel of old lace. She carried yellow roses, chrysanthemums and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Virginia Lees, was her maid of honor and wore a gown of peach moire trimmed with brown velvet and carried chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids, who were Miss Mildred Lawson, of Homestead; Miss Leah Eves, of Latrobe; Miss Sara Moot and Mrs. Walter Grey, wore gowns of orchid shading to purple, with velvet bows in three shades of the same colors, and carried roses.

Dr. Richard Cuthbert, Jr., of Brooklyn Hospital, was best man, and the ushers were Edward Reinhold, of Pittsburgh; Robert Ganger, of Dayton, O.; John Boyle, of Dubois, and Meryl McGuire, of Oakmont. Miss Virginia Frances Lees, small niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Many luncheons and teas were given in honor of the bride, and Tuesday evening Miss Leah Eves, of Oakmont, gave the rehearsal dinner in her home immediately following the rehearsal. Yellow and white was the color scheme, and chrysanthemums and dahlias in the fall shades were used as decorations. Miss Eves wore a gown of flame chiffon, and the bride wore a gown of green taffeta with gold lace. Her maid of honor wore blue velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin left for an eastern trip and will live in the Jefferson Apartments when they return.

FUR TRIMMED CLOTH COATS FEATURED FOR WINTER WEAR

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, No. 7.—The reign of the cloth coat is hailed with a storm of applause. The one strictly utilitarian cloth coat, that was our bad weather standby, is now sunning itself in the light of popular approval.

It has become a thing of beauty, thanks to the artistry and careful attention it has received from the couturiers here. There are many women with lovely fur coats, who are more often seen in lavishly trimmed cloth coats than in their more costly wraps. There is such delightful dash and swagger to the coats this season that many patrons of the leading designers find it hard to resist their appeal, and so find themselves with a small collection of coats each one of which is a gem. Dark woolens trimmed with krimmer and astrakan seems to be more in demand than any other style.

WE send you a sketch of what was conceded to be quite the smartest coat at luncheon at the Ritz this week, and it is an authentic example of the choice of a stylish Parisienne whose judgment invariably correctly interprets the mode. And so you see her wearing a coat of black leda cloth, its velvety surface showing off glowingly the trim of gray astrakan used irregularly on the deep shawl collar and puffed sleeves. The circular flounce which forms the lower half of the coat is somewhat longer in the back.

LUCIEN LELONG makes the afternoon or informal dinner dress of a navy blue lace of a small and delicate pattern. A capelike bolero in back is cut to form two rounding tails, while the bodice in front is plain and has a round decolletage. The upper half of the skirt is very closely fitted about the hips, and dips down in back to join the circular and long flounce which reaches to the heels behind.

Back Slap Clears Windpipe After Science Fails

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—Leonard Boyce Gilbert, 2, is on the road to recovery today because a simple slap on the back succeeded in dislodging a screw which was wedged in his windpipe for the past five months.

Two operations were resorted to in attempts to remove the obstruction. Both failed, and the second one nearly caused his death. Surgeons were baffled.

Succeeding where science failed, a nurse removed the screw by slapping him on the back yesterday.

New England Anniversary Monday

MRS. DAVID M. KIRK, of New York, founder and first president of the Pittsburgh Colony of New England, will return to Pittsburgh for the luncheon with which the colony will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary Monday in the University Club.

Members will come in costumes of the nineties and, as part of the program, songs of that period will be sung by a quintet composed of Mrs. Charles Trimble, Mrs. Irvin D. Metzger, Mrs. Edward B. Lee, Mrs. Henry E. Cole and Mrs. W. B. Spellmire, under the direction of Mrs. Richard C. Allen and accompanied by Mrs. Archer C. Young. Mrs. George Pearson, as chairman, has arranged the following program of toasts, with Mrs. David Wilson Kuhn as toastmistress: "The Charter Members," Mrs. E. G. Edmonds; "Our Children," Mrs. James M. Barrett; "Our Forbears," Mrs. W. B. Wood; "New England," Mrs. Marcellin Cote Adams; "Our New Home," Mrs. C. F. C. Arensberg; "New England Traits," Mrs. George E. Stebbins.

Burglars Attack Safe Labeled 'Empty'

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 7.—Although a sign reading "This Safe Is Not Locked and Contains No Money," hung on a strong box at the National Biscuit Company warehouse here, burglars attempted to rifle it, and a cash vault without success. The vault, containing the day's receipts, withstood the attempts to blast them.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Birth Control Protest Meet

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

MR. RIPLEY may be interested in this letter which comes from Jeannette, Pa., and is signed by Pittsburgh Jimmy. It reads: "The first of November a friend and Havey J. Boyle.

I hied away to the fields in search of the elusive cottontails. After walking the terra firma for several hours without a look at one we came to a pile of stones. We decided to rest. My friend uses snuff quite freely and having a box along he proceeded to sniff a little. He laid the box on the stone pile. We continued our hunt and after probably two hours had elapsed my friend discovered his snuff was missing. We decided to get it on our homeward journey. We did not fire a shot all day. When we reached the stone pile later what do you think we found? Nothing other than 18 dead rabbits. The rabbits found the snuff box, smelled around, began to sneeze, and knocked their brains out on the big stones."

If snuff manufacturers go in for testimonials this looks like a good opportunity to do a little business.

From Washington, Pa., comes the following from Joseph I. Freedman: "I wish to congratulate you for your success in obtaining the decidedly improved lighting system in the Liberty tunnels. As a traveler through the tubes I want to express my appreciation."

* * *

THAT the lighting is better is not to be doubted, but that credit does not belong elsewhere is a little difficult to believe. Just the other night, despite one editorial after another, a waitress brought us a chicken sandwich containing lettuce, mayonnaise, pickle and tomato.

We went to Jack Huston's dancing school in the Pentalpha Club the other night. Jack teaches the young idea how to kick. He works at a conventional job in the daytime and teaches dancing at night. He has an assistant, Bill Pillich, who is a clerk by day, and an acrobatic dance teacher by night. One night he takes off from dancing to act as usher in a downtown theater. Beyond these activities, Bill Pillick doesn't do a thing. He keeps fit by exercising every day from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

PENELOPE REDD, the art critic, took her 3-year-old daughter to the international exhibit in the Carnegie galleries. The little girl nudged her mother and pointed to a nude: "Don't be prudish, my child," said the art critic to her daughter. "I'll try not to be, mother," said the 3-year-old. "It wouldn't be so bad if so many people weren't looking."

* * *

The traffic jam last Saturday was so great that the traffic experts, beside themselves, tried both the lighting system and the man-controlled system of directing traffic. Both failed. They failed because there were too many automobiles on too many narrow and winding Pittsburgh streets. No traffic expert, and yet one who sympathizes with the men trying to get results here, we often have wondered why on a big football day, one-way traffic on some of the main arteries leading to the stadium is not tried. Would Burton Marsh have something to say about this?

Templar Ladies Hold Card Party

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Lincoln Commandery, Knights Templar, will hold its fall card party tonight at 8 o'clock. The hostesses will be Mrs. Park Lambert, Mrs. F. A. Meghan, Mrs. Guy Patterson, Mrs. Clarence Struble, and Mrs. V. Lee Van Newkirk.

Civic Club Holds Annual Card Party

The Civic Club, of Wilkinsburg, held its annual card party in the ballroom of the Penn-Lincoln Hotel yesterday afternoon. Bridge and "500" were played, and a prize given at each table. Mrs. J. M. Bostwick had charge of the arrangements.

Family Away, Home Looted by Thieves

EN ROUTE TO IRELAND FOR HIS MOTHER

Anaconda, Bought Years Ago, Establishes $100,000 Trust; Not Quitting Job

Johnny Atkinson, taxicab driver, 5920 Harvard street, has won a fortune in the stock market and is en route to Ireland to bring his mother to America to help enjoy it.

Before he sailed he showed President Walter Laird, of the Yellow Taxicab Company, the evidence of his good luck and told him he had put $100,000 in trust with the Fidelity Title and Trust Company to keep him the rest of his life.

TOO THRIFTY TO LOAF

Being thrifty, he does not intend to loaf, but plans to go back to his job when he returns to Pittsburgh. Laird told Johnny his job would be waiting for him.

Atkinson told Laird that years ago the late Capt. J. J. Vandergrift told him it was a good idea to invest in anything that came out of the ground—provided it was in the right hands.

He put his money in Anaconda Copper stock, bought it when it was cheap and sold it when he thought the selling was at its best.

52 AND BACHELOR

Johnny had heard about trust funds, so he turned his wealth over to be wisely and carefully invested.

Atkinson is 52 and a bachelor. He is well known among the members of the Duquesne Club, his station long having been in that vicinity. He has been employed by the Yellow Cab Company for nine years.

WILL TABULATE SCHOOL BIDS

West View school board will meet in special session Saturday night to complete tabulation of bids and probably to award a contract for a new building to relieve overcrowding at the Oakwood school. Bids, opened at a meeting Tuesday, were believed within the limit of funds available, approximately $90,000. A bond issue of $130,000 was authorized last spring for an addition to the Junior High School, already completed and the Oakwood building.

Church Organizes For Old Home Week

John Daugherty has been named general chairman of the Old Home Week celebration to be staged at St. James Catholic Church, West End, from November 21 to 27. He will be assisted by the leaders of the church societies. The celebration is the seventh event of a series which marks the diamond jubilee of the congregation.

Pupils Spend $20, Reap $575 Reward

From a $20 investment, $575!

This is the record of Perry High School students in the waste paper collection campaign just finished.

They spent the $20 for twine with which to wrap the 127,316 pounds of paper collected. A truck owned by the father of a girl pupil was used without expense to the students.

After small prizes to the rooms with the greatest quantity to their credit have been deducted the proceeds go to the Student Aid Fund and the Athletic Association.

CLASS TO PLAY 'PIRATES'

Students of the Carrick High School tomorrow will act the part of "Pirates" in entertaining their parents and friends at the annual "Family Night" celebration.

"Victims" will be made to "walk the plank" in the swimming pool and they will be held for ransom in the "Smuggler's Hut," but at the same time there will be dancing and a good time will be held on the "Deck of the Good Ship Captain Kidd."

Among the attractions, fortune telling will take part in the "Smuggler's Cave;" cards will be played in the "Gambler's Den," and "the Pirate Fair" will be held in the auditorium of the school. Refreshments will be served in the "Pirate Cavern;" checking of wearing apparel in the "Lookout" and "Treasure Island" will cost you 5 cents a dig.

She Failed to Give Back $50,000 Assigned to Her, Brewer's Testament Says

John P. Wurster, one-time brewmaster, of West View, whose will was filed for probate today, failed to make a bequest to his wife. To each of two children, Margaret and Herbert, he left $5 of his $50,000 estate—"and no more."

All the rest he gave to three children, Fritz, Barbara and Katherine Wurster.

Wurster explained that in 1921 he turned over to his wife, Louise, $50,000 in securities and west View real estate which she did not turn back. He was going abroad, and Mrs. Wurster suggested he assign certain properties to her; when he returned she failed to reassign them, the will points out.

RETURNING BODY TAKES UP TASK

Organizes to Canvass Ballots Cast Tuesday; Primary Quiz Rushed

The returning board, Judge Elder W. Marshall presiding, was to be organized today to begin the canvass of Tuesday's general election vote.

At the same time Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park was continuing an investigation of "repeating" at the September primaries.

REPEATERS ARRESTED

Two alleged repeaters were arrested yesterday at Park's request and lodged in county jail on district attorney's office detainers.

Four or five others were to be apprehended today. Until its investigation was completed the district attorney's office announced the names of those involved would not be divulged.

As the unofficial check of the result of Tuesday's election neared completion the 5-to-1 favorable majority voted for the vote machine proposal continued to grow.

ONE WARD VOTES "NO"

Only one of Pittsburgh's 31 wards voted against them, while most of the boroughs piled up heavy votes in favor of the adoption of the machines. With 123 of the 1,457 districts of the county missing, the vote was 181,931 for adoption, and 38,179 against.

In the mayoralty contest in Pittsburgh, Mayor Charles H. Kline led Thomas A. Dunn by a vote of 73,921 to 37,920, with only 19 of the 741 districts missing.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: What Is Your Opinion of Talking Motion Pictures?

R. R. MOFFETT, Union Trust Building, railroad agency executive: "The talkies will never take the place of stage dramas, although in their present state they are a great improvement over the silent form. In fact the change is revolutionary. The public demands nothing but them. Talkies will help the stage. Persons who have heard favorites on the screen will want to hear and see them in person."

R. R. Moffett

ANNA ENGBARTH, 1819 Marmaduke street, North Side, stenographer: "I like the talkies as they are, but they'll be much improved in the future. The fact that I can hear and see my favorite movie and stage stars from a seat in a movie theater makes me believe they are here to stay. Although still in an experimental stage, talkies will be permanent. The public would not stand for the old silent films again after hearing a first-class talking production."

Anna Engbarth

ROMEO FRANCHINI, Sixth avenue, doorman: "I like the talkies very much. They are sure a big improvement over the old silent films. They give you action coupled with good acting and talk. I like the talking newsreels especially. They have proved the 'outlouds' are a revolutionary form of entertainment. Hearing first-class actors talking will tend to improve the speech of thousands who would otherwise use slang almost exclusively."

Romeo Franchini

HOWARD E. CLARK, 332 Elizabeth street, Avalon, radio expert: "The talkies have come to stay, although they are not perfect. The future will prove more interesting than now. Difficulties have not been overcome entirely. Directors are still experimenting on the movie-going public. A bad feature about talkies is that action has been sacrificed for dialogue. The prime object of a movie is to provide action, fast and furious. Most talkies are mere photographic reproductions of stage dramas. In the future a technique exclusive of the stage will imparted."

Howard E. Clark

SERGT. G. G. GILBERT, U. S. Marine Corps, Postoffice, Smithfield street: "Yes, the talkies are here to stay and I think they are O. K., but please excuse the weak rhyme. If I went into a movie house and discovered a silent film was being run off, I'd go out to the box office and ask for the return of my money. I've traveled a lot with the Marines and sound films and newsreels bring to memory sights and sounds I've seen in all parts of the world."

Sergt. G.G Gilbert

RITA MAY HAAG, 2407 Penn avenue, sales clerk: "I like the talkies a lot. Romance and drama flit across the screen in panoramic review with talk and sound. That seems to be what the public wants nowadays. Once a person has heard a 'squawkie' he or she doesn't have much use for the 'silents.' The actors who can't talk properly to the microphone are just out of luck."

Rita May Haag

DUNN SAYS VOTE SHOWS FACTIONS OUT FOR PAYROLL

BRANDS MARTIN CAMPAIGN INSINCERE

Defeated Candidate Analyzes Result of Poll in Mayor Race; Blames Light Ballot

The record vote polled by Thomas A. Dunn as a candidate for mayor on the Democratic and Good Government tickets recalled to the elder generation of politicians the unusual vote, for the period, amassed nearly a quarter of a century ago by the late George W. Guthrie, also a Democrat, in winning a bitter mayoralty contest.

The Dunn aggregate is expected to establish the record by surpassing the Guthrie total by a few thousand votes.

DEMOCRAT IN COALITION

Present indications are that the Dunn total may approach or exceed 37,000 in the official figures. In 1906, 33,520 electors voted Guthrie into office, a plurality of nearly 8,000. While Guthrie was a candidate on the Citizen's ticket, a coalition with Republicans, he was a lifelong Democrat, serving as ambassador to Japan under President Woodrow Wilson. Dunn has been a lifelong Democrat, also, although his candidacy was fused with the Good Government ticket.

DUNN'S STATEMENT

Dunn yesterday issued this statement:

"In expressing my sincere appreciation of the efforts and interest of the thousands of Pittsburghers who supported my candidacy for mayor, I feel that my full civic duty is not performed until the result of the election has been briefly analyzed and the lessons to be drawn from it are called to public attention to the end that not only my friends and supporters, but the public generally, may profit from the experiences of the campaign.

"On the day preceding election, I publicly announced by way of prognostication, that the machine vote would be between 70,000 and 80,000, and that if more than 160,000 of the 180,000 registered voters went to the polls, I would be elected.

PREDICTION VINDICATED

"The result has entirely vindicated my prediction. Less than 120,000 voters voted. The machine vote was just what was expected. Sixty-eight thousand registered voters stayed at home and did not vote Tuesday, so deducting the 20,000 illegal registrations by reason of illegal tax receipts as condemned by the six Republican judges of Allegheny County, this gave my successful opponent about 60,000 legal votes or about one-third of the total vote cast at the Republican primaries.

"The result demonstrates that the good people of Pittsburgh have it within their power, whenever they are sufficiently interested to go to the polls, to take possession of their own city government.

"OUT FOR PAYROLL"

"The result of the election indicated that the contending factions in the primary were more interested in procuring possession of the payroll than they were in eliminating the dominant machine.

"Many of the leaders in the defeated factional groups showed the insincerity of their primary election professions by joining with the machine, which they denounced in the primary as having betrayed the people and by their action not only condoned, but became parties to that betrayal.

"Judge Martin and many of his campaign associates, for some unknown reason, lost all interest in their primary cry, 'Give the City Back to the People,' immediately after their defeat at the primaries, so it is self-evident to the voters now that the principal object of the three primary candidates was, if possible, to get control of the payroll and its organization and not to 'Give the City Back to the People.'

'RIDICULOUS DOCTRINE"

"Another element that contributed to the unusually large stay-at-home vote was the ridiculous doctrine promulgated by the machine that the voters who had registered and designated their party enrollment as Republican, had taken an oath to support the Republican ticket.

"The right to enroll in a party is based upon the vote of the elector in the preceding election and is not a pledge for the future.

"When a voter is challenged as to party affiliation, the test is as to whom he voted for in the preceding election, not the party for whose candidates he proposes to vote at a subsequent election.

"This misrepresentation kept thousands of voters away from the polls and I call it to public attention at this time in the hope that the machine may not again be able to discourage independent voting by propaganda of this sort.

"The history of our form of government has established that the two-party system of government is the best and surest guartee of good government in every political unit. Wherever the two-party system breaks down factionalism springs up and corruption creeps in.

"The issue in factional primary contests is the spoils of office and fixed responsibility for the administration of government is weakened or destroyed. The public exhaust themselves in these primary contests and have little or no interest in the election which should determine the policies of government.

"If this campaign will aid in convincing the public of the necessity of the restoration of the two-party system of government in the city, county and state, if we are to have good government in any one of them and that this system is the only thing that will eliminate factionalism, the campaign will not have been in vain, but will have served a useful purpose."

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

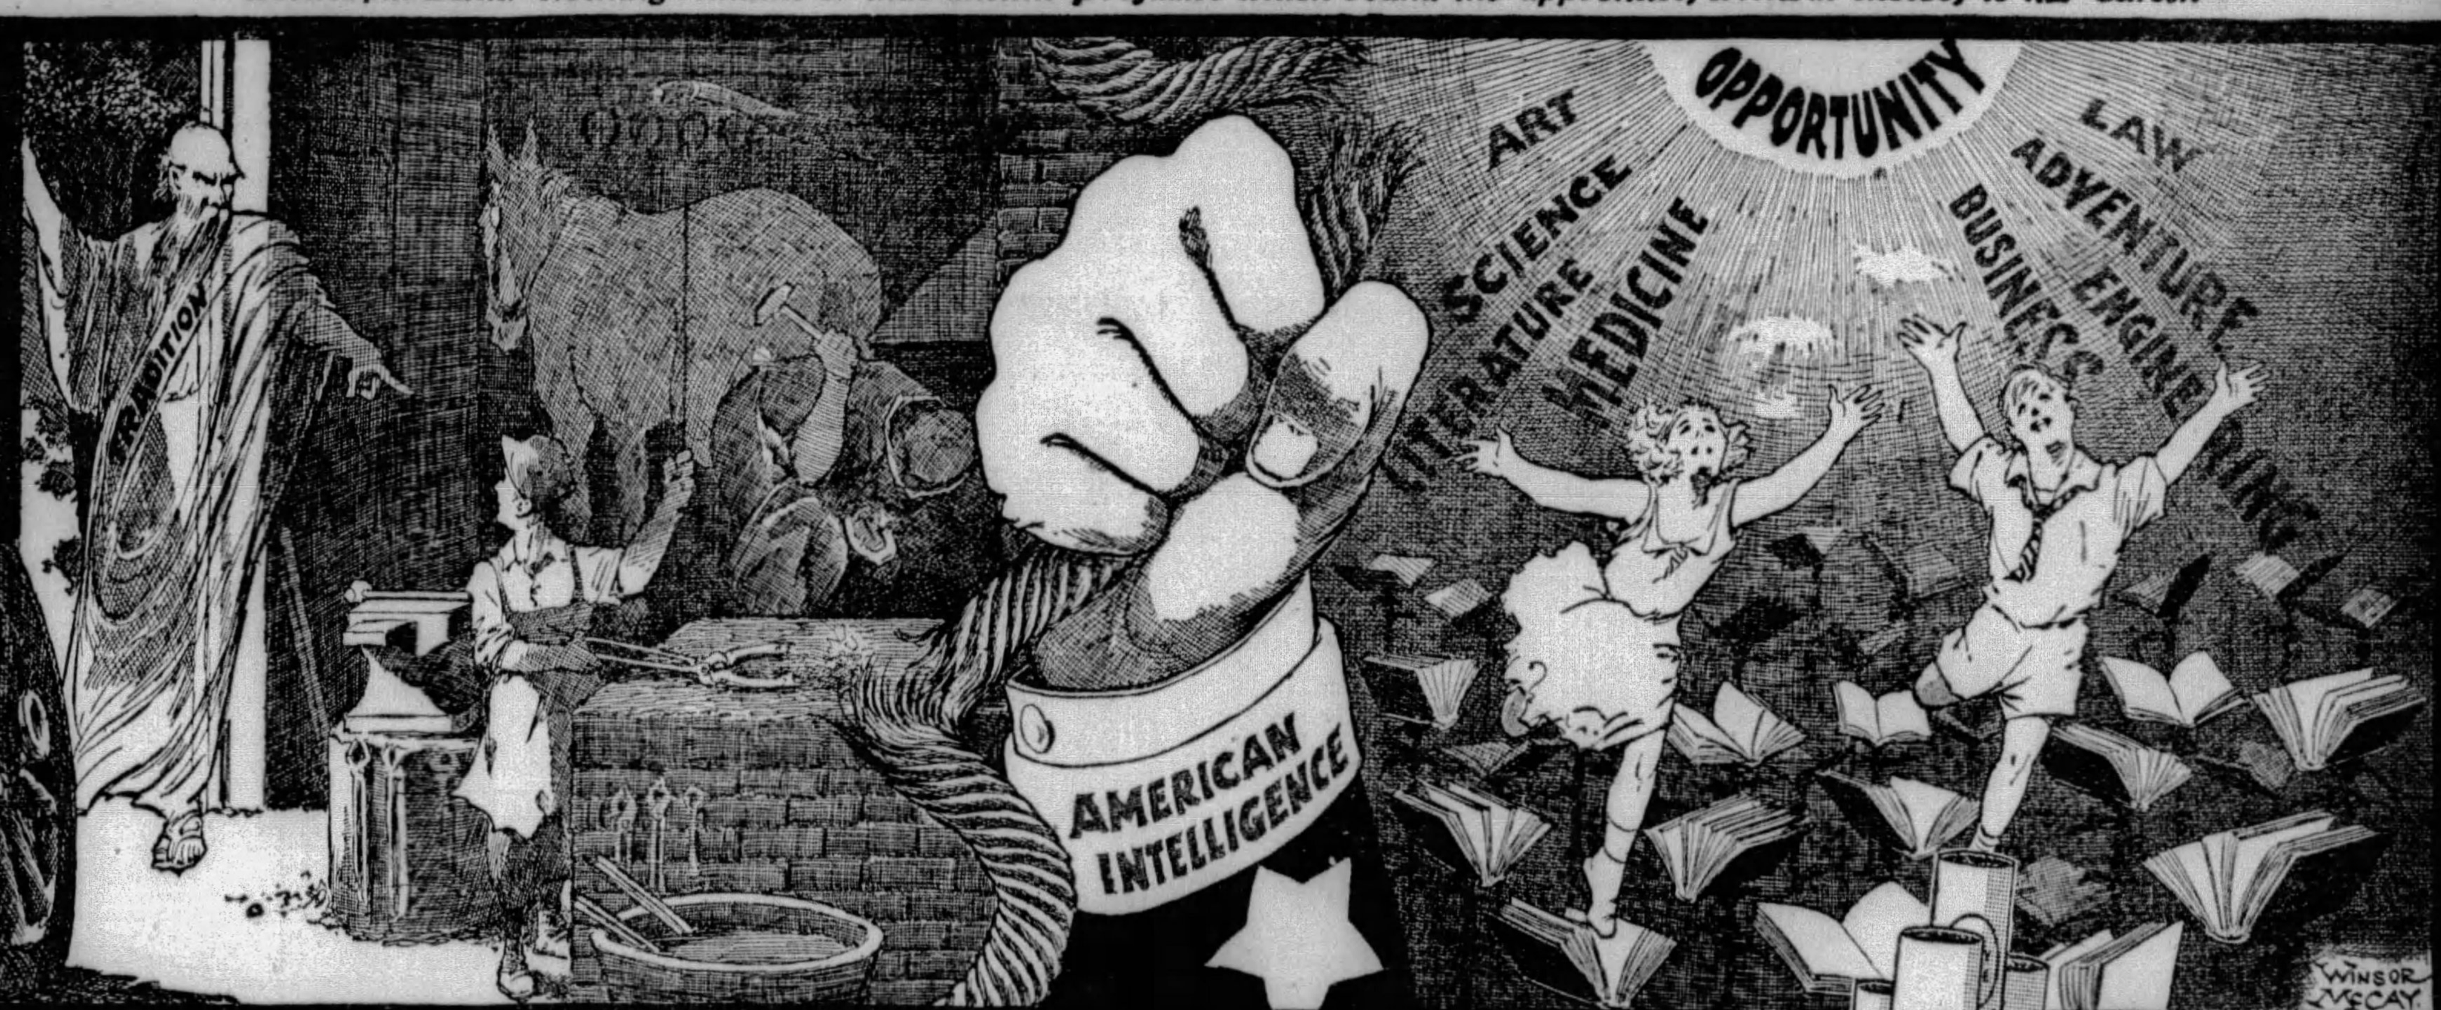
Youth Has Found The Way!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cultivated the fertile field of opportunity and invites everyone to roam in search of desired pursuits. Nothing remains of that ancient prejudice which bound the apprentice, without choice, to his career.



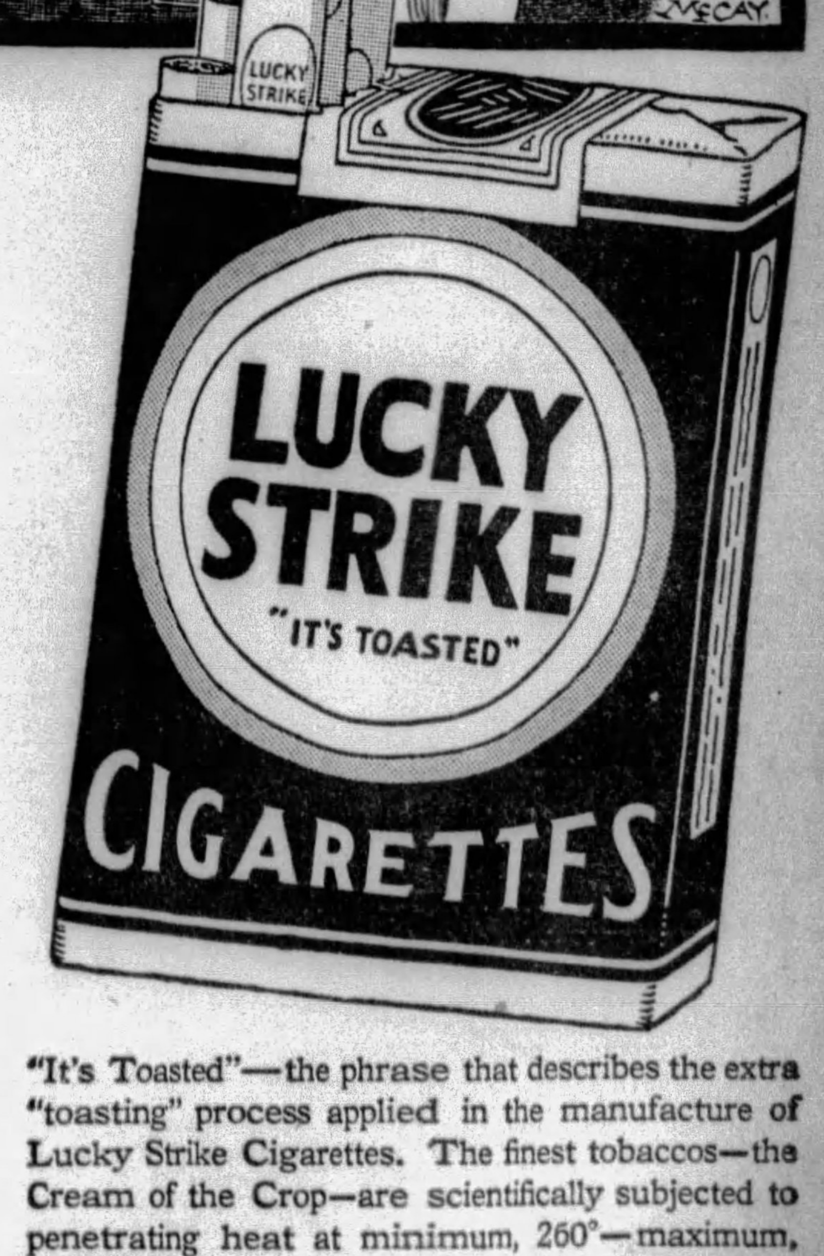
"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.



"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Water vs. Oil

WATER wells sometimes are as highly valued in dry western Texas as oil wells. One ranchman was so pleased when drillers struck water that he gave them a banquet.

Pat Falls in Love With Aviator After Little Brother Recovers

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Mary Patricia Dawn, pert, young, demi-brunette, sees her little brother, Dickie, fail to rise after a dive in the lake. Pat brings up the apparently lifeless body. All hope seems gone when suddenly an airplane sweeps down out of the sky.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER II.

IT CAUGHT the light of heaven on its golden wings. It shimmered and flashed. Then suddenly was still.

Out of the now tremulous hush, figures were running—her father and another hurrying along the sands.

The girl felt again that mighty exultation, that moment of inspired faith.

Without a word the father dropped beside his wife. His arm comforted her. He leaned down and scanned the small, livid face of his son.

He turned abruptly, pleading: "Pat—take mother away."

This frightened her. "No—we will not!" Because when everyone else gave up, she would still hope—still work. She had read of strange, incredible recoveries. The drowned brought back to life. She would make them true.

Everyone now became unreal. The air tingled. Her father and this tall visitor from the skies were god-like. They were setting magically to work. They would bring Dickie back.

The young pilot knelt beside her brother. He seemed to glow, to sparkle with beautiful, clean vitality. To be pouring his strength into the chilled veins of the child.

He glanced once into Pat's hungry eyes and smiled. He said softly: "The heart beats."

Did you hear this? Did she only hope it?

The next moment she, too, was on her knees. And again the pilot looked at her. And she cried out weeping: "Dickie."

Life flowed faintly into her brother's face; flowed from one to another in streams of beautiful joy. The little boy opened startled eyes. He lived.

In an amber twilight Pat walked through the redwood lane. The tall young pilot swung along at her side.

He looked down at her. His eyes were laughing. The whole world laughed and was gorgeously different and unreal.

She wouldn't speak lest the marvelous dream should vanish. Lest she find herself again just plain Pat, planning a week-end visit from gawky, reliable old Peter Thompson.

Now she walked on radiant mountain tops and the man beside her was a thousand times more wondrous than magazines had ever pictured.

It wouldn't last, of course. But it was an hour to remember. For always. When she was an old, old lady, she would tell of the day little Dickie went down in the water and for hours seemed dead. Then a man like a god came down from the skies. He brought life with him. He was beautiful.

"Of what are you thinking?" asked the shining youth.

"Oh," said Pat exaltedly, "I feel so raised up—so grateful, as though I can never be good enough from now on all the rest of my life."

"What an awful tragedy. But the visitation will probably pass."

Pat stole a look at his chuckling face and grinned. She said, a little wistfully: "Just the same I feel soppy with happiness. Airplanes are wonderful. When we heard your wings today it was beyond hearing—the suspense—the hope. They're adventure—they're beauty."

"And you've never ridden in one? Would you be afraid?"

"With you?" said Pat, naively, "How could I?"

"Of course you couldn't! You will come, then, some sweet, starry night?"

"Oh, yes!"

But a little shadow went then across her joy. They were at the end of the path. Down there was the beach and his small golden plane. He was going back—flying away in the twilight. She would not see him again—never, perhaps. And nothing so magnificent as this would happen again.

She ran her hand over the yellow wings. It was his plane. He had designed it all himself. He was very proud of it.

"Like it?" he now asked.

"Yes. I know now why Lindy felt that his plane was a person. It seems—a blessed person. Do you always ride in this?"

"Yes—and this is the one you'll ride in. I'll drop you a line."

She closed her eyes with frank, happy rapture and laughed.

He climbed into the fuselage. "Watch 'till I'm out of sight, will you? I'll wave from the clouds and you wave back."

The little plane flashed yellow against the fading sun; against the bright blue sky. Higher and higher—bird of romance, leading men to strange new quests; firing women with deep new adorations.

The girl on the beach waited. When it was but a speck, all but lost in the clouds, she was still waving.

All Friday Guy Elliott worked in a happy satisfaction. He stroked pridefully the wings of the model airplane he was perfecting. He said to it: "You darling!" and smiled.

Yesterday this plane on which he had worked two passionate years had enabled him to reach the treacherous, forest-hemmed lake, make that almost vertical landing, win that adoring look from the prettiest face he'd seen in months. Pat—cute name. And the sweet way she ran her hand over the wings.

What a kid!—and so frankly taken with him. She didn't seem to know she was a brave, beautiful thing. Thought nothing of the way she'd dived for that little brother—the way she'd worked over him. He recalled her longing for lifelong goodness, and burst into a happy laugh. Well, it would be fun seeing her again—

He picked up a sheet of paper. At the top he hastily sketched his plane and underneath drew a cartoon of himself. He wrote:

"Will you come for a ride in that with this?"

Pat went twice a day to the postoffice. Just to get that line he had promised. But when it arrived she was overcome.

She climbed out of the old machine and up the long steps of their cabin in such unconscious and radiant excitement her mother was alarmed.

"Why, what do you think, mother, he's an artist too? Isn't it perfectly wonderful? Look at that drawing. Isn't is marvelous? Did you ever know anyone like that?"

Laura Dawn surveyed the proud, beaming girl. Her own youth with its ardent expectance came back to her. An hour ago Laura herself was 19—joyous and wildly eager. Love had come. She wanted Pat to know it in this way—glorious and sweet. A thing that would last—would grow.

Not the madness of a moment. But each has his own life to live.

Pat's prompt, excited answer raised the young pilot's complacence to a sparkling and slightly dangerous level.

"Home Tuesday. Ready to fly immediately. At once. Or sooner if such could be arranged. Please have the stars out and the moon all lighted up."

He tucked the card in his pocket and whistled. Tonight! Late sunset and sweet, windless skies.

Pat, burning with adventure and snugly buttoned into her heaviest sweater, went to the hall door and listened intently. She would make a running sprint for it and be out of the house before anyone suspected the thrilling flight she was to take.

She had been exceedingly careful when he phoned this morning. She spoke in such nonsense-like tones, he could hardly hear her. But, then, Laura was in the living room. Laura might just put her foot down and refuse to let her go.

She tiptoed swiftly down the steps. She had reached the landing when her father, shrugging into his overcoat, came out from the hall.

"All set?"

She eyed him haughtily. "What for? Did I have a date with you?"

"No. I've one with you. I'll drive you down to the port."

"You're not invited! I should think you'd have more dignity."

"Than to play chauffeur to my daughter? Oh, I don't mind."

In a sudden blank fear: "He didn't ask you, too, did he? You're not going to prevent me from going?"

She had just recovered from this prospect and was stiffly accepting her father's escort when Dickie came running from the dining room. He had a big bulking coat buttoned up to his neck and a cap tied down over his ears. He stopped short, seeing his father. "Gee—didn't know you were going!"

"I suppose you were counting on it!" Pat demanded. "I can't stir out of the house without one of you before me and the other tagging behind."

She climbed into her father's car. "Well—come along," she said sharply to the crestfallen youngster. "You might as well be there to catch me, too!"

Ten minutes later her huff gave way to a rapt excitement. Guy Elliott stood beside his plane. He came forward and greeted her gaily. Just as tall—just as glorious as she had fancied him. She half expected to find him shrunken—find him ordinary.

She waved a trembling hand to her father—then ran back and kissed him.

Tremendous zoom and whirr. Lifting from the earth.

She sat upright—every nerve on fire. Oh! the sense of rising—of wings to spread out.

They began to climb. They were going into the clouds.

"Look down. Sunset on the ocean. Pools of fire over there. Lovely mountains. Like it?"

His face framed in the sunset seemed more than ever glowing.

"I don't want to go down again—ever."

"We don't have to," he shouted back.

They both laughed. Their joy had a crystalline sweetness.

Now she felt free—utterly unafraid. Once the plane banked sharply. The young man laid his hand a moment on hers, pressed it reassuringly.

"Can't keep you too long? Papa get mad?"

"Tomorrow—"

But he sailed higher. He tossed his head and laughed. She wished to fly and fly—over mountains. Over many seas. On and on.

"Now what—was it as big a thrill as you expected?" he asked as they finally landed and he kept her a moment sitting beside him in the evening dark.

She raised starry eyes and murmured: "A thousand times more. . . . The most beautiful time I ever had.'

"Glad I gave it to you." And as Pat continued gazing joyously into his eyes, he stooped, let his lips brush lightly on hers. So a man claims the girl who has not loved before.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

Madge Wonders What May Be Back of Phil's Offer

DICKY'S protesting, annoyed voice came clearly up to me as he hurried into the lower hall in Katie's wake.

"Are you sure he asked for me, Katie?" he queried impatiently.

"Yah! Yah, I tell you dot before," Katie retorted, adding with an impudence which I hoped was unconscious, "I tink dot vay, too, first ting. I tell heem I call Meesis Graham, und he say, 'No, Meester,' so I coom get you."

Dicky muttered something under his breath which I guessed consigned both Katie and Mr. Veritzen to far distant and undesirable regions, but aloud he spoke in the formal manner which usually reduces our little maid to pulp.

"Very well, Katie," he said, "you may go," and in another second I heard his voice, suave, even cordial, at the telephone.

"Veritzen? This is Graham. The maid said you wished to speak to me."

There was a long pause—my employer was long-winded—and then Dicky's voice again, this time with an elaborate cordiality which almost amounted to effusion.

"But, my dear fellow, I have nothing whatever to do with the arrangements. I just got in last night myself and know nothing about them. Underwood is busy just now or I'd call him. But Mrs. Graham, I am sure, can answer your questions satisfactorily. I'll have her come to the telephone right away."

I dodged back into my room and closed the door noiselessly after me. An age-old feminine instinct told me that Dicky was calling me to the telephone instead of Lillian because he wished to show me his indifference toward Philip Veritzen's association with me. The same instinct warned me to pretend ignorance of his errand until he should broach it to me.

So it was with what Harry Underwood would term my "startled fawn" expression that I opened my door to his knock and hastily uttered explanation. "Veritzen is on the telephone wanting something that I can't make anything of," he said with a casualness that cleverly ignored the scene of a few minutes before when Lillian had given him what she called a "good dressing down" for his jealousy of the great theatrical producer. "Better go and find out what he wants. Harry is busy or I wouldn't bother you, and I haven't seen Lil—guess she's exhausted by her oral efforts."

I mentally bowed to his histrionism, for he even managed a smile when he referred to Lillian. It was balm to my spirit that I was able to achieve an answering grin as I passed him.

"I suppose Mr. Veritzen wants to be sure that the royal crowns have been properly packed," I said in a low tone, and without waiting for his reply, I went to the telephone. I wished to give Dicky the impression that there was to be nothing in the coming colloquy which he was not welcome to hear.

My employer gave me little time to talk, however.

"Mrs. Graham?" he began, hardly waiting for my affirmative before rushing on. "I have thought of a way in which I can be of distinct assistance to you. How are you going up to the city, by rail or motor car?"

"By car," I said, "but I cannot tell you the time of our going over the telephone. You must realize that.

"Of course not," he said impatiently. "I am not asking that. I am only requesting that I be permitted to put my car and chauffeur at your disposal upon the day when you need them. I will hold them in readiness—you have already told me which day—and a note from you will bring them to you in ten minutes' time. Otto is thoroughly reliable, you know that, and a valuable man in an emergency. It seems to me that you might be able to use so large a car very conveniently. I shall see that the trunk is empty and an extra luggage carrier put on."

"But how will you get to the city?" I asked banally. "Do you wish——"

"That," he said laconically, "is for you to decide."

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Bachelor—Poor Butterfly!

A BACHELOR is a man who insists on playing hookey from the School of Experience, as long as he can dodge the old Schoolmaster — Destiny.

HELEN ROWLAND

To a normal woman, there is nothing final about a man's state of bachelorhood, until she sees it announced in his obituary, and is convinced that he is beyond all persuasion.

A modern bachelor seldom takes a woman seriously—unless he finds that she cannot be taken casually, intermittently, lightly or concurrently. Then somehow, his fighting spirit is aroused, and she is transformed from an object of amusement into an object of conquest.

A lot of "old women" wear trousers, putter around the house and fuss about draughts—but they call themselves "bachelors."

Only married men are safe and sane. A bachelor, like an empty taxicab, has no definite destination, no particular objective, and is likely to skid into almost anything, from a foolish entanglement to an accidental marriage.

No matter how often or how insistently a man may have asked a girl to marry him, nothing will convince him, after marriage, that she did not use a lot of sleight-of-hand work to make him do it.

Somehow, nothing arouses all a woman's maternal tenderness, like watching a man feebly trying to make a bachelor flat look home like and cozy, by putting all the chairs in the wrong places and emptying the ash-trays behind the radiator.

A bachelor never understands why a woman just smiles and smiles and smiles, when he tells her that he is "not a marrying man"—and goes right on filling her hope-chest and picking out the wedding decorations.

No use trying to tame a wild animal after it has gotten its second teeth—nor a wild bachelor after he has gotten his second wind.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, November 8

CONFLICTING planetary influences obtain on this day. There may be restless and unsettled conditions, with an element of the curious or subtle, though not actually sinister. With precaution, especially as to fraud in writings of arguments, and with firm check on words lest the law be invoked, adverse situations may vanish.

Those whose birthday it is may have an unsettled year, with curious or intriguing developments, but they may circumvent loss and danger by precaution as to all writings, controlling the speech and shunning accident and litigation. With these, a sudden change may bring benefits.

A child born on this day may be restless and unsettled, with a leaning toward the subtle and crafty. It should have high principles of truth and probity instilled in early youth.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Importance of Signatures.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Probably you are weary of telling people how their names should be signed, but I would like to be set right on one or two points. Which form is preferable for a married woman to use on visiting or engraved Christmas cards?

Mrs. Walter Roy Graham.
Mrs. W. R. Graham.
Mrs. Walter R. Graham.

2. For an unmarried woman which is best?

Mary Ellen Millerton.
Mary E. Millerton.
Miss Mary E. Millerton.

3. In business, such as banking, signing checks, and so forth, where I am required to use my given name, which is correct?

Mrs. Mary M. Graham.
Mary Millerton Graham.
Mrs. Mary Millerton Graham.

MRS. G.

INDEED I'm not weary of this, dear friend, for to me it is one of the most important things that we should know, if we wish to be regarded as socially correct. Nothing so quickly tags a woman as not belonging, as the incorrect signature to a letter. If, for instance, she signs a business letter or a semi-social letter, or indeed any letter, Yours very truly, Mrs. Walter Smith, she shows that she does not know one of the most important details of social life.

On our visiting cards we should have as few abbreviations as possible—only the necessarily abbreviated Mrs. and any other detail that must be abbreviated. So, Mrs. Walter Roy Graham is correct. Rather than abbreviate the middle name, the initial should be omitted.

If the Christmas card is a formal one, you use the same form for your name as you use on your visiting card: Mrs. Walter Roy Graham sends you hearty greetings for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

2—If the Christmas card is a formal one—that is, worded in the third person, as I have indicated above, the unmarried woman uses her title, as she does on her visiting card:

Miss Mary Ellen Millerton sends you hearty greetings, etc.

3—Mary Millerton Graham is correct as the signature of your checks, or Mary Graham, if you wish to omit the surname of your maiden name. This is also the correct signature for other business papers, unless the formal name is desired, and then, as in a formal letter, you add your formal name, in parentheses, under this signature. Like this:

Mary Millerton Graham
(Mrs. Walter Graham.)

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Impetigo—A Skin Eruption

IT is to be expected that the delicate and extensive covering of the body must suffer injury and disease. The skin is so exposed to dust and dirt, the collection of germs, and to accident, that the wonder is it is not out of order most of the time. Yet it is remarkable how infrequently it becomes affected enough to attract attention.

DR COPELAND

There are various forms of inflammation which attack the skin. It is subject to many diseases, one of them is called "impetigo."

There are several types of impetigo. Children are more commonly affected than are adults. Among school children it may spread from one to another. The barber shop may transmit it among men. Sometimes impetigo is grafted on to some other skin disease by scratching, irritating and infecting the already inflamed skin.

Fortunately, this all too common skin disease is a very superficial thing and does not find its way deeply into the tissues. At first there are flat blisters filled with clear, watery fluid. Later the contents of the blisters becomes pus-like and yellow in color. Then the secretion dries up, forming a yellowish, brown or green crust. This crust may be the size of a dime and sometimes much larger than this.

The crusts in impetigo have a peculiar appearance. As someone has said, the crusts look as if they had been "stuck" on the healthy skin. But when the crust is removed there is found a red and angry surface.

The disease may attack any part of the body. The parts of the face around the nose and mouth, the hairy scalp and the back of the neck are the favorite places of attack.

Impetigo lasts from one to three weeks. Sometimes there may be deeper abscesses and delay in healing. The infantile form is more serious.

Any skin disease in young children is difficult to heal, because the itching is great and the temptation to scratch and dig the affected parts is irresistible. Indeed, the chief treatment of impetigo in children is to confine the arms and hands. This may be done by wrapping the arms in cardboard splints, making it impossible to bend the elbows. In this way, scratching is prevented.

The crusts must be removed and a mild ointment applied. A weak ointment of ammoniated mercury is useful. This is made of a strength of 5 to 10 grains to the ounce. Your doctor will advise you about the remedies.

To get rid of the crusts, gauze, dipped in water hot as can be borne, is applied and then covered with a dry towel. In this way they are softened and readily taken off.

It is necessary to build up the general health. Diet and hygiene are of the greatest importance. Cleanliness and care must be practiced by everybody if the skin is to be kept perfect.

BUCS INTEND TO KEEP SPITBALLER

REPORTS from Chicago that a baseball trade may be made during the winter whereby the Cubs will acquire Pitcher Burleigh Grimes from the Pirates, are without the slightest foundation in fact, acocrding to Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh club, who declares that the Bruins have made no overtures of that nature, and adds that they would have no chance of getting Burleigh anyhow. He goes further and says that the same applies to other clubs, and that the present intention of the Buccaneer management is to keep the spitball star, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding.

Burleigh Grimes

"The Chicago club never has suggested a trade for Grimes," said the Pirate treasurer. "Furthermore, I do not believe it has any intention of doing so later, for as far as I can see it has nothing that it could afford to offer in exchange for him that would interest the Pittsburgh club. On the face of things, the Cubs haven't a chance of getting him."

ASKED if the Pittsburgh club would keep Grimes for 1930, Treasurer Dreyfuss replied: "Certainly, that is our present intention. Of course, the situation with regard to Grimes is the same as would apply to any other player. That is, no club would refuse to trade any player if it could get better or more valuable material in exchange for him. But at present we are not considering trading Grimes."

It will not be surprising if the National League takes some of the Chicago officials to task this winter should it be found that they are responsible for rumors that have been circulated about intended efforts to get certain players from other teams in the circuit. A couple of months ago it was rumored that the Bruin bosses would try to get Frank Frisch or Fred Lindstrom, and the fact that Lester Bell was desired was published long before the deal was consummated. Now Grimes is added to the list. Such reports sometimes tend to make a player dissatisfied with his old surroundings and lessens his value to his employers. The practice amounts, in a sense, to tampering.

IT IS NOT only in its own sector or by its own followers that the University of Pittsburgh football team is rated the greatest in the East, if not in the whole country, and the eleven having the best chance to win the Eastern and possibly the national championship.

Ed Sullivan, sports critic of the New York Graphic, says there is hardly any doubt that, on its best day, Pitt is greater than any other team in the country, adding that this is not only his opinion but the opinion of five ranking football officials.

Dr. J. B. Sutherland

THESE officials, Sullivan says, have seen Notre Dame, Yale, Dartmouth, Cornell, Fordham, Nebraska, Penn, California, Ohio State and others in action, in addition to the Panthers. "Pitt is 20 points better than the Yale team that beat Dartmouth last Saturday," said one of the veteran arbiters attending the meeting of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football Officials in New York last Monday night.

"TWENTY points better than Yale?" echoed another official. "Say, if Pitt leveled the full route against Yale the fans would get up and leave the bowl; it wouldn't be a contest. And Pitt would wallop the University of California team that played Penn by 50 points. It is the greatest team in the country."

Still another official chimed in: "I saw Notre Dame play. Pitt would outscore Rockne's team 3 to 1." The officials were nonplussed when Sullivan asked them to single out the individual stars among the Panthers. "Hell, they haven't any STAR,' said one. "They're just 11 fine football players, and the subs are so close to the regulars in ability that the attack is never choked off."

SAM WILLAMAN, football coach at Ohio State, who suspended Halfback Charley Coffee for an alleged infraction of the training rules following the game with Pitt here last Saturday, is being urged to reinstate the player.

Coffee himself, when asked if he believed his offense justified suspension from the squad, said he did not think so, but beyond that would make no statement except that he might have something additional to say later in the week. It is said he hopes for a conference with Willaman and at that time will ask for a lifting of the ban.

Frank Cavanaugh

FORDHAM'S strong football team, which had an unbroken string of victories to its credit for the present season until West Virginia held it to a scoreless tie on Tuesday, launches a majority of its plays from a novel rapid pass formation devised by Coach Frank Cavanaugh for the purpose of speeding up the action. Capt. Tony Siano, center, and Johnny Fisher, quarterback, stand back to back in this formation, Fisher facing his backfield as the team lines up. The quarterback crouches to receive the ball from the center, the leather thus remaining in Siano's control until Fisher actually has his hands on it.

THE quarterback, upon receiving the ball, can do any number of things with it, his body serving to conceal the pigskin so that there is an element of deception that makes it difficult to follow. Sometimes he flips the sphereoid to one of his backs, and, because he is facing his men, the danger of fumbling is lessened.

At other times Fisher straightens up and runs back to throw a forward pass. The conditions enable him to reach a spot behind the line much more quickly than he could be backing up, and so toss a short, low pass before the defense is even aware of the play.

ON OTHER occasions, the quarterback can whip around and slip through guard or tackle while some other member of his team pretends to be carrying the ball. The success of the formation depends largely upon a strong line and particularly upon a strong center.

Cavanaugh has been able to get away with it because of the ability of Siano at center. Fisher and Siano, incidentally, are the smallest men on the Fordham squad, the former weighing 155 pounds and the latter 165, an unusually light weight for a center.

Bill Hinchman, Jr.

THE family of Bill Hinchman, Pirate baseball scout, is well represented in athletics at Ohio State. Bill, Jr., who was here with the Buckeye squad for the game with the Panthers last Saturday, and who is now in his senior year at the university, has been a prominent figure in baseball and basketball at the Columbus school, as well as being a member of the gridiron squad. Louis, the scout's second son, is already starring as a freshman at Ohio State and is expected to outdo his older brother as an all-around varsity performer later. The third son, Bobby, is a student in jnnior high school in Columbus, and also shows unusual athletic promise. Bobby, however, will not enter Ohio State, like his brothers, but will take up a course at Pitt.

CITY SCHOOLS SET FOR BIG BATTLE

The week-end scholastic program will get started a day early this week, South Hills and Carrick battling in an important Section II, City League contest, on the Oliver High gridiiron this afternoon. The Section II leadership hinges on the outcome of today's fracas.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to look on as the two crack South Hills district elevens clash. Both have fine records, South Hills claiming a bit of an edge in view of the fact that the Jones-led aggregation crushed Oliver, while the best Carrick could do was to tie the North Siders.

Carrick must figure to stop Jones, the hard-hitting fullback star of the Hillsmen, if it hopes to win today. Coach Lyons, however, thinks he has a defense perfested for Jones and the rest of the South Hills attack.

Tomorrow another important City League battle is listed, this time in Section I. Westinghouse, defending champions, meets the strong Peabody team, which tied Schenley two weeks ago, hopes to stop the Silver Lakers.

Two Section II games will be played, Allegheny meeting Langley and Perry clashing with Oliver. On Saturday, Schenley will invade Steubenville for a game with the Big Red machine of that city.

BUSH PICKS UP CHISOX REINS

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Donie Bush, a little man with a big job ahead of him, officially picked up the managerial reins of the downtrodden White Sox yesterday.

The former pilot of the Pittsburgh Pirates conferred with White Sox officials and began mapping out a winter buying and trading campaign which he figures should strengthen and lift the once powerful baseball club to a first division berth in 1930.

"We are wide awake and hustling for all the promising talent we can obtain and I think we are going to have a vastly improved club," the little Irishman said. "I have the solid backing of the White Sox officials and while good baseball players are scarce we have lines out for several of them."

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the club which was toppled from its pinnacle by the 1919 "Black Sox Scandal," was unable to attend a reception given to his new manager at the club offices because of a bad cold, but Bush conferred with him privately.

Bush's arrival gave rebirth to many rumors of trades and sales in the White Sox ranks, one of them that an effort was being made to obtain Bubbles Hargrave, catcher-manager of the St. Paul American Association Club and former backstop for the Cincinnati Reds Bob Fothergill, heavy-hitting Detroit outfielder, and Mark Koenig, Yankee shortstop, also were mentioned as White Sox possibilities. Manager Bush however, refused to discuss the rumors beyond a promise that the White Sox were out for two or three experienced hitters.

Ten minor league stars have been purchased since Bush was signed as manager of the Pale Hose.

DOCTORS RULE ON MYERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—Whether or not Dave Myers, Negro football star of the New York University eleven, will play against the University of Georgia here on Saturday, today rested with a committee of 12 physicians.

This was made clear in an open letter written by William H. Nicholls, acting chancellor of New York University, to Rep. Emanuel Celler who, in a previous letter, protested the announcement of Coach Meehan Myers would not engage in the intersectional game.

Nicholls declared Myers was suffering from an injury received in the Penn State game and aggravated in the Georgetown contest and was under the care of competent physicians. If these physicians agree Myers was in shape, Nicholls said, the backfield star would perform against the Southerners.

"We earnestly hope he is able to play, for he desires this chance to have a part personally in setting at rest this injurious rumor, to which you and others have mistakenly lent credence, a rumor which is as distasteful and distressing to him as it is to all friends and members of the University."

The university also quoted a letter from Dean S. V. Sanford, faculty chairman of athletics at the University of Georgia, which said:

"There is no justification for the agitation in the northern press concerning the game. The University of Georgia never made any demands whatever on New York University. We are looking forward with pleasure to our first game with New York University and confidently believe that the game will be a happy occasion."

TOMORROW—THE TREE THAT GREW OUT OF A CHIMNEY

FARMER COOPER BALKS ON PLANS

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Farmer Joe Cooper, the Terre Haute hayseed, who fights Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, has developed temperament since the match was signed. In a message from his manager, Broadway Johnny Cox, of Cleveland, the Motor Square Club has been informed that the Farmer refuses to come here several days in advance of the show, as promised, and will not arrive on the scene until Sunday morning.

Joe Cooper

It was the club's plan to have Cooper come on ahead and show himself in his element, driving about the streets in his old flivver for advertising purposes, but Joe likes to cling closely to his farm outside Terre Haute and doesn't want to leave there until he has to. In fact, he has advised his manager that pre-fight appearances anywhere are out with him from now on.

PANKA MEETS O'NEILL

The rugged mixer, who has beaten Georgie Levine, Billy Alger, Clyde Hull, Alf Mancini, Bobby La Salle, Jack Britton, Alex Hart, Al Van Ryan, Joe Schlocker and others of note and has been stopped only once, and then by Jackie Fields, the present welterweight champion, doesn't mind being a rube in and out of the ring because the role has paid him big dividends, but he draws the line somewhere, in this case balking at making personal appearance without a box office attached on the spot.

Cooper's record shows that he has scored 44 knockouts, fought 64 no-decision and many decision bouts

Walker Is Freed Of Liquor Charge

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Mickey Walker, world middleweight boxing champion, was freed of charges of owning a bottle of liquor, in Municipal Court yesterday. Prosecuting attorneys were unable to prove that the bottle belonged to Walker.

A companion, Arthur Houseman, actor, also was freed, but a second friend, Ray Hallor, was fined $50. The men were arrested October 9 following an alleged wild party in the apartment of Dorothy Davis, film actress.

STRIB BEATS GRISELLE

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—William L. (Young) Stribling, of Macon, Ga., defeated Maurice Griselle, French heavyweight, on points in their 10 round bout at the Cirque Paris Arena before 6,000 enthusiastic fans last night.

Griselle, one of the stable of Francois Descamps, who managed the great Georges Carpentier, took an unmerciful beating through every one of the 10 rounds. Stribling won every frame, and knocked his opponent down three times in the first round, but was unable to finish him. Griselle took two counts of seven and one of nine. At the finish of the battle, he was tottering around the ring with both eyes closed, but still was on his feet.

After the flashy first-round showing, the Macon, Ga., fighter slowed up, apparently short on condition, and was unable again to knock the Frenchman off his feet. The fans who jammed the arena to its fullest capacity, with 3,000 more unable to gain admittance, were disappointed in Stribling's showing.

This display, after the ballyhoo Stribling had received here on the strength of his showing against Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach last winter, made them believe that he must put up a much better battle to defeat the Italian giant, Primo Carnera, in London.

Griselle's reputation was based principally on his stopping Knute Hansen in six rounds a few months ago.

SHIKAT WINS AGAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Joseph Shikat, German wrestler, who has been recognized by the New York and Pennsylvania Athletic Commissions, won his second match within a week last night in short order. He required only one minute 16 seconds to throw George Hagen, of Brooklyn, in their match at Ridgewood Grove.

EIGHT KAYOS IN WEST PENN MITT TOURNEY

Eight knockouts featured the opening of the two-day Western Pennsylvania amateur boxing championship tournament at the Palissades, McKeesport, last night. Eighteen bouts in six classes were staged with practically every one of them resulting in genuine action-producers.

The final bout on the card, bringing together Sharkey Lesko, of the Duke O'Hara club, of McKeesport, and Richard Green, Negro entry of the Thornton A. C., was probably the outstanding number. Green was awarded the bout via the technical knockout route after one minute and 30 seconds of fighting in the second round, but only after he was extended to the limit.

TAKES COUNT OF FOUR

Green went down for a count of four in the first round, but got up and floored Lesko and had the latter groggy for the remainder of the session. Coming out for the second, Lesko staggered Green with several hard rights to the head, but ran into a stiff right, which sent him reeling against the ropes. He was staggering around the ring, when the deputy commissioner ordered a cessation of hostilities. Preliminaries in the light heavyweight and heavyweight classes and the semi-finals and finals in all divisions will be staged tonight. The summary:

118 pound class—Mushy Callahan, Peck Friedman club knocked out H. Stabler, Duke O'Hara club, two rounds; Frank Rosano, Al Sands A. C., knocked out Miles Janic, Duke O'Hara club, one round; Tony Marino, Duke O'Hara club defeated Eddie Robinson, Meadville; Jimmy Blake, Sotke Hobbs club, knocked out Jimmy Welsh, Duke O'Hara club, one round; Joe Hallas, Duke O'Hara club defeated George Saitis, McKeesport A. C.

126 pound class—Jimmy Loizes, Duke O'Hara club, defeated Steve Senich, Homestead Library; George Flaherty, Duke O'Hara club, defeated Patsy Savaro, Meadville.

Yale Game Proves Real Jinx to Dartmouth

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The dread football spectre of injury has risen against courageous Al Marsters, this time to blight the career of the great Dartmouth back. The jinx has been persistent in its pursuit of the Green star.

Last year he was incapacitated for most of the season, returning to the battle field just in time to wage a disappointing fight against Northwestern and Walt Holmer in another star against star duel of the 1928 campaign.

This year fate seemed to have relented by showing a disposition to smile on the big boy, who did everything with a football. He ran, kicked and passed with almost reckless abandon against Columbia and Harvard to lead his mates to impressive victories. Showing the country the way in scoring and apparently headed for certain all-America honors, Marsters invaded the Yale bowl, always an acid test for Dartmouth football teams, bearing not only the challenge of the Green against the Blue, but an individual side match with Albie Booth.

Dartmouth lost the game, Marsters lost the side match and Dartmouth lost Marsters.

PARKINSON MAY SHINE FOR PITT

By JESS CARVER

Thrown out of gear by the slithery turf over which he campaigned last week against Ohio State, Tom Parkinson, Pitt's battering fullback, will make his second attempt to make an all-America name for himself against Wash-Jeff next Saturday. Tom didn't get to first base last week, not only because he could not get started in the mud but because Quarterback Eddie Baker didn't call on him for the usual amount of work.

Deb Secrist

Despite his rather tepid day against the Buckeyes, Parkinson has hammered himself right to the fore among the all-America fullback ratings, and if he can ring the bell against Wash-Jeff and Carnegie, and finish up with a gala performance against Penn State, he will be sittin' pretty when the time comes to pick the all-star fullback.

Parkinson is the first versatile fullback that Pitt has had for some time. He is a fair kicker (a wow at Nebraska) and is a good passer. His line bucking ability is generally respected hereabouts. His defensive play leaves little, if anything, to be desired.

GETS FIRST TEST

Against the Presidents, Parkinson will be hitting the toughest competition he has faced this year. The Prexy line will be tickled to death to take a few socks at the Pitt star. If he can tear these babies apart, he's good.

To make matters more interesting, Wash-Jeff has a fullback it would like to boost into the spotlight — Stewie Wilson. If Parkinson is checked and Stewie "goes to town". . . . so much the better for Stewie.

For the first time this season, a lineman will call signals and run the team in a game here. Deb Secrist, the Prexys' smooth working end, has been running the eleven in the games to date, and according to his coaches, Ray Ride and Bill Amos, runnin' it well.

Deb, handicapped by injuries last year, has been playing a splendid game at his wing position this year.

Son of Grant (Kid) Clark, former middleweight boxer, of Columbus, O., now a resident of Corliss Station. Clark, Sr., boxed Harry Greb, Gus Christie, George Chip, Jack Dillon, Al Rodgers and other stars. Terry, a junior lightweight, fighting out of Columbus, has knocked out Phil O'Dowd and beaten Homer Ronan, among others. Tommy Grant, of Rankin, who managed the youngster's father, is arranging bouts for Terry hereabouts.

BRIDEN, JARVIS PIRATE HOCKEY 'FINDS'

ICE 'ROOKIES' MAY OUST VETS

FORT ERIE, Nov. 7.—Indications are that Archie Briden, former captain of the Philadelphia Arrows, recently obtained by the Pittsburgh Hockey Club, will be paired with Bert McCaffrey at defense when the Pirate skaters open the National League season with the Montreal Maroons at Pittsburgh on November 16.

Briden, who was a left wing candidate when he reported to Manager Frank Frederickson, tips the beam at 175 pounds and is exceptionally fast for his weight. In view of the fact that the Bucs have three star left-wingers in Milks, Lowrey and Bud Jarvis, Frederickson elected to try Briden at defense in yesterday's spirited workout on local ice, and Briden showed up to such advantage that he probably will be kept at that position and may become a "backfield" regular. McCaffrey and Briden teamed well, and indications are that Smith and MacKinnon will be used as defense spares.

JARVIS SURPRISES

The biggest surprise of the training grind is the brilliant form shown by Bud Jarvis, another new Pirate. Bud has proven himself to be an accomplished skater and stick handler and a "dead" shot, and his advancement has been so rapid that he now is in a position to give Milks and Lowrey a real argument for the left wing job.

Jarvis was obtained from the Port Arthur Club. Frederickson has decided that if Jarvis' exhibition is a fair sample of the way they play hockey in Port Arthur that he would like to have another star or two from the same club, and he has opened negotiations to sign Cliff Barton, right wingman.

Barton, according to Frederickson, knows that he is good and has placed a high value on his services, but the Pittsburgh pilot is confident of having him in the Bucco fold within a few days.

REDPATH SUSPENDED

Redpath is on the reserve list of the Victoria Club, and stands suspended until he comes to terms with Victoria or is properly transferred, according to a wire received by Frederickson from Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, yesterday. Frederickson plans to farm Pridham to a minor league club for further seasoning.

All of the Pirate regulars of last season are fast rounding into top condition, and with new talent adding greatly to the Pittsburgh strength the Steel City puckmen appear destined to finish well up in the league race.

BUCS TO PLAY AT SHORE

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 7.—(INS.) Four major league ice hockey matches will be played in the new Convention Hall here, it has been announced. The matches will be played as follows:

New York Rangers vs. Ottawa Senators, December 28; Pittsburgh Pirates vs. Chicago Black Hawks, January 25; Montreal Canadians vs. Pittsburgh, March 1, and the New York Americans vs. Ottawa March 15. The ice rink will open November 23.

CLEGHORN REFEREE

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—Odie Cleghorn, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Cy Denneny, veteran player, and Bert Corbeau, former pilot of the London Panthers, have been appointed National Hockey League referees, Frank Calder, president of the circuit, announced today.

DUKES LEAVE TONIGHT

While he will make his stadium appearance toting half the reputation that Wes Fesler bore, the chances are that he will make as good a showing as the Ohio State star.

DUKES GO EAST

Duquesne will send 28 ball players to Washington tonight, where Saturday, the Dukes meet up with the rough and ready Catholic University.

Joe Bach, Elmer Layden's assistant, who has been scouting the Washingtonians, tells me that Catholic U. has a snappy ball team. It is about the same weight as Duquesne, follows the ball well and tackles hard—very, very hard, Joe says. And then he shudders. He should shudder, he don't have to carry the ball against 'em.

The squad will leave over the Pennsy at 10:25.

IT IS TO CHUCKLE

Except from the college catalog of the future:

"—Sonpstone College also pays union rates for football players. Besides our artesian wells, home cooking, free scenery, built in baths, indirect lighting in all rooms and no final examinations for athletes, this college boasts of its football payroll. Our price list follows:

Halfbacks—$225 per month and cakes. (a-b)

Tackles—$255 per month, cakes and free telephone numbers. (b)

Guards—$250 per month, cakes, tuition, books and fraternity bills.

Fullbacks—$300 per month, hospital bills, tuition, cakes and free dress suit rental. (b)

Centers—$170 per month, cakes, tuition and no 8:30 classes.

Ends—Paid piece work basis. Fifty bucks for each pass caught and $100 for each touchdown.

(a)—$10 off for each fumble in major game.

(b)—Includes tuition and books.

Under the present system, the above rates probably would be a trifle low, but once things are standardized, I imagine they'll hit about as I have 'em listed here.

LOOK OUT W. VA.!

If Detroit University's football team still throws the ball around in the backfield like it did when it played Tech here two years ago, and I guess it does, West Virginia will think it is playing in a basketball game Saturday. The Mountaineers tangle with the Titans in Morgantown.

West Virginia, playing its second game in five days (having tied Fordham Tuesday in N. Y.), will have its hands full, and the chances are that the Mountaineers will take one on the whiskers. Detroit hasn't lost a game since Notre Dame flopped it in 1927, and were not tied until last Saturday, when Marquette held 'em even.

Penn State and Penn will put on their thirty-first act in Philadelphia this week. In the 30 games played to date, over a period of 40 years, State has won seven times, lost 21 and tied a pair.

Until 1921, after 20 years of trying, Penn State hadn't won a game from the Red and Blue. Tish, tish!

TRIMMED DOWN

Fats Henry, Wash-Jeff freshmen coach, has been laid up for the better part of a week with a bum leg. An old injury cropped up and laid the big fella low.

Red Davis, captain at Geneva, who has played end and fullback on the Covenanter eleven so far, will move back to his first love, tackle, for the Armistice Day game with Waynesburg. He played that position last year.

Grove City and Allegheny, both burning up following last Saturday's upsets, when Waynesburg beat the Grovers and Thiel tied the Medthodists, will do a Dempsey-Firpo this week.

Never the less, it is a fact that Ohio State will do without its Coffee for the remainder of the season.

Birmingham Club Changes Owners

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 7.—(INS)—A. H. (Rick) Woodward, for years owner of the Birmingham Baseball Club, of the Southern Association has disposed of its entire interest in the club, it was learned yesterday.

Woodward sold his holdings to Tom Bawron, local business man. The sale price was not announced. The sale of the Birmingham Club follows on the heels of the resignation of Johnny Dobbs, manager, who led the Barons to two consecutive pennants. Dobbs has become affiliated with the Atlanta Crackers

JOE HARRIS ON MEND

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 7.—Homesickness that caused Joe Harris to be brought to his apartment in the Park Hotel from the Oil City Hospital, where he was a patient for seven weeks, seems to have vanished, and as a result, the former big league ball player is making strides toward a recovery that a week ago seemed far, far away. Harris' appetite is picking up, and he is looking better. He was able to sit up for a short while this week, and to show some interest in baseball chatter.

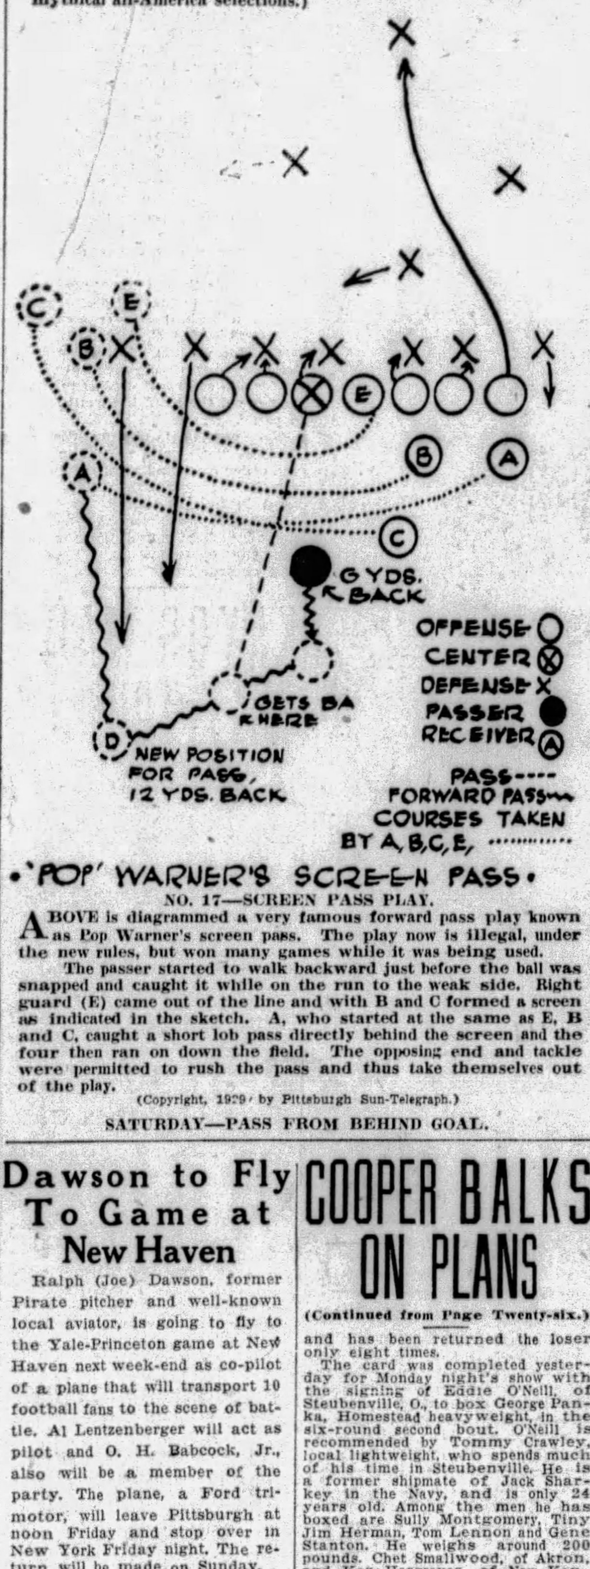
(Note.—Harpster, as the quarterback of the Carnegie Tech eleven last fall, gained national recognition as one of the most brilliant leaders of all time in the football realm. He captained the All-East team that defeated the All-West team in California at the end of the season and was generally picked as captain of the mythical all-America selections.)



•'POP' WARNER'S SCREEN PASS•

NO. 17—SCREEN PASS PLAY.

ABOVE is diagrammed a very famous forward pass play known as Pop Warner's screen pass. The play now is illegal, under the new rules, but won many games while it was being used.

The passer started to walk backward just before the ball was snapped and caught it while on the run to the weak side. Right guard (E) came out of the line and with B and C formed a screen as indicated in the sketch. A, who started at the same as E, B and C, caught a short lob pass directly behind the screen and the four then ran on down the field. The opposing end and tackle were permitted to rush the pass and thus take themselves out of the play.

Dawson to Fly To Game at New Haven

Ralph (Joe) Dawson, former Pirate pitcher and well-known local aviator, is going to fly to the Yale-Princeton game at New Haven next week-end as co-pilot of a plane that will transport 10 football fans to the scene of battle. Al Lentzenberger will act as pilot and O. H. Babcock, Jr., also will be a member of the party. The plane, a Ford trimotor, will leave Pittsburgh at noon Friday and stop over in New York Friday night. The return will be made on Sunday.

So far five places in the plane have been booked. Reservations for the other five, at $100 each for the round trip, are being received by Dawson at Atlantic 0153.

COOPER BALKS ON PLANS

and has been returned the loser only eight times.

The card was completed yesterday for Monday night's show with the signing of Eddie O'Neill, of Steubenville, O., to box George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, in the six-round second bout. O'Neill is recommended by Tommy Crawley, local lightweight, who spends much of his time in Steubenville. He is a former shipmate of Jack Sharkey in the Navy, and is only 24 years old. Among the men he has boxed are Sully Montgomery, Tiny Jim Herman, Tom Lennon and Gene Stanton. He weighs around 200 pounds. Chet Smallwood, of Akron, and Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, box the eight-round semi-final at the Garden and Tarzan Joe Poole, of Lawrenceville, and Walter Ketchel, of Detroit, are in the six-round opener.

The card also is complete for the show at the Moose Temple tomorrow night, with the signing of Johnny Brown, of Lawrenceville, and Jackie Griffiths, of the Hill, to box the opening bout. Dominick Profio and Hans Roberts box the 10-round windup. Carl Cavelli and Jackie Rodgers are in the semi-final and Frank Monroe meets Harry Spencer in the second event.

THOMPSON MAY BOX HERE

Young Jack Thompson, sensational Negro lightweight, of California, will box the windup at Motor Square Garden one week from next Monday night if the club can sign a suitable opponent for him. An attempt was made to engage Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., for the battle, but he is signed to oppose Danny Cooney, of Trenton, N. J., at Rochester the same night. Trippe recently knocked out both Tiger Joe Randall and Tug Phillips at McKeesport and Thompson holds a two-round knockout victory over Joe Dundee, scored at the time Dundee was welterweight champion.

Georgie Peck, of the North Side, boxes Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., in an eight-round main bout at Wellsville, O., tonight. Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, meets Carl Patron, of Canton, O., in the semi-final.

Andy Martin, of Boston, who boxes Sailor Fay Kosky in a return bout in Boston tonight, after having dropped a decision to Kosky at Providence, R. I., recently, now is a stablemate of Jack Sharkey, the unofficial heavyweight champion, under the management of Johnny Buckley, who bought his contract from Billy Henderson, who brought Andy here for the latter's several local bouts.

UNIONTOWN LADS BOOKED

Three Uniontown boys will be members of the Pittsburgh team of amateur boxers that will face a Pittsburgh aggregation in the inter-city show at the P. A. A. Saturday night. They are Don Asto, who will oppose Billy Anzick in the feather-weight class; Joey Spiegle, lightweight, who faces Ken Disch, and Carl Cesko, who will meet Jimmy Taylor.

Leonard Zazzarino, Jersey City junior-lightweight, who recently was knocked out by Al Singer in New York's Madison Square Garden, boxes Vic Burrone at Jersey City tonight. Billy McMahon meets Jimmy McNamara, George La Rocco battles Bob Olin and Vincent Sereci opposes Eddie Frisco in 10-rounders at the St. Nicholas Arena, New York.

BUCS ACQUIRE LANG, WESTERN LOOP HURLER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Although the Pirate management is shooting for a seasoned pitcher or two who can start regularly, it is always wise to pick up a promising youngster, and with this end in view the local officials have acquired a promising southpaw from the Western League.

The new sharpshooter is Martin Lang, who starred this year for the Wichita club of the Class A circuit; yet he was owned by the Omaha team even as he toiled for Wichita.

SHOWS REAL SKILL

Watched for days by Scout Chick Fraser, Lang showed enough skill to merit a chance under the big tent. He lives in Omaha, and the owners of that club, after securing his services, loaned him to Wichita. Lang did not get into a good stride until the last two months of the season. He won 14 and lost nine games for a team that finished below the .500 mark in the standings.

Lang apparently is a medium-sized boy. Aged 22, he is 5 feet 11 inches in height and weighs 165 pounds. He came through with a bang in the closing months, working 219 innings. Evidently he is a bit wild, as his string of passes totaled 113, but control may come to him with experience. He fanned 93 batters. The recruit is a right-hander at the plate.

The acquisition of the Western League hurler gives the Buccos a lefthanded wing of five performers, namely, Petty, French, Fussell, Erickson and Lang.

Judgment will have to be witheld on the last named, but there is much to feel optimistic about in two of the other youngsters, French and Erickson.

FRENCH MAY IMPROVE

Larry of the screw-ball started and finished well for the Pirates, but through a long interim he was ineffective and anything but dependable. An attack of flu slowed up the young man to a big extent. As he is just turning 22 he should improve through the next few seasons French stands a good chance of being a star pitcher next season.

Ralph Erickson, the powerful Dane, is one of the most popular pitchers to reach the Pirate camp in many seasons. Here we have a big kid who bubbles over with life and who owns a priceless disposition. Ralph came to the Buccos last spring as one of the rawest of rookies, but his full season with Columbia of the Sally circuit put a lot of polish on the boy and he wasn't the same pitcher when he got back to the big show.

Erickson probably is still another year away, more's the pity. A season in a Class A league, or better, should develop him to a point where he could cope with major-league batters.

SPLENDID FINISH

Jess Petty made a whirlwind finish after a terrible start. The silver fox is regarded as a high-class hurler all around the circuit; if he jumps off in the same stride he was in when the curtain went down, he will help out the Pittsburgh cause in no small manner.

All in all, the Pirate slab situation is in no sense alarming. Manager Ens has a lot of confidence in fellows like Brame, French and Swetonic. Two of these three may win regularly next year and it is only natural to expect a lot of victories from Grimes, Petty and Kremer.

Chillysauce

Baseball players are enjoying the open season for rabbits, quail and banquets. Connie Mack is recuperating after a series of tangles with the festive board.

Al Mamaux and Babe Herman are elevating the stage. Vaudeville has been in a terrible slump but Al and Babe expect to get it back to its former high level.

Frank Lea, one of Walter Maranville's close friends from the East, is spending the week in Pittsburgh. Frank is manager of "The Silver Swan," which is appearing at the Nixon Theater.

A former Princeton football player, Lea is at the Polo Grounds nearly every day when the Pirates or Braves are appearing. He says the Yankees were nibbling for John McGraw as successor to Miller Huggins.

Apparently, McGraw does not "gee" well with some of the other New York officials, but he is such a big personage in the National League that the Heydler circuit would suffer a staggering loss, were he to leave.

St. Vincent's Grid Captain to Catch Oval From Plane

LATROBE, Pa., Nov. 7.—Capt. Roy Dailey, of the St. Vincent's College grid team, will make an attempt to catch a football dropped from a Ryan monoplane, the feature stunt of the home-coming day game with St. Francis College to be played here Monday afternoon.

Although a baseball has been dropped from a plane before it is the first time a football is to be dropped to a player on the ground. The plane will fly from Bridgeville, and, after dropping the ball, will perform for the benefit of the crowd and then fly back home.

Coach Crowe has shifted Jack Schulik, second-string tackle, to the center position to take the place of Ray Burke, regular center, who was injured in Monday's practice.

HORSE SHOW OPENS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—The national horse show, opening today at Madison Square Garden, will have as its chief attraction the international military championship, for which five army teams will compete. This event, the climax of the show, is to take place next Tuesday, with the close Wednesday.

LOCALS WIN, LOSE IN GOLF AT PINEHURST

PINEHURST, Nov. 7.—Jack V. Hurd, of Pittsburgh, won his match in the first round of play in the twenty-fifth annual autumn tournament on the links here yesterday. In the fourth division Hurd defeated W. C. Smith, Philadelphia, by 5 and 4. In the third division, A. P. Dysart, of Pittsburgh, lost to Frank Dudgeon, of Pinehurst, 4 and 3.

David N. Tallman, of Minneapolis, former Western golf champion, and medalist, advanced to the semi-finals by defeating William Alexander, of Glencoe, Ill., member of the Skokie Country Club, by a score of 3 and 2.

Edmond A. Guggenheim, of Lido Country Club, New York, won his match against W. C. Banta, of Ridgewood, N. J., in a romp, the count being 8 and 7. In the lower bracket E. L. Scofield, of New York, vanquished Merrill M. Lord, of Jackson Heights, N. Y., 6 and 4, and R. J. Breed, of Danvers, Mass., ousted H. G. Frost, of Cincinnati, 6 and 5.

Tallman shot and 80 in overcoming Alexander, the score being two strokes better than that which won him the qualifying medal. He was out in 39, to stand 2 up, and in a see-saw finish garnered the necessary holes to win.

SMOCK BATTLES IRWIN ELEVEN TONIGHT

BIG WEEK-END INDEPENDENT GRID CARD

By TOM BIRKS.

The Smock Independents will clash with the Irwin Scholastics in their weekly night battle this evening at the Smock grounds. Manager Zimmerman reports that the idea is going over big around the Monongahela Valley. Fayette City, Monessen, Uniontown and Brownsville fans are taking in the games. A new concrete highway to the grounds makes them very accessable.

Plenty of football will be on tap this week end. East Pittsburgh will tangle with Art Rooney's Majestics at Exposition Park Sunday afternoon. On Monday, it is reported that the Majestics will make another attempt to eliminate the Greenfield Community aggregation from the race. Fred Iverson is another manager who is trying the double-up stunt. The Olympics will play their annual game with Glassport Odds at Rainbow Gardens Sunday. The Tube City fans are looking forward to this game, as it is the only available date for the battle. On Monday, the Black and White machine will travel to New Kensington, where the Tube City gridders tangle with the Burns club. New Kensington fans are all worked up over the game, to be played on the Parnassus High School field. It is expected this game will have the record crowd of the week.

NO CASUALTIES

The Olympics came out of the West View battle without casualty, and the same goes for West View, which means that Managers Muzzio and Iverson will be able to field their best lineups in these important games. In the Glassport game, Iverson is going to give a few of the second string men a chance to show their stuff.

The Homewood Tylers are going to play their only game of the season at home Armistice Day with Johnny Dunsky's Pleasant Valley Smilers furnishing the opposition. Tyler feels that Homewood is entitled to one good game this season, and selected the Smilers, who are popular in the East End.

With McChesneytown meeting West View at the park, and the Firemen meeting the Majestics, Pittsburgh independent gridiron fans will have two of the greatest attractions ever offered in one day around the city.

McChesneytown, with its numerous Notre Dame plays, will flash something new, for, while the Latrobe aggregation has been beaten, it still remains one of the most colorful gridiron outfits in the district.

Edwards probably will do the punting, with Crowe playing at end. McGinnis will be quarterback. West View will have its independent title, which it won at Latrobe last year, to defend, and Muzzio may be expected to show the sandlotters that the win was not a fluke.

FRILLS AT NEW KENSINGTON

The affair at New Kensington on Armistice Day is being put on by the American Legion, and, according to Jimmy Smith, it is going to be a splendid affair. There will be a parade and all the frills that go along, the parade winding up at the ball park. Officials of the Aluminum team figure that, if given a break in the weather, at least 8,000 persons will view the game.

This contest will test the strength of the Burns backfield. The Goldberg club has been winning most of its games by a single touchdown, and, as Goldberg said, "that was enough to win." But will one touchdown be enough to defeat the Olympics? That is the question Burns will have to answer after the game gets under way.

Mississippi Next To Test Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 7.—Heading the Big Ten pack and remaining as one of the few undefeated or untied major elevens in the country as the result of its fifth straight victory of the season over Wisconsin, Coach Jimmy Phelan's versatile Purdue gridiron squad is pointing for its intersectional clash with the University of Mississippi here Saturday. The Boilermakers' steady string of successes, earned through co-ordinated team play rather than the individual performance of any one player, has brought the Old Gold and Black combination a deserved reputation for offensive power equaled by few elevens in the country.

Mississippi's heavy forward wall, rated in the South as second only to Alabama's in weight and power, is expected to provide a real test of both the Purdue offensive that has averaged 24 points per game so far this season, and the defensive power of the Boilermaker line that has been functioning as an impenetrable unit.

Michigan Answers Foundation Report

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—A plea for a "saner attitude" by alumni and the public toward intercollegiate athletics, is contained in the University of Michigan reply to the recent report of the Carnegie Foundation in which American colleges were censured for subsidizing athletics. The reply was made public today by Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the university.

There is no justice in refusing to admit an athlete to the university just because he is an athlete, nor, once he has been admitted, in denying him aid in his studies and personal problems afforded other students, Dr. Ruthven said.

"The cure for the present ills is not mere rules but education of the alumni and public generally in a saner attitude toward intercollegiate athletics," the report said.

Bucknell Given Bristling Workout

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The Bucknell squad was sent through a bristling scrimmage yesterday as the preparation for the Villa Nova game progressed. Much of the time was spent in stopping plays which the Villa Nova eleven has used effectively in previous games.

Steve Trudenak, formerly understudy for Captain Woerner, is now expected to start this week in the guard position of Pottsville Jones, who is out with a badly wrenched ankle. Cummings, also used at guard, was regarded as the logical alternate.

PITT'S ALL-AMERICA FULLBACK HOPE—AND BET

TOM PARKINSON

Pitt thinks it has an all-America fullback in Tom Parkinson, the battering ram senior. Tom kicks, passes and plunges. He is pictured above just after he got off one of his passes.

THEY SHALL NOT PASS

On defense, Parkinson is almost without an equal at fullback. Not only is he adept at diagnosing plays, but when he cuts 'em down they stay cut down.

IT'S OFF!

As a kicker, Parkinson is better than average. Even he will admit that. It was his fine booting in the Nebraska game that kept the Cornhuskers from scoring during their first-period flare-up.

CRASH! BAM! ZOWIE!

Into the line, driving like a locomotive and bursting through into the secondary—that is how Parkinson plunges. He is one of the most powerful line-buckers in Pitt's history and has not been stopped so far this season.

Harvard to Leave For Ann Arbor Today

CAMBRIDGE, No. 7.—(AP.)—Several changes were made in the line here yesterday when the Harvard football team ended its work for Saturday's Michigan game at Ann Arbor. Head Coach Arnold Horween dropped George Kuehn, one of the varsity tackles, to the second team, and moved Bill Ticknor into that position. George Talbot was given Ticknor's guard assignment.

The Crimson players had a 25-minute workout on the dummy and a long forward passing drill before the first and second teams met the scrubs in a dummy scrimmage.

Horween and his squad will entrain for Ann Arbor this afternoon. They were due to arrive early tomorrow morning, in time to work out in the Michigan stadium before taking up quarters at the Oakland Country Club, about 40 miles from Ann Arbor.

YANKEES SUED FOR $540,000 FOR INJURIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A suit for $540,000, filed by 18 persons, each of whom demands $30,000 for injuries suffered in the panic in the New York Stadium on May 19 last, when 7,000 panic-stricken spectators rushed toward barred exits, trampling one man to death and injuring scores of others, owing to a sudden rainfall, was placed on the general calendar yesterday for trial in the Supreme Court. The suit is directed against the American League Baseball Club, of New York.

In the complaint it is charged that the operators of the stadium knew that at the end of the game or in case of rain the entire crowd would attempt to leave at once, but despite this the defendant neglected precautions to prevent a stampede. When a sudden shower occurred, the complaint states, the 7,000 persons in a section of the bleachers left their seats and started hurriedly for the exits and, finding but one exit open, the resulting jam became a panic.

The complaint charges the defendant "failed and refused to open the other exits and means of egress which the defendant could have used in order to allow the crowd to leave the premises and which the defendant kept closed, thus increasing the overcrowding, congestion and obstruction."

HACK WILSON AT HOME

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 7.—Hack Wilson, slugging outfielder for the Chicago Cubs, has returned to his home here for the winter, foregoing a scheduled series of vaudeville appearances in the Middle West, and planning to spend his winter at hunting in this section instead of before the footlights, he said. Wilson said the desire for rest in the quiet of his home and away from public attention finally prevailed. He did make a number of appearances at children's hospitals in Chicago after the world series.

AL MARSTERS IN GOOD SPIRITS

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The fractured vertebra which ended Al Marsters' college football career has not affected his spirits, for he was in a cheerful mood yesterday when he assured the disappointed Dartmouth student body that the team "can get along without me against Brown, Cornell and the Navy."

"It's just one of the breaks of the game," Marsters told the scores of callers who crowded about his hospital cot during the day. Much of his cheerfulness was due to the fact that Dr. John Gile, his physician, had told him he would probably be strong enough to journey to Philadelphia to watch his teammates battle the Navy on November 20.

Betless Racing Draws Big Crowd

ARLINGTON DOWNS Tex., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Renewal of horse racing in Texas after a lapse of 22 years drew 10,000 turf fans to the $3,000,000 plant of the Texas Jockey Club here yesterday. Purses totaling $6,000 had been set up by Col. W. T. Waggoner, millionaire Texas cattleman, and founder of the Three D stables.

The big turnout of spectators was in answer to Col. Waggoner's challenge to the state's sporting instincts and apparently justified his contention tha a racing meet could be conducted without benefit of wagering of any kind.

Scores of officers in plain clothes were in the crowd to prevent book making. Several well-known bookmakers from the North and East were warned against practicing their profession. The betting, if there was any, was done on the sly.

Tanseer, Penn End, Turns Ankle; Out

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Len Tanseer, University of Pennsylvania first string end, participated in a brief line scrimmage yesterday and turned his right ankle. Tanseer, who is expected to be the keystone of the Pennsylvania basketball team this coming season, is a six footer. Earlier in the year he sprained his ankle and was compelled to remain on the sidelines for two weeks.

Dr. Arthur Light, team physician, said he was not certain Tanseer will be able to start against State here Saturday.

Conservative Balance Sheets Contain Same Danger as More Glowing Statements

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Already there has been too much scolding of the amateur financial public for earlier emotional excesses on the buying side.

Bull speculators, who erred, followed unwise leadership. Certain investment banking houses and corporations in quest of funds sought until the very end of the upward surge to exploit the public appetite for stocks. One recently formed and apparently well sponsored holding company offered to exchange its shares for stocks in leading industrial companies at peak prices, thus officially conveying the idea to the untutored public that the management of the company and its bankers did not think that the prevailing level of stock prices was unwarrantably high.

STUDY EARNINGS

Of course, in the light of what has occurred in the stock market, well informed observers agree that the time has returned for analytical studies of securities in the light of earning power, assets, and future prospects. But, if such observations are to be more than academic significance, the street must face the fact that many respectable corporate managers have been playing the bunco game of hiding assets and earnings in their published reports to stockholders. If the street is to search radically for causes of such hysterical price swings as it has recently witnessed, it must get down to fundamentals, and insist on corporate accounting standards which will enable intelligent investors to know the basic economic facts concerning the advance and retrogression of prosperity in individual companies.

Padding balance sheets and income accounts has been widely denounced as fraudulent, but the reverse process of withholding facts as to the true nature of profits and assets has been condoned as conservative accounting. Well sponsored corporations, which are otherwise superbly managed, have year after year published financial statements which bear only a remote relation to the real status of the business about which all stockholders, or owners, are entitled to be informed. The public has been deluded by understatements, as well as by exaggerations. If the public gets the idea that a company is really worth much more than the balance sheet indicates, there is no limit to the extent that the imagination may go in times of optimism in overestimating the true worth of companes and shares. Conversely, in times of panicky liquidation, the public goes equally to the extreme in the other direction.

NEED TRUE FIGURES

As long as human nature remains as it is, candid accounting will not of course act as a panacea, but true accounting will contribute significantly to the stabilization of financial markets. Under the guise of ultra conservatism, some companies have been listing skyscrapers among their assets at $1, plants at nominal figures, and in general have charged off to operting expenses permanent capital expenditures. Companies that habitually tuck away assets and earnings in places that the outsider will not discover lay themselves open to the suspicion that they are intentionally giving an advantage to directors, officers and bankers of the company, who alone are privy to the secrets.

The vicious effect of such financial statements which are travesties on sincere accounting is that they cultivate mystery markets. In times of optimism amateur speculators and investors will remain suspectible to the vague hints offered by superficial customers' men in brokerage offices and by professional tipsters, as long as they feel that the responsible heads of companies are withholding significant data. So long as the public lacks confidence that a prudent analysis of published corporate data will give the key to security values, the country will be subject to emotional finance, with the melodramatic ups and downs that reflect hysteria and manias, rather than analytical studies.

Continental European companies sin far worse than American companies in publishing statements which conceal rather than reveal. So temperate a critic as Sir Josia Stamp, now a director of the Bank of England, points out in his "Current Problems in Finance and Government:"

"Our modern fetish of a 'safe' or 'sound' balance sheet . . . lies in almost every line and yet is approved professionally because it overstates no assets and understates no liabilities, while it has valuable premises written down to negligible figures and reserves hidden in innumerable places, or profits 'held up' or 'tucked away.' The truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth' cannot be derived from the modern balance sheet so vaunted for its prudence; but prudence is just as possible without departing from what a balance sheet ought to be—a faithful record of the employment of the total capital invested in the business, whether as an original outlay or retained profits, from which the true rate of profit on an invested capital can be determined."

Some of the best managed American industrial companies, such as the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation, the National Biscuit Company, The American Can Company, Union Carbide and Chemical Companies, and leading banks, are penurious in giving adequate information to stockholders.

On the other hand, United States Steel and General Motors Corporations set the fashions in setting forth fuller information.

AIR INDUSTRY ON STABLE BASIS

Business Past Wild-Cat Stage With Conservative Expansion Looming Ahead

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—C. M. Keys, president of Curtiss-Wright Corporation, believes that the wildcat stages of the industry which existed in 1929 have passed and that the future promises further expansion on a sound basis.

Mr. Keys stated that profits of the industry would be considerably below the high estimates made during the height of the summer boom, but "compared with other days we have known they will be very satisfactory."

He pointed out that many companies financed earlier in the year and operating on an unsound basis are passing out of the picture, but that the larger companies continue to expand their operations conservatively.

REACTION FROM BOOM

"After complete study of all phases of aviation, I have no hesitation in stating that the reaction in the trade has been grossly exaggerated," said Mr. Keys. "Most of it is, in fact, a reaction from a boom, which played no part in the plans or policies of the old companies in the business.

"Part of it is seasonal, especially in motors. Many of the smaller manufacturers, especially those not well financed, hold up their orders for motors through the winter because they will not deliver their products until spring and are reluctant to pay for and carry the motors for so many months.

CONSERVATIVE SCHEDULE

"The motor maker, therefore, has to decide whether he will build and stock his products, or build them and consign them to his best customers, or build only what he knows he can sell currently or for sure in the spring.

"In 1929, three times as many Wright motors were wanted in April as could be delivered. That might have led to a reckless expansion policy for 1930—but it didn't. We have slowed down the Wright plant to a sane and safe basis, and are taking advantage of the first chance in some years to build up engineering, tighten up manufacturing methods and generally lay foundations for sound future progress.

CLEANING LOOSE ENDS

"In all branches of trade there is a wholesome, but widespread, cleaning up of loose ends. Dozens of little transport concerns that started in the boom because they could get easy money, and have operated planes at from half to three-quarters the true cost of operation, are going out of business for lack of new capital to pay operating expenses. In the same way, literally hundreds of individual operators have been carrying on so-called training and taxi service at rates that provide for neither depreciation nor reserves.

"These operations, now dropping out rapidly, made it hard to establish flying on a business basis that can pay a profit. All the bigger transport concerns, T. A. T., Western Air, Boeing, Universal, for instance, provided ample reserves of capital and have been building for the time when, through the growth of volume of traffic and the betterment of equipment, a fair margin would be established. All of them welcome the passing of the wild-cat stage as the first step toward the goal.

FLYING SERVICE GAINS

"There has been steady and consistent growth of service flying, training, taxi, cross country, etc. We thought, in 1928, that $7,500,000 was plenty to cover the country with new schools and fields and hangars. We wish we had made it twice as much. Less than a year old, the Curtiss Flying Service in August, September and October flew about a million miles a month. Steadily the student roll mounts. In June it was 600; in July 750; in August 800; in September 900, and in October for the first time it crossed 1,000.

FUTURE PROMISING

"The future of aviation in all its phases continues to promise sound growth. We used to think that 50 or 60 training planes were a big order. A week ago our executive committee placed an order to build 100 Curtiss Fledglings, a Navy type training plane, because the fields must have them as soon as they can get them.

"I think profits from aviation in 1929 will be well below the estimate of the summer time. But, compared with other days we have known, they will be very satisfactory."

A BETTER OIL BECAUSE IT'S AN OILIER OIL. You can actually feel the difference

Before this great motor oil was ever trade-marked "Standard," hundreds of thousands of miles of road tests had proved its quality. Because of its greater oiliness it showed noticeable savings in the gasoline and oil consumed. Wear was reduced to a minimum. Practically no carbon was formed.

Today thousands of users who know good motor oil say that with "Standard" Motor Oil they can actually feel the difference in the performance of their cars.

Drain and flush your crankcase. Start with a clean, fresh supply of "Standard" Motor Oil. Note for yourself the new flow of power. "Standard" Motor Oil gives better lubrication because it's an oilier oil, made from selected crudes, specially processed in the world's largest refineries. It resists friction, holds its body. It stands up under heat. Even the terrific punishment of the new high-speed motors has little effect on the protective film of tough, durable, oily "Standard" Motor Oil. Now on sale right in your own town.

Stocks Stage Rally | Local Market Lower

STOCKS STAGE RALLY AFTER WIDE DROP

Most of Early Losses Cut or Wiped Out—Some Close 1 to 25 Points Up

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The stock market went through another trying period of forced liquidation today which carried many issues down 5 to nearly 32 points in the early trading and then rallied in impressive fashion as strong buying support came into the market. Most of the early declines were materially cut down, or wiped out, and a number were converted into gains of 1 to about 25 points.

Trading was again in unusually heavy volume. Opening blocks of 5,000 to 75,000 shares were followed by long strings of smaller transactions, with the result that the ticker fell more than an hour behind the market in the last hour of the abbreviated session. Total sales crossed the 5,000,000 share mark before mid-day.

MONEY IN SUPPLY

Little attention was paid today to the money market. Call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent, with time money in supply at the same rate for all maturities. Publication of the weekly report of the New York Federal Reserve bank this evening is expected to disclose another huge reduction in brokers' borrowings.

While some uneasiness has been created as a result of the falling off in railroad traffic in the latter part of October, and the reported slackening in steel buying, bankers and business men look for no general recession in business, except possibly in merchandise of the luxury class.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED

Several more favorable dividend developments were announced today. Directors of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad raised the annual rate from $4 to $5 and National Tea directors from $1.50 to $2, extra dividends of $2 were declared on American Machine & Foundry and $1.50 on International Cigar Machinery, and the Vulcan Detinning Company completed the payment of back dividends on the preferred issues. U. S. Hoffman Machinery reduced the annual rate from $2 to $1.

Some of the recoveries in today's market were impressive in character. U. S. Steel common, which dipped to 161½ soon after the opening, rebounded to 177, up 8 points; General Electric rallied from 195½ to 233, up 27; Johns Manville from 94½ to 112, up 10; Consolidated Gas from 88 to 96½, up 5½, and Atchison from 210½ to 226, up 9.

Stocks rallied briskly during the latter part of the session and, while there were some reductions from the day's best levels before the close, closing quotations were generally around the top. General Electric closed at 224, up 18 points; Johns-Manville —, up 13; American Telephone at 226, up 11; U. S. Steel at 174½, up 5½, and Radio at 37½, up 5. The closing tone was strong. Total sales were 7,172,700 shares.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Railroad Expenditures.

Railroad expenditures in the United States last year which carriers list as being properly classifiable as made to increase safety of operations are figured by the Bureau of Railway Economics to have reached a total of $194,903,954. The largest item of the $194,000,000 is the $56,990,037 cost of laying heavier rails on main lines. However, the next item, the $32,377,329 cost of steel passenger cars put into service represented most largely response to safety demands.

Allied Motors Rights.

Allied Motor Industries is offering rights to additional common stock at $31.50 a share in the ratio of one new share to every five common or preferred held.

French Tax Reduced.

The French government has reduced the de luxe tax on French-built automobiles to 10 per cent from 12 per cent.

Mohawk Acquires Average.

The Mohawk Mining Company has acquired control through a long-term option, the entire Flint-Steel acreage on the Butler lode, consisting of 760 surface acres in Ontonagon County, Michigan.

LOCAL ISSUES SAG OFF AT OPENING

Leading Fuels Drop Lower With Industrials as N. Y. Market Starts With Break

Securities opened lower on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today following the course of prices in New York, where first quotations were from 2 to 12 points under last night's finals. Lone Star Gas, Blaw Knox, Arkansas Gas, Copperweld and other issues which have been leading the recent trading were supplied at concessions but there was no wholesale dumping such as took place in the leading stocks in New York. The quick rally on the "big board" encouraged the traders here, and while there was no effort made to shoot the local issues higher, a better buying support was evident and the earlier prices were bettered in subsequent transactions.

The market was fairly broad with the dealings well spread out over the list. Concentration of activity in individual issues such as was noted last week did not take place today, indicating that the conditions of speculative accounts involving local stocks was being cleared up steadily.

Bankers Do Not All Wear Horns, Events Reveal

By B. C. FORBES

THE bad break in Wall Street will give a setback to the selling by corporations of stock to their employes.

Yesterday's events in the stock market need cause no astonishment. The shock suffered last week was so extremely violent that it shattered the patient's nerves. Spells of weakness must be expected.

But by and by a greater measure of strength will be developed.

Many bargains again were available yesterday. It is comforting to learn that since the market's collapse there has been tremendously widespread buying of stock by small investors. You assuredly can invest in stocks at today's prices, whereas you were speculating rather than investing when you purchased stocks during the latter stages of the boom in the hope of being able to resell in a little while at a profit. Few stocks then yielded a return satisfactory to the investor.

Many stocks now do yield a return satisfactory to the investor.

ONE hears of very pleasant incidents revealing that bankers and other individuals as well as organizations have shown consideration to victims pressed hard by the debacle. Julius Rosenwald is not, by any means, the only company head who has come to the rescue of employes caught with more stock obligations than they could safeguard. New York can match this generous Chicagoan's action.

Banks refrained in many instances from selling out customers whose loans became inadequately protected by collateral. The number of banks that did not sell out one client or call one loan would, if the facts were uncovered, cause astonishment among those who picture "Wall Street bankers" as wearing horns.

ONE company, the Vick Chemical Company, of Greensboro, N. C., has sent a remarkable letter "to our customers who subscribed to Vick financial stock." It starts thus:

"The recent drastic drop in the stock market has changed the financial picture of many of our customers and may have put some in immediate need of ready cash. The Vick Chemical Company still has the cash paid in for this stock, since it has until November 15 to exercise its option on the stock which it has reserved for its customers. We will be glad, therefore, to cancel the subscriptions of all those who need the money now or think they will need it within the next year, and will send checks at once for the amounts paid in."

GERARD SWOPE, president of General Electric, received urgent requests from several employes to make it possible for General Electric workers to subscribe for common stock by taking money out of wages. In view of what has since happened to stocks—including a drop in General Electric from $403 to a low of $206 yesterday—these extracts from Mr. Swope's comprehensive, lucid reply, published in the company's magazine of October 18, are particularly interesting:

"You no doubt know that some seven or eight years ago the company offered 50,000 shares of its common stock to employes at a price that netted about $112 per share (this was the old stock). Shortly thereafter, the market price went below the subscription price, and a number of our employes, being nervous in regard to their subscriptions, canceled them.

"Then, still later, the employes who had retained their subscriptions completed the payments and received the stock, but when the market price went up, nearly all, and especcially the moderate investors, for whom the plan was devised, sold their holdings.

"No one could find any fault with this. The unfortunate part, however, was that some of these people, who took their profits, invested in other securities which they thought would go up and in many instances were disappointed; in fact, in some cases that came to my attention they actually lost their entire savings.

"The foregoing shows how the moderate investor in stock regards market fluctuations, with nervousness at declines and desire to take profit on advances.

"To remove this nervousness and temptation from the minds of the employes, the General Electric Employes Securities Corporation was organized, 25 per cent of whose funds, more or less, shall be invested in General Electric stock and the balance of the investment in stocks of public utility companies.

"Upwards of 34,000 employes now have invested over $36,000,000 in bonds of this company, with a return to them of 8 per cent, paid semi-annually. Employes, furthermore, may acquire G. E. Employes Securities Corporation bonds by weekly or monthly deductions from their pay, and when these savings have accumulated sufficiently they are then in position to buy a share or more of General Electric stock if that seems both wise and desirable to them at that time, and then continue their weekly or monthly savings in G. E. Securities Corporation bonds."

ADMITTEDLY, some employe stock owners have fared unfortunately, but many others, including Steel Corporation employes, have done extremely well. The question, after all, has two sides.

SEES MARKET RECOVERY

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Predicting substantial recovery of stock prices within next six months, Harvard Economic Society says:

"Business conditions remain generally sound and abundant credit is still available for industrial and financial purposes.

"We beleive what is taking place is a correction of an overextended speculative situation without changing fundamental factors making for continued business prosperity.

"This does not mean the collapse will shortly be followed by another strong and persistent advance. The decline has been too serious for that, and under most favorable conditions some interval must elapse before another substantial upswing. It would be reasonable to expect recovery of prices to begin in 6 to 12 months, even though business conditions were unsound and credit conditions difficult."

Copper for Export In Better Demand

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Domestic fabricators of metals were disposed to hold off from placing business pending a return to stability in the securities markets, though there was moderate improvement in export demand for copper during the week, Engineering and Mining Journal reports. The price of copper was maintained at 18 cents a pound, but lead, zinc and tin sold at lower levels.

Barkley Iron Duty Adopted by Senate

Bank of England Rate Unchanged

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Bank of England today made no change in its rediscount rate of 6 per cent.

SELLING WAVE UNCHECKED

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—With offerings of the principal trading stocks pouring into the market in growing amounts extensive losses were suffered by active issues throughout the list yesterday. Support was in evidence on a scale down in the leaders during the fore part of the abbreviated session, but no attempt was made to stem the decline.

Banking interests exerted efforts to maintain an orderly market but attempt to rally the list were withheld. It was conceded that the current liquidation must run its course before the list would be established on a stable basis. Consequently, the selling proceeded without concerted opposition from important quarters.

Large offerings of the principal trading stocks continued to pour into the market in the final dealings and prices broke badly. U. S Steel ended the session at 169, off 14½ points from Monday's final, and losses of 5 to 15 points were shown by other leaders.

General Electric broke sharply, penetrating the level of resistance at $210 established on last week's severe declines. Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Radio, American Can, Columbia Gas and other favorites also worked steadily lower, closing at about lowest levels of the day.

Burlington Profits For 9 Months Up

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The Burlington Railroad reports for nine months ended September 30, net income of $21,107,873 after taxes and charges, equal to $12.35 a share on 1,708,291 shares, against 17,802,989 or, $10.42 a share in the 1928 period.

September net income was $3,015,097 against $2,983,407 in September, 1928.

GAS EXPORTS GAIN 12%

Although shipments of other petroleum products from United States to foreign countries have shown a decrease this year, the domestic exports of gasoline have continued in larger volume. In the first nine months this year 44,132,887 barrels of gasoline and light products were sent abroad, an increase of 12 per cent over the 39,503,897 barrels in the corresponding period of last year.

Shipments of illuminating oils, gas and fuel oil, and lubrcants declined. Total refined petroleum exports aggregated 92,224,018 barrels, compared with 96,963,524 barrels in the first nine months of 1928.

In September the exports of all refined petroleum were less than a year ago, the gasoline group totaling 4,244,246 barrels, compared with 4,648,292 barrels. Both illuminating oils and gas and fuel oil showed sharp reductions. In both September and the nine months the exportation of crude oil recorded an increase over 1928, being 32 per cent larger in the former and 38 per cent in the latter period.

Look for Further Huge Drop in Total of Brokers' Loans.

WHILE any attempt to estimate its dimensions would be little more than a gesture, those who follow the loan situation closely were satisfied that another huge drop in the total would be shown when the figures are released late today. The contraction may run as high as $500,000,000, according to one observer who hesitated, however, to offer anything like a fixed guess. Loans last week dropped $1,896,000,000 bringing the total for the reserve compilation back to the levels prevailing in June while the report of the stock exchange for October, showed the aggregate of borrowings by its members had been reduced by $2,440,000,000 to approximately the levels of October, 1928.

The statement of the United States Steel Corporation for the third quarter of the year was even better than it looked. The reason it was better than it looked was because earnings of $70,173,000 were only $1,800,000 less than in the preceding quarter, notwithstanding shipments were considerably less than in the preceding quarter and prices lower. Earnings were nearly 40 per cent ahead of what they were in the corresponding quarter last year. Prices for steel are not a great deal higher than they were in the corresponding quarter of last year, and the conclusion can be reached that increased profits came more from lower costs than from better prices and larger shipments. The steel industry is becoming more and more stabilized, and it is because of this that earnings are becoming more uniform. In the past a substantial falling off in production would be followed by a very drastic slump in earnings. Millions plowed back into property and higher efficiency in general have made the steel industry more stable and this in turn assures more uniform earnings.

SMALL and large accounts on a large scale have been impaired or wiped out in the past two weeks and the buying power which has come into the market has not been in sufficient volume to offset the operations of those who feel that the worst is far from over. Feeble attempts have been made from time to time to rally the market, but the objectives are seldom attained. Much has been said by bankers, industrialists and administration leaders to restore the confidence of the public, but nothing has been done to bolster prices. According to the banking group, attention is not being given to the restoration of the previous high levels which prevailed prior to the start of the crash, but more to the stabilization of the market. Commission houses have done a record-breaking volume of business so far this year and a let-up in orders at this time would be welcome. Abbreviated sessions and suspension of trading for days at a time have helped somewhat. However, the houses have not been placed in order and a good-sized volume of open trades still exists. Customers have been clamoring for reports and many complaints are being lodged against brokerage houses by those who have been sold out. Gossip is current that a vast amount of law suits are likely to develop as a result of the chaos which for almost two weeks has prevailed in the financial district.

Renewed heavy selling yesterday was ascribed chiefly to the inability of the market to hold on Monday the rally which it had achieved in Thursday's abbreviated session of last week. Moreover, the fact that Monday found selling far outweighing buying in spite of the widespread report of heavy accumulation of buying orders in the final few days of last week, was accepted as offering testimony to the feeling in professional circles. The latter element, it is learned, was in a bearish frame of mind on Monday, and ready to fill bids which came in from the outside on the theory that the market had rallied far enough at last week's closing. Monday's disappointing market action was the chief influence making for renewed selling yesterday.

PRODUCTION of steel ingots has been reduced during the past week and is now placed at between 77 and 78 per cent of capacity, against nearly 80 per cent in the preceding week and a shade above 80 per cent two weeks ago. All companies contributed toward the reduction. United States Steel is at a shade over 80 per cent, against a fraction over 82 per cent last week and 83 per cent two weeks ago. Independents are down to below 75 per cent, against better than 77 per cent in the two preceding weeks. At this time last year the Steel Corporation was running at 85 per cent, with independents at 87 per cent, and the average was above 86 per cent.

In 12 months the national debt has been reduced $840,667,000, and now stands at $16,463,341,000. That is a very big constructive development. So was the announcement that Andrew Mellon would remain in office until 1933. That means a continued shrinkage in the national debt for the next four years. The longer Mellon remains in office the greater the assurance that the trend of tax payments will be downward.

October Financing Near Year's Record

Despite the almost total absence of security offerings during the latter days of October because of unsettled conditions in the stock farket, New stock, bond and note financing during the month was the second largest this year, aggregating $761,134,349, according to Lawrence Stern & Co., investment banking house. The October total, however, was approximately 14 per cent below the preceding month's record-breaking volume of $884,119,877, and 7 per cent below the total for October, 1928.

Col. Keech Believes Liquidation Ended

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Col. F. B. Keech, head of the stock exchange firm of F. B. Keech & Co., issued the following statement today:

"I believe the biggest part of liquidation is now over and that situation is sound. I am no longer a bear. Good stocks are a purchase."

A. M. Jackson, senior partner of Jackson Bros., Boesel & Co., said:

"I feel stock liquidation has been thorough and extensive and that seasoned stocks can now be bought."

U. S. Hoffman Cuts Dividend in Half

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Hoffman Machinery Company declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, payable December 1 to record November 20, reducing the basis to $2 annually from $4 previously.

The U. S. Hoffman Machinery Company has been awarded a decision in United States District Court at Wilmington, Del., in a suit against Pantex Pressing Machine, Inc., in which infringement of the company's important vacuum patent was alleged.

Dividend Increase By G. N. Unlikely

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Estimate of Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, that gross earnings for October will be $4,000,000 less than for October, 1928, and the probability of further large decrease in November and December, would seem to make it practically certain that there will be no increase in dividend this year. The next semi-annual payment is due next February 1, but is payable out of earnings of this year, as it will be declared in December.

Vick Refunding Trust Payments

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Vick Chemical Company is refunding to members of the drug trade subscriptions to its investment trust formed some time ago.

Chicago Market Controversy Reopens

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The controversy between the Chicago Stock Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade was further complicated when Board of Trade members voted to prohibit members from trading on any Chicago exchange which attempted to limit trading activities of Board of Trade members on their own exchange. The vote was 837 to 147.

Because of the action, the compromise agreement accepted by the boards of governors of both organizations and providing for a settlement of the controversy is endangered, La Salle street observers said.

Brokerage houses holding memberships in both the stock exchange and Board of Trade are now barred from trading on either exchange so long as they retain membership in the other group.

Samuel P. Arnot, president of the Board of Trade, said that houses holding dual memberships will be given time to adjust their accounts before a strict application of the rule is enforced.

Further Cut in Bank Rate Expected

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

A FURTHER cut in the rediscount rate may be made. This is the opinion of bankers who have been closely watching the abrupt changes in credit conditions following the upset in the stock market. Since a drop from 6 to 5 per cent was made only last week, however, the next change may be a few months away.

The direct aftermath of the abrupt declines in stocks was a sharp increase in bank deposits throughout the country as the unprecedented withdrawal of call money by corporations was accomplished. It is generally believed that further reductions in brokers' loans will take place and that banks will have more cash on their hands.

The sharp increase in the loans to brokers made by New York banks will probably be adjusted within the next few weeks as a more normal flow of credit is established. When this takes place the borrowing of member banks from the Federal Reserve system will show a decrease in line with the general reduction of credit used by the stock market.

Commercial Demands

THE requirements of general business for credit are not likely to expand except, possibly, for brief periods. If the break in stocks has a retarding effect on production and distribution, the demands for credit will tend to decline. If a pronounced break in the movement of luxury lines occurs over the holidays there may be some extra demand for credit to carry inventories until liquidation occurs, but this is not likely to reach important proportions.

In addition to a gradual reduction in the employment of credit, which is expected by bankers, the Federal Reserve Board in all probability will want to give business as much encouragement as possible in an effort to counteract the psychological effects of the reaction in stocks. Easier money would be one means of accomplishing this.

Changed Conditions

EARLY in 1928 the rediscount rate was pushed upward sharply but current conditions represent an almost complete reversal of the situation prevailing at that time so that it is logical to assume that the board will consider a lower money policy.

In February, 1928, the New York rediscount rate was increased from 3½ to 4 per cent. This was in recognition of the fact that the expanding needs of the security markets and other demands for credit had resulted in some banks being overloaned. This increase was followed by two others which carried the rediscount rate to 5 per cent in July, 1928. The rate remained at this level until last August, when a 6 per cent rate was established. A cut to 5 per cent was made last week.

Foreign Financing

IF THE Federal Reserve system adopts a credit policy such as the one outlined, an important result will probably be a resumption of foreign financing in this country. This reached large proportions two years ago, but the flotation of new foreign issues on this market was sharply curtailed when money rates here began to stiffen.

An improved market for bonds in this country will also facilitate the sale of foreign securities. The recent predictions of a growing bond demand are being borne out. Banks report that they are preparing lists of suggested bonds for many of the large corporations which have taken their surplus funds out of the call money market.

To Lose Gold

THE Bank of England rate is now half a point above the rate in New York. With call money holding at 6 per cent here and with some investment demand from abroad for American stocks, there have been no important indications of a movement of gold from this country to England.

It is known that the Bank of England has been embarrassed by the drain of credits to other countries with higher rates. The immediate effect of the spread between the London and New York rates will probably be a check in the loss of resources by the Bank of England. Ultimately, if the predicted developments in credit in this country materialize, a movement of gold to Europe from New York may get under way.

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

THE WALL STREET INFLUENCE

HE had been receiving telegrams from his broker for a week, each calling for more margin money. On Monday evening as he dined with pals at his club he got another wire. He paled and then perspired freely. Finally his trembling fingers opened the message. "Haw! Haw! Haw! Haw" he laughed hysterically, "Haw! Haw! Haw!"

"What does it say?" they asked him.

"Nothing serious," was the reply between nervous chuckles, "my father just dropped dead."

IMAGINE!

Obituary notice gleaned in a theatrical weekly:

In Memory of Father
Who Died May 1, 1926
The Four Happy Nelsons.

ALWAYS BELITTLIN'

"...a fellow who fingers a mean flute in a Broadway dance orchestra is named Idew Blowhard—The very Odd McIntyre in the N. Y. American."

I don't believe it.

OF ALL THINGS!

JOHN K. WINKLER would have you believe that it really happened. At any rate, a lady, visiting a swanky Long Island home, came downstairs late one evening and asked a sleepy footman for a glass of water. She carried the glass upstairs with her. A moment or two later she repeated the request and again went upstairs with it. A third time she came back. This time she said: "Would you mind giving me a pitcher of water?"

The footman looked astonished. The lady smiled coolly and explained: "There is a small fire in my room."

AT PARTING

Another day will dawn, but you
And only memories left of happy
But should the rose leaves of our friendship wither
I'll still recall the fragrance of the flowers.

—Jean Douglas.

QUITESO, QUITESO

OBSERVED under the glasstop of a motion picture executive's desk: "Two and two make four—four and four make eight, and sex and sex make a movie."

IMMENSE!

New York's night life has gone limp over magicians. Fred Keating's master of ceremonies and magic at the Casanova has been commented on here often, but the newest delight is a German, named Sealtiel, who opened at the Club Richman the other night and triumphed. He is destined for great success in America. Sealtiel's stunts are all amazing, but he fascinates you most by making his dress tie change color a dozen times before your very eyes.

His ace concludes his act. When he thanks a committee of gentlemen for coming to help him, he gives them back their money, kerchiefs, pins, tickets or anything he has thefted when they least suspected that they were having their jeans picked.

Then, after they have received their trinkets and currency and they have returned to their tables, he sends for them again and proves that he picked their pockets a second time.

The only danger is that the typical Broadway phoney will complain some night that before Sealtiel experimented on him he also had a $500 bill.

SEZ YOU!

REX BEACH, the novelist, who apparently hasn't been to any of the Broadway revusicals, observes: "What good are expensive negligees if nobody sees them except a maid?"

BY WAY OF REPORT

"Dear Walter Winchell," writes one of America's better known lady editorialists, who urges that her name be withheld. "One good turn deserves another, so here's a tip for you and other noise-sufferers. A man or woman can make all the noise he or she wants to in his or her OWN apartment; but if that noise enters YOUR apartment, whether it is a radio, an amplifier, or an alleged singer, you can have him or her arrested. If the noise-maker refuses to tone down so that no noise reaches your sufferings ears, he goes to jail!

"This decision was recently rendered in New York City. It was a test case inspired by the Anti-Noise Society, so there is your precedent, on which you can stop those off-key warblers next door to you. They can't get away with it any more. Y'welcome!"

OH, MR. WILSTACH!

RECOMMENDED to Frank J. Wilstach's book of best similes: M.Stecklere's: "As tasteless as cold chow mein" . . . Old Mr. Anon's: "Grins like a soubrette with a new set of gold teeth" . . . Ralph Wilk's: "Gullible as a tourist in Hollywood" . . . Sidney Mundan: "Impossible as for a woman to hide her imperfections from her dressmaker" . . . Pare Lorentz's: "Dull as a newsreel of Hollywood society entering Grauman's Chinese Theater," and Helen Rowland's "Radio is like a husband: The moment you try to git it to show off for company, it either goes right into the silence or starts sputtering static."

OOP!

Robert L. Ripley, the "Believe It Or Not" feller, has (according to his syndicated feature) just discovered that Dad—Did—Eye and Ada spell the same backward and forward.

Tut-tut!

MERCILESS TRUTH

Park row and Broadway are crowded with newspapermen and actors who thought that their bosses couldn't get along without them.

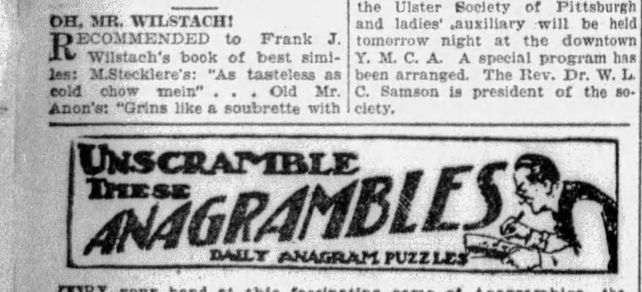
Banquet Arranged By Ulster Society

Annual reunion and banquet of the Ulster Society of Pittsburgh and ladies' auxiliary will be held tomorrow night at the downtown Y. M. C. A. A special program has been arranged. The Rev. Dr. W. L. C. Samson is president of the society.



TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

According to a censorship manifesto issued by the Keith vaudeville circuit, their comedians will no longer be allowed to kick each other in the seat of the trousers.

Thus destroying about the only pleasure vaudeville patrons had left.

GRANDMAMMY SONG

Where are the grannies of yesteryear—
Who frowned on the highball and scowled at the beer?
Condemned all cosmetics, short skirts and silk hose?
Where is she now? No one cares; no one knows.

You won't find her rocking or reading or knitting—
In fact she's more likely to do all her sitting
In speakeasies—that is, she sits between dances
And ogles the young man with coy roguish glances.

She tells snappy stories, and likely as not
Does a tap dance or two if the music is hot—
And when things get dull—the sly old contriver
Goes out and shoots dice with the taxicab driver.

"ARMLESS LANDSCAPE PAINTER," says headline, "PLEASES CRITICS."

Heretofore the critics have been so fussy—why didn't they come right out and say they wanted work by armless painters?

You have a Doctor's Word for this Laxative

IN 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he treated many cases of constipation. He soon saw the harm in common purges and began to seek something better. Out of his experience was born a famous prescription now in wide use.

This prescription was written thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. Children like its pleasant taste. Older people like it because it doesn't gripe or cause discomfort. It is a mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; thoroughly effective for the most robust of men. Stimulates the normal muscular action of the bowels. So its use will not become a habit. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, or no energy, poor appetite, etc., are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. All drug stores have the generous bottles. The product never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original formula. So you can take it with confidence or give it to the youngest child.

War Debt Money Owed Us by Other Countries Could Be Expended Wisely Here Instead of Letting Them Keep It for That Purpose

Prof. John H. Finley, one of the editors of the New York Times, has announced a new scheme to take the money of the American people and give it away to foreigners.

Last week he addressed a gathering of students at Edinburgh, Scotland, and told how the United States could easily be nicked for $200,000,000 a year, the sum the Allies are now paying us as interest on their war debts.

If properly urged—says Prof. Finley—the United States would put this $200,000,000 a year into the hands of a "planetary committee" to be expended "for the education of children throughout the world." Here are his exact words, cabled to the Times:

"Let the nations pay their debts as arranged (if it is for their good) and then, since the United States would not feel any loss in canceling them, let her put what is paid her into a fund for the education of children throughout the world.

"We would be disposed to subtract from the contracted payment of the debt, any amounts so spent by the nations themselves.

"The fund might be placed in the hands of an international committee—or a planetary committee of the foremost men in the world."

Why confine it to a committee chosen only from this little planet? Why not have representatives from the whole solar system? For example, what's the matter with a committee presided over by Jupiter, with Mars as sergeant-at-arms, Mercury as office boy and Venus as stenographer?

Or put the whole fund at the disposal of two single trustees, Dr. Finley and the man in the moon, and let them administer it for the benefit of the universe and the advertisment of themselves.

However, there are a lot of plain people in this country WHOSE FIRST ANXIETY IS FOR THE CHILDREN OF THE UNITED STATES.

If Prof. Finley finds time hanging heavily on his hands, on the steamer trip home, he might take a look at the figures of comparative illiteracy in this and other countries.

He would find that, ACCORDING TO OUR GOVERNMENT CENSUS, the United States has SIX illiterates out of every HUNDRED population over 10 years of age.

That is a larger percentage of illiteracy than prevails in England, Scotland, Wales, Sweden, France, Norway, Netherlands, Switzerland, Denmark or Germany. In Germany there are only TWO illiterates out of every THOUSAND adults.

Think of it, Prof. Finley—in this, the richest land on earth, there are FIVE MILLION grownup people who cannot read or write their names in any language.

Half of the $200,000,000 paid us annually by the Allies could be used to soon stamp out the curse of AMERICAN ILLITERACY, if expended wisely by a federal Department of Education, with a secretary in the President's cabinet, as the Hearst papers have long advocated.

Dr. Finley will hardly get the desired $200,000,000 a year sluiced off to his friends on the other side. However, he might tell them this, to comfort them:

The United States has already canceled half their war debts to us AND IS NOW COLLECTING ONLY $200,000,000 A YEAR FROM THEM INSTEAD OF THE $400,000,000 THEY CONTRACTED TO PAY US.

The $200,000,000 a year they are NOT contributing to meet the interest on Liberty Bonds sold to get the money to lend them—THAT $200,000,000 a year is raised from American taxpayers.

So—he might tell his foreign audiences—we are NOW letting them withhold $200,000,000 of the money due us, AND IF THEY WILL SPEND THAT MONEY EVERY YEAR EDUCATING THEIR CHILDREN INSTEAD OF MAKING EXPENSIVE PREPARATIONS TO CUT EACH OTHER'S THROATS, WE SHALL BE VERY, VERY HAPPY.

A little of what they do send us could be profitably used on our own children. Some of it should be put aside to deport American gentlemen more devoted to foreign nations than loyal to their own country.

Cool Mills and Trains Visioned by Mr. Davis

James J. Davis, secretary of labor, always has something interesting to say on occasions in which he makes public utterances. This was again made evident in an address Mr. Davis delivered to 600 delegates attending the convention of the National Association of Practical Refrigerating Engineers, which ends a three-day meeting here today.

Stating that the age of refrigeration had scarcely begun, he predicted extensive cooling systems to provide comfort for workers in steel mills. Also for railroad trains.

There is every possibility that the prophesy of Mr. Davis will be fulfilled. Especially with regard to railway trains. The theaters long ago recognized the right of their patrons to be given a more endurable temperature than that of the street. And every modern theater now cools its auditorium in the summer as well as heating it in the winter.

As Mr. Davis states, the day of refrigeration has only begun. As a former steel mill employe he likely knows what a factor for efficiency elimination of a large degree of heat in the mills would mean. Hence artificially cooled mills may suggest themselves to steel operators as a profitable innovation and become a reality.

Only Few Days Remain For Inspection of Cars

It is stated that about 70 per cent of Pennsylvania's 1,800,000 automobiles have been inspected, leaving 30 per cent to be inspected in the November period, which will close the fifteenth of this month.

Inspection is compulsory. The penalty for neglect is a fine of $10 and prohibition against the use of the car for 30 days.

Cars passing the tests are tagged to show that the examination has been made. No tag is given if adjustments are necessary. A small fee is charged by officially designated inspection stations, which are numerous throughout the city. If adjustment is needed it will mean an additional cost, in most cases not much, but needed changes MUST be made before the car can receive an inspection tag.

And it cannot operate after November 15 without one. The line forms at the right—don't rush. Maybe you'll be able to get it done the last few days. And maybe not!

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

MRS. SAM BROWN wants to help Dear Sam in the office.

No, she's never been in business. But—"she has the most marvelous intuition about things." Why, she can tell at a glance, whether a person's honest or not—

How can she tell?

Well, she can't explain but she "just knows." Something makes her know—

Pressed for an explanation, Mrs. Brown admits that she can't describe this "something." It's mysterious. Like instinct. No, she doesn't think about it. It just happens—to some people, like herself. But it "really does happen"—and because it happens, Sam should let her work in the office even if she hasn't had any business experience.

But Sam won't. He says this "intuition stuff is all hooey—" Whereupon Mrs. Sam cries and says Sam is just an ignorant man for Everybody knows Women Have Intuition.

That's a sample of the way most women still think about intuition. Maybe they can't reason as well as men . . . maybe they haven't had the education and experience of men but they have Intuition . . . and Intuition tells them things. No, they can't explain—but it does.

Paul Bousfield, famous English psychologist, thinks he can explain Intuition . . . but his explanation will probably be a total flop to Mrs. Sam Brown. Intuition, according to Dr. Bousfield, is neither mysterious nor supernatural. It is a reasoning process, like any other reasoning process, only it is done very swiftly and with our UNCONSCIOUS rather than with our CONSCIOUS minds.

Nothing weird about that Unconscious Mind—say the psychologist. Just as definite a part of our machinery as our tummies. Only we aren't always keeping tab of its contents. But they influence our lives as much as if we did . . . or, perhaps, even more.

When Mrs. Sam invokes her Intuition she does it there, in her unconscious mind . . . in a flying grab, as it were. Swiftly her mind rummages amongst stored memories, theories, prejudices and scraps of knowledge and emerges, triumphantly, with a conclusion while Sam is still laboriously trying to make up his mind.

It takes Mrs. Sam half the time to reach that conclusion which it takes Sam . . . BUT THAT DOESN'T PROVE SHE'S RIGHT. For though she's quick, and Sam's slow, they both draw their conclusions from the same source . . . THE STORE HOUSE MAY BE FILLED WITH TREASURE OR IT MAY BE FILLED WITH JUNK.

Mrs. Sam may put things together very swiftly and accurately, BUT THE THINGS SHE PUTS TOGETHER MAY BE ALL WRONG. And so, although "intuitive" reasoning is much more spectacular than the standard variety, it isn't any more reliable. Intuitive ladies are quite as apt to give you a Bum Steer as deliberate philosophers.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

THERE was a merchant prince that was a terrible crank, and his wives and secretaries got the worst part of his temper. Women just naturally withered like lettuce in a hot wind when they worked around that guy.

Well, one day, his secretary announced that she had got her another job.

"Where are you going?" says he.

"Over here to the Whang company, across the street. Secretary to President Whang."

"I'll bet Whang don't know that you been here in my office only eight months, does he? He wouldn't hire you if he knew that, and maybe I'll tell him."

"Fire away," says she. "I already told him."

"What did Whang say?"

"He said if I could work for you eight months I've got a recommend that'll get me a job anywheres. He said even your wives couldn't stand you that long without long vacations, and he's paying me a bonus for standing you eight months."

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

IN THE narrow spaces between the densely-packed alveoli run the capillaries, the arterioles (little arteries), and the venules (little veins); it is of the alveoli, the blood-vessels, a little packing tissue, and the orderly labyrinth of ducts which bring air, that the substance of the lung is composed.

The thorax (the cavity of the chest) is a completely enclosed space, with the backbone behind it, the breast-bone in front and the sloping ribs on either side.

H. G. Wells.

All these parts are movable upon one another, and by their movements the air is brought to and taken from the alveoli. The movements are of two kinds—movements of the ribs and movements of the diaphragh. The ribs, as has already been said, run round in the sides of the thorax from the vertebral column, behind, to the breast-bone in front; in between the ribs, connecting each to its neighbors, there is a sheet of vertically disposed muscle-fibres, the intercostal muscles.

The action of the ribs depends on two purely structural features. The first is that as the ribs run forward they also run downward; the attachment of any rib to the sternum is lower than its attachment to the backbone. The second is that the ribs are curved, lying as they do in the curved walls of the chest, and that when the lungs are empty the convexity of this curve points slightly downward.

During inspiration the actual movement of the chest wall is produced by contraction of these intercostal muscles, which tends to pull the ribs closer together. The uppermost rib, solidly attached to the structures in the neck and shoulder, acts as a fixed point, the other ribs being pulled up toward it.

As a result of the anatomical features just noted, this pull has two effects: firstly, because of the downward slope of the ribs, it pushes forward the lower part of the breastbone and so increases the front-to-back depth of the chest; secondly, because of the curvature of the ribs, it pulls their middle parts upward and outward, so increasing the breadth of the chest from right to left.

These two factors combine in increasing the volume of the thorax, and are assisted in so doing by a simultaneous movement of the diaphragm.

The diaphragm is concave downwards, attached round its edges to the ribs, backbone, and breastbone, but free in the middle. Its central part is of tendon, but its marginal part consists of radiating muscle-fibres. When these muscles contract, the domed center is pulled downwards; the diaphragm flattens, pressing on the liver, which lies immediately beneath it, and on the other abdominal organs, and at the same time it helps to increase the volume of the thoracic cavity.

Now the thoracic cavity is itself air-tight, but there lie inside it these two elastic bags, the lungs, which communicate freely through the trachea with the outer air.

In men, the principal factor in quiet breathing is the movement of the diaphragm. In women, on the other hand, the principal part is played by the upper ribs.

In this way the air in the alveoli of the lungs is constantly renewed. The alveoli are the thin-walled structures; each is bounded by a single layer of flattened cells, extremely thin. Immediately outside this layer, and closely applied to it, is the tangled mass of capillary bloodvessels, also very thin-walled, so that in the lungs blood comes into as close a relation with air as it does with hungry tissue-cells in other organs.

Ordinary room air is for various reasons unfit for so great an intimacy as this; it is only an improved and chastened air that is admitted to the alveoli. A very considerable process of purification and preparation has had to occur en route from the nostrils. The chief filtering organ, both for bacteria and dust, is the nose.

The cavity of the nose is divided into a maze of passages by shelves of bone, projecting from its walls and twisted into complicated and bizarre shapes. The thin layer of living tissue covering these partitions and the lining of the trachea and bronchi throughout are provided with thousands of glands, each producing a continual trickle of sticky mucus, and also with other cells whose duties are to distribute the mucus evenly over the surface and to keep it moving slowly towards the throat.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Broadway, wearing suspicion on its sleeve, shrinks from anything suggesting a "racket." One night last summer a shaggy, unkempt creature darted out from a darkened doorway to pounce upon a crust of bread under a brilliantly lighted theater marquee.

Crowds awaited their cars. A few glanced at him and several smiled knowingly. His was an ancient beggar trick—known as "dummy chucking." It is worked by "planting" the bread in the gutter so that when the starveling falls upon it sympathetics will shower him with change.

A policeman, suspecting the venerable flim-flam, collared the fellow and piloted him to a station house, where he collapsed. A police surgeon found he was actually suffering from acute malnutrition. Thus does Broadway often seem heedless when it only fears another gyp game.

There is a story of a woman coming out of an East Side mansion late at night to accost a wayfarer for help. She said a savage police dog refused to permit her to enter the nursery where her children were crying. He suspected a game and went on.

When day broke she was found in a swoon on the front steps and the dog had to be shot by a policeman before he could enter the nursery. A gentleman at a Fifth avenue club once made a sizeable wager that no one on the street would pay a dollar for a perfectly good $500 bill.

It was tried out. Fourteen people were stopped, shown the bill and it was explained it was not a counterfeit but a wager had been made it could not be sold along the streets for a dollar. Thirteen shrugged and walked on. The fourteenth called an officer.

New York has been so long the paradise of every type of confidence man and racketeer that everybody shies at an overture of something for nothing. All the cleverly thought-out schemes for quick money are for some reason launched here—the recent Telluride, Col., bank swindle being a conspicuous example.

The famous Gondorf brothers, scholarly and silver-haired wire-tapping fleecers, tried to operate in many cities before landing on Broadway. Almost invariably they had to leave town over night. But they manipulated the flimsiest of boob-baiting tricks unmolested for several years in that sophisticated strip on Broadway between the Circle and Herald Square. They garnered several millions before they "went up the river."

The polished crook of the melodramatic thriller and mystery novel is often seen in real life. Perhaps the most convincing of the guild is the ocean grayhound who plies the trans-Atlantic liner as a card sharp. They have acquired the graces of the seasoned voyager. They often appear as nothing more than pleasant fellows with monocles. When they are barred on the Atlantic they switch to the Pacific until they are forgotten.

The usual companion of the grayhound has the appearance of a benign church deacon or perhaps a retired middle-west store keeper on his first ship voyage. He seems reluctant to join any card game and will only submit by assurances of low stakes. His disarming manner almost invariably allays suspicion.

A sea captain once told me all ship passengers should beware of card sharps and selects only those in whom they have confidence for "a quiet little game." The card sharp is dynamite. Once he gets into a game his confederate soon maneuvers it into high play.

Despite all the ship warnings, more than a million is collected every season by card sharps. The only safe card game at sea is solitare.
